STOCKS BREAK AT CLOSE AMID SELLING RUSH

Unexpected Slump Again Throws Wall Street Into Turmoil.

NUMBER OF LEADERS HIT NEW LOW LEVELS

Bears in Control All Day Long, but Peak Comes at Session's End.

CAUSE OF BIG DROP IS SEEN AS PUZZLE

New York, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—An unexpected and somewhat mysterious break in stock prices, rivaling in extent any heretofore recorded but lacking much of the hysteria of recent reactions, threw Wall street into turmoil again today as it was struggling to get back on its feet after the wild sessions of the previous fortnight.

Prices of many leading issues on the New York Stock Exchange dropped $10 to $30 a share, several of them falling below the low levels established in the spectacular decline October 29, with a sprinkling of inactive specialties losing $31 to $100 a share. Similar declines took place on the New York Curb Exchange. First National Bank stock dropped $1,000 a share, being quoted at $5,000 bid, and most of the other New York Bank & Trust Co. shares fell $10 to $120 a share.

In accordance with a ruling announced before the opening of Monday's market, the stock exchange closed at 1 o'clock today, instead of 3 p. m., but the final quotation was not printed until 1 hour and 45 minutes after the closing gong had sounded.

5,914,760 Shares Sold.

Total sales for the three-hour session were 5,914,760 shares, which contrasts with 6,202,930 shares in the full five-hour session Monday. The stock exchange was closed yesterday, election day, a legal holiday in New York State.

The market opened heavy as blocks of 5,000 to 25,000 shares were dumped at initial declines of $1 to $5 a share. Losses were gradually extended as the session progressed with trading orderly until the last few minutes of trading when prices of several issues broke $1 to $5 between sales in a mad rush of selling. At no time was there any indication of a general rally, although a few stocks made moderate recovery on final sales.

Wall street was puzzled by this fresh influx of selling although numerous explanations were forthcoming during the day. The New York banking group, headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., which was organized to assure an orderly market when the first bad break occurred October 24, held no meetings today and issued no statement.

Weakened Accounts Cited.

In many quarters, the bulk of today's selling was believed to represent the liquidation of weakened speculative accounts which had been carried through the first break. Considerable selling also was attributed to disappointed traders who bought stocks on the rally last week or at the opening Monday in anticipation of a further rebound in prices.

Two unfavorable business developments, the sharp decrease on freight car loadings and the falling off in steel demand, which some observers construed as an indication that the recession in security prices had extended to general business, also tend-

Plane Banks, Man Tumbles to Death

Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Henry Forgeits, a student pilot, was killed today at Teteboro Airport by falling from the plane in which he was flying with an instructor. The plane had hit a downward current of air while banking 150 feet from the ground.

Two versions of the accident were given police. Witnesses on the ground said Forgeits, a policeman, who was piloting the dual-controled ship, climbed from his seat, balanced for an instant on one wing, and then dropped to the ground.

Lieut. G. W. West, who was flying with Forgeits, said his student stood up on the cockpit to ask questions pertaining to the operation of the plane and was thrown out of his seat when the craft banked.

West piloted the plane to the ground.

Tiny Machine Guides Army Aero From Dayton, Ohio.

After flying approximately 30 miles without a pilot at the controls, a trimotored Army Air Corps transport plane landed at Bolling Field yesterday afternoon at 3:25 o'clock. It had flown here from Dayton, Ohio, guided by an "automatic pilot" to within 30 miles of Washington.

There the propeller of a small generator which supplied current to the apparatus broke, and the plane was brought in by Lieut. A. F. Hegenberger, who navigated an Army plane to Hawaii on the first transpacific flight. Also in the plane were Maj. A. H. Gilkeson, of the Air Corps, and Elmer A. Sperry, jr., a codeveloper of the "automatic pilot."

During that part of its long flight which was controlled by the automatic pilot, the plane crossed the Allegheny Mountains. This, in the face of weather conditions which prevailed yesterday, would have been something of a feat even for a trained flier constantly alert at the controls.

The mechanism, which weighs only 50 pounds, and occupied the small

SHOWING AT POLLS CHEERS DEMOCRATS

Scattered Victories Seen as Indication That Tide Is Turning to Them.

POLLARD MARGIN 70,000

(Associated Press.)

The march of Virginia Tuesday back into the Democratic columns from which she strayed a year ago was hailed yesterday by some Democrats as a sign that the other three Southern States that followed her from the ranks—North Carolina, Florida and Texas—would return.

Meantime, others were widening their horizon to envision the other victories that had perched upon their banner with the hope that the scattering elections signified that the tide again was turning toward them.

New York returned its Democratic mayor, James J. Walker, to his seat with a majority that overwhelmed three other candidates, Fiorello H. LaGuardia (Republican), Norman Thomas (Socialist), and Richard E. Enright, Square Deal party nominee.

In two other mayoralty contests, Indianapolis and Boston, the Democrats also were successful. In the former city, Reginald Sullivan was chosen, and in the latter James M. Curley went in for the third time.

HAMILTON IS FREED IN WALTON SLAYING

Jury Acquits Jurist in Death of Son-in-Law in Hour and Nine Minutes.

THREE BALLOTS TAKEN

Weatherford, Tex., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—R. H. Hamilton tonight was acquitted of murder for slaying his 21-year-old son-in-law, Tom Walton, jr., in Hamilton's Amarillo law office last May 4.

The jury returned to the courtroom one hour and nine minutes after leaving, and the verdict was read one hour and sixteen minutes after consideration of the case was begun.

The verdict was reached on the third ballot, the first being 8 to 4 for acquittal, the second 11 to 1. J. E. Whitsett, the only juror not a farmer, was the foreman.

Hamilton was not in the courtroom when the verdict was read. District Judge J. E. Carter did not demand his presence since the verdict was one of acquittal.

The sheriff was compelled to clear a lane through the crowd before the jury could get out of the courtroom to deliberate over its verdict. They left at 8:14 p. m.

District Judge J. E. Carter instructed the jury to select a foreman and consider the evidence, ignoring points

Boy, 12, Denies Confession He Strangled Aged Widow

Tells Judge He Signed So Detectives Would Let Him Go Home.

New York, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—A 12-year-old boy who signed a confession that he had killed an aged widow told a judge in children's court today the only reason he signed was that the detectives told him he could go home to his mother if he did.

Testifying at his trial for juvenile delinquency, the boy, Edward Moran, repudiated the "confession" absolutely. In it he was quoted as saying he strangled Mrs. Clara Hewes, 76, widow of "Hewes the Magician," when she caught him stealing $3 from her dresser top. Mrs. Hewes, who lived in a West Seventeenth street apartment where the boy's father worked as a janitor, was found dead in bed two weeks ago. After an investigation Edward was taken to a police station for questioning.

"They kept saying to me, 'You killed her,'" the boy declared on the

REGRETS GIVEN TO JOHNSON IN DINNER SLIGHT

HOOVER SAYS ERROR DUE TO OVERSIGHT

NEW LIGHT THROWN ON APPARENT SNUB

Reed Told That Mistake Was Caused by Similarity in Guests' Names.

By CARLISLE BARGERON

With President Hoover's apology to Senator Hiram Johnson yesterday for the failure of the latter to be invited to the White House dinner Tuesday night, given in honor of Ambassadors Dawes and Guggenheim, the matter was apparently a closed incident, outwardly at least.

The President's apology was delivered to the California senator by one of the President's secretaries, Lawrence Richey, and subsequently was made public at the White House. This all followed after the hubbub of the night before had spread to the Senate floor.

"My Dear Senator," the President wrote, "I was greatly distressed to learn from the press last night that you did not receive an invitation to the dinner given at the White House for Ambassadors Dawes and Guggenheim, to which the members of the Foreign Relations Committee, who were in the city or available, were invited. Directions to send out the invitations were given on Monday, and in the hurried telephoning to senators and settlement of other details an inadvertence occurred somewhere.

President Deeply Pained.

"I am most deeply pained that such an accident should have happened with such an apparent lack of courtesy, and I hope you will accept my assurances that it was due entirely to a mistake, which is most deeply regretted by all of us."

The California senator subsequently issued this statement:

"Under no circumstances would I have commented upon it or discussed the incident. In the present situation, of course, it is wholly ended."

Snub Seen at First.

The impression that had obtained Tuesday afternoon was that there had been a deliberate snub to the Californian. The dinner lists were given to newspapermen at the White House about 4 o'clock. As they walked away at least five of them noticed that it was a dinner for the Senate foreign relations committee to meet the two ambassadors and at the same time noticed the absence of Johnson's name.

They turned upon their heels and returned to make inquiries. In the manner in which they made their inquiries and the replies to them the impression was obtained that the California senator had been invited but had declined.

Subsequently, communication with the senator revealed that he was not attending the dinner for the simple reason that he had not been invited. It was learned at this time, too, that the senator felt very strongly about the matter. The information from the senator naturally called for further inquiries at the White House, which were met with the statement that there was no comment to make.

Whether the President refers to the inquiries around 4 o'clock or those a little later when he says he got his first intimation of the oversight "from the press last night" is not known.

It was learned that Senators Borah and La Follette became highly indignant when they arrived at the dinner and learned of Johnson's absence and that while Senator David Reed may not have felt as indignant about it as they, he agreed with them, nevertheless, that it was not a very happy situation. The three of them were in such a mood at the dinner, and discussion of the incident became so pronounced that the President became aware of it.

Yesterday Senator Reed was at the White House to see the President bright and early. He did not disclose the nature of his mission, of course, but it was so urgent that Senator McNary, of Oregon, who was there with an engagement to see the President, stepped aside and let the Pennsylvania senator go in first.

Reed Acts as Emissary.

Returning to the Capitol, the Pennsylvania senator went immediately to see Senator Johnson, telling him that a terrible mistake had been made. It is understood that Reed told Johnson that in going over the dinner list the

ALLEN TO FIGHT VERDICT URGING HE BE REMOVED

Attorney Says Appeal to Commissioners Will Be Filed.

CONVICTION REACHED AFTER STORMY TRIAL

BOARD TOLD IT DARE NOT ACQUIT PRIVATE

Accused Man, Defiant at Hearing, Intends to Keep on Trail of Crime.

Robert J. Allen, whose dismissal from the Police Department was recommended yesterday by a police board following his trial on charges of insubordination and conduct unbecoming an officer, will file an appeal with the District Commissioners.

The announcement was made by F. Ralph Burton, counsel for Allen, who will prepare the appeal. The plea for a hearing by the Commissioners will be based on two contentions, Burton said. They are:

(1) That the punishment recommended by the trial board is out of proportion to the character of the offense.

(2) That the trial board did not give sufficient consideration to the case, in that it rendered a verdict fifteen minutes after the trial ended.

Burton declared last night that he had never been dismissed by Allen, but that the suspended policeman had requested that he take no part in the trial merely because he did not wish the attorney to undergo "the humiliation" of making a futile attempt to obtain his acquittal. Robert Burton, the son and law partner of H. Ralph Burton, attended the hearing yesterday morning and took notes but made no effort to speak for the defendant.

Dougherty Held Ineligible.

Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty will be ineligible to rule on the appeal of Allen because he is directly involved in the case, Burton contends. The appeal then, if granted, will be decided by Col. William B. Ladue and Sidney J. Taliaferro.

"I defy any judge to reach a decision in a case that involves three legal papers and in which the means of livelihood of a man is concerned, in fifteen minutes," Burton said.

Although defiant in his attitude toward the three officers who tried him yesterday morning at the Sixth Precinct Station and confident that he would be convicted, the suspended private decided to carry the fight for his post as policeman farther. Meanwhile, he will continue his investigations into law violations even though he becomes merely a private citizen.

Yesterday morning Allen told the trial board that he was singing his swan song as a policeman; he appeared in a hurry for the trial, which he called a "mere form," to end. But last night he was determined not to relinquish his hold on a post which he characterized as "just another job" so easily.

Acts at Trial Criticized.

All indications are, however, that the police career of the department's most famous and most uncontrollable member are nearing an end. His accusations of injustice and his charges that the board could not return an acquittal because the members were afraid of being punished by Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, were declared by unprejudiced witnesses as being sufficiently insubordinate to prevent his reinstatement by the Commissioners.

The Commissioner one time before in Allen's service set aside the verdict of the trial board, but in this instance the charge was that he had used his revolver improperly in wounding a colored boy.

Senators Are Silent.

Senators who heretofore have championed the cause of Policeman Allen had nothing to say yesterday about the action of the trial board in recommending his dismissal. Senator Overman (Democrat), North Carolina, who collaborated with Allen in reopening the McPherson case, stated that he was not interested in Allen, but in whether Virginia McPherson was murdered and who murdered her.

Senator Blease (Democrat), South Carolina, who had the Senate adopt a resolution to investigate why Allen was suspended the first time, had nothing whatsoever to say.

Senator Sackett (Republican), Kentucky, who heads the subcommittee handling the investigation ordered by the Blease resolution, arrived in town yesterday and announced that he would try and bring the subcommittee together this morning.

The trial board reached its verdict fifteen minutes after the hearing, which lasted an hour and ten min-

NEW YORK AFTER HIM IN BUCKETING INQUIRY

WASHINGTON OFFICES CHANGE NAME TWICE

"De Wolfe, Stewart" Concern Now "Ryan & Co.," Rothschlid Says.

New York, Nov. 6 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Losses to customers of the De Wolfe-Stewart Brokerage House will probably run into hundreds of thousands of dollars, Watson Washburn, deputy State attorney general in charge of the bureau of securities, said today.

With the idea of bringing "W. W. Stewart," a partner in the firm from Washington to New York, a warrant was sworn out today by Richard Washburn, an examiner of the Bureau of Securities, charging "Stewart" with using the mails to defraud. Stewart had previously been identified by Washburn as being W. W. Easterday, former associate of Jules (Nicky) Arnstein. The warrant was sent to Washington.

The trail of investigation today led close to the case of the defunct City Trust Co., whose failure has caused losses of huge sums to depositors and involved many prominent names. Washburn said that Easterday had organized and was selling stock in the "National Theater Chain," and that he had leased the Gallo Theater, on West Fifty-fourth street, in connection with a theatrical enterprise. Associated with this theater is Fortune Gallo. In the City Trust inquiry he testified before Moreland Act Commissioner Moses that the City Trust Co. had discounted two of his notes totaling $21,000 so he could buy some of its stock.

Mrs. Easterday Testifies.

Easterday's wife, who is Lora Sonderson, well known musical comedy star, testified today before Washburn that she had made out a number of checks to Edward Hartford, stage manager at the Gallo Theater.

Washburn said he had expected Albert B. Wolfe, Easterday's partner in the brokerage firm, to appear in his office today. Wolfe, who for business purposes, is known as "De Wolfe," however, did not appear before the examiners, although he had been in his apartment Monday. Washburn said action would be taken to get him there.

Miss Sonderson said Easterday never told her anything about his business.

Different Car Every Night.

Asked about any automobiles he might own, she replied:

"I know he had some Packards. Really, I don't know how many. He just had some Packards. How should I know? Every evening or so he drew up in a different car."

"Listen here," demanded the liner, "this is just nonsense. mean to say you don't many cars he had?"

She stopped sucking her pendant and appeared slight censed.

"Listen," she replied, "I don't know anything about them. There was a Cadillac and a Buick he traded in for a Packard; the Packard was mine."

Carte Blanche at Bank.

Asked if she had ever been arrested, Miss Sonderson asked first what "arrested" meant. It developed she had been arrested once in Detroit. Newspaper clippings show a number of other arrests for small offenses.

She insisted she had never had anything to do with her husband's bank account, though he had told her to

POLICE CAR WRECKS IN SMOKE 'BARRAGE'

PURSUER RUNS INTO TREE

Blinded momentarily by the heavy, sickening fumes of a smoke screen laid down by a suspected rum-running automobile he was pursuing, Policeman Frank E. Kenney, 28 years old, of 802 Philadelphia avenue, Takoma Park, and attached to the Thirteenth Precinct, narowly escaped injury at 8:15 o'clock last night when the police car he was driving crashed into a tree on Riggs road about 150 yards from the District line.

Responding to a telephone call to the precinct station from an unidentified person, Policeman W. M. Sanders found Kenney just regaining consciousness beside his battered machine and took him to Walter Reed Hospital, where Dr. Henry W. Daine failed to find any injuries and dismissed the man, who promptly returned to duty.

Kenney, according to his report, declared that he was making a station call from the police box on Riggs road at the District line when an automobile suddenly whizzed over the boundary in the direction of Washington. He said the unidentified driver apparently recognized him and increased the car's speed, an action that led him to give chase.

About 100 yards along the thoroughfare, while he was narrowing the distance between his machine and the suspected rum runner, the pursued car suddenly belched out a stream of smoke that completely obliterated the view ahead. Proceeding at 60 miles an hour, Keneny within

PANTAGES JURORS CHARGE COERCION

THREATENED, IS CLAIM

Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Three women members of the jury which convicted Alexander Pantages on a statutory charge today swore to affidavits charging that they were influenced and coerced into returning a verdict of guilty against the vaudeville magnate.

The jurors are Mrs. Christine D. Ulrich, Mrs. William Ingles, and Mrs. Lotta C. Steiner, whose affidavits were included in seven filed by Pantages' attorneys in his plea for a new tiral.

The women swore they were influenced in switching their votes to guilty by the inclusion of the words "with clemency" in the verdict, believing such a direction would make it mandatory that Superior Judge Charles Fricke pronounce a light sentence.

The affidavits also charged that fear of caustic radio utterances against them by the Rev. R. P. Shuler also influenced their voting.

Mrs. Ulrich and Mrs. Ingles said one of the men on the jury used the alleged threat of Dr. Shuler's radio talks to coerce them.

After the verdict of guilty had been returned against Pantages, who was accused of having attacked Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, when she went to his offices to book a vaudeville act with his theaters, the three women jurors said they had learned that the jury's clemency recommendation did not make possible any mitigation of the sentence prescribed by law.

Iowan Adjudged Unsound Mentally When He Deeded Wealth.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Nov. 6 (N.Y.W. N.S.).—John W. Reeder, President Hoover's life-long friend, today was again in possession of his $250,000 estate, after Judge F. O. Ellison in District Court ruled that the trust deed by which he deeded the property to Arthur Lund, Tipton attorney, was invalid because the aged man was mentally incompetent at the time it was executed.

Reeder, who is 93 years old, and one of the most picturesque characters in Iowa, turned over his estate last summer to Lund, giving him permission to dispose of it as he saw fit when Reeder should die. Dr. Grant S. Reeder, of Chicago, a son, immediately filed suit to set the deed aside on the ground that his father was not mentally competent at the time draw out anything she might need. Sixteen hundred dollars, she said, was the amount she had drawn out this week.

"You needed that much this week?" the examiner asked.

"I may need more," replied Miss Sonderson.

An examination at the De Wolfe-Stewart offices showed all papers had disappeared. There was thus no means by which he could know exactly what the concern owed to customers, Washburn said. One man was known to have lost $20,000, he said.

A number of other persons were questioned today in connection with the case, including some employes and customers.

Prisoner Is Determined To Fight Return, Belief

Wilen W. Easterday, arrested at his apartment in the Chastleton Monday night, is still being held in a cell at the First Precinct station house, without any charge, pending the receipt here of papers from the New York police department.

These papers are expected to be a requisition asking for possession of Easterday, and a court battle is expected before he is returned to the New York jurisdiction. Through intimates who have seen him in his cell he is known to be determined not to be taken to New York if he can help it.

With the exception of a telegram stating that Easterday was wanted in New York on a $13,000 forgery charge, Washington police had no inkling of any charges pending against him there. A representative of the New York police department, accompanied by an attorney from the office of the attorney general, is expected here today.

Louis Rothschild, director of the Washington Better Business Bureau, has stated that due to reports from Rochester, Middletown and New York, N. Y., his office has been investigating the firm of DeWolfe and Stewart & Co., which opened offices in the Evans Building several months ago.

Rothschild stated that reports concerning the firm have been unfavorable and are still being investigated. Since opening the offices in the downtown office building, Rothschild stated, the firm has changed its name from DeWolfe and Stewart to W. W. Stewart & Co., and last Sunday again changed the name to Ryan & Co.

PILOTLESS AIRPLANE FLIES FOR 350 MILES

space beneath the pilot's seat, actually controls the plane in flight. It includes two gyroscopes, one horizontal and one vertical, which operate the ship through the regular system of controls. The pilot merely sets his course, and the automatic pilot holds the plane to it. Altitude may be increased by merely turning a small thumb screw, and the apparatus maintains the plane on an even keel under all conditions of flight.

While the development of the automatic control of airplanes is not entirely new, it has received added impetus recently by the growing use of large transport planes in commercial and military service, Sperry said yesterday. The first Sperry model, known as the "Sperry gyroscopic stabilizer," was built and installed in a Curtiss flying boat by Lawrence Sperry. Its further development as an instrument for aeronautical navigation was retarded by the slow development of the airplane and the lack of public interest in aviation prior to and just after the World War. However, the same principle has been in use for some years in the automatic control of ships at sea.

Machine Can Take Off.

The present model has flown a total of some 50 hours, maintaining the plane in true flight without assistance, except for changes in course on two occasions when wind direction changed. While the automatic pilot can not land a plane, it can and will take one off.

From the military standpoint, the greatest value in the perfection of the instrument lies possibly in its application to large bombing expeditions. Experiments have shown that a small torpedo plane, equipped with the automatic pilot, may be controlled in flight by radio. Using this device, it may be possible for the Army bomber of the future to be a small, fast, two-man plane controlling a large flight of torpedo planes carrying a heavy tonnage of bombs by radio. Thus, att a minimum use of planes and personnel, greater results may be obtained than at present.

Commercially, the apparatus will permit the pilot to spend the greater part of his time studying his maps, observing weather conditions, and checking the performance of his engines. Also, it will require much less effort on his part to keep the plane in level flight along its course.

The Army Air Corps plane will be flown to New York today, where a new generator will be installed. The difficulty with the one which went "haywire" yesterday was said to have been caused by a weight which acted as a governor in maintaining constant speed of the propeller came loose. The generator was badly battered as a result of the breakage.

VIRGINIA SENATORS SEE CONGRESS GAIN

MEANS GLASS' RETURN

Jubilant over the sweeping victory of John Garland Pollard and the other regular Democrats in Tuesday's election, Virginia's two United States senators—Carter Glass and Claude A. Swanson—yesterday predicted that the State next year would elect a solidly Democratic delegation to Congress.

Which is to say that they predicted the reelection of Glass and the election of ten Democratic representatives. At present there are three Republicans in the House delegation—Menalcus Lankford, Second district; Jacob A. Gerber, Seventh district, and Joseph C. Shaffer, of the Ninth district. All three Republican representatives rode into the House on the Hoover tidal wave that rolled across Virginia in the last national election.

Cannon Candidacy Scouted.

Senator Glass has not yet formally announced that he is a candidate for reelection, but nobody doubts that he will be. Glass resigned as Secretary of the Treasury on February 2, 1920, and was appointed to the Senate to succeed the late Senator Martin. He was elected the following November to serve the balance of the term, and then was reelectd for a six-year term on November 4, 1924.

At one time there was talk that Senator Glass' bitter political enemy, Bishop James Cannon, jr., would run against him next year, but in view of what happened to Cannon's forces Tuesday no one now takes this talk seriously. A Republican who has been boomed for the senatorial nomination is Col. Henry Anderson, wealthy attorney of Richmond.

Story Told, Says Glass.

In a statement reviewing Tuesday's Democratic victory, Senator Glass yesterday said:

"The election tells its own story. Nothing that I could say would add to it. Virginia, i ordinary circumstances, is overwhelmingly Democratic. The election Tuesday demonstrates the fact that the large body of those who dissented last year told the truth when they insisted that their defection was momentary and in no sense permanent.

"They refused to have their good faith compromised by the perfidy of a few inconsequential leaders who entered into alliance with the Republican party.

"With this group renewing its allegiance to the party, and the regulars in fine fighting trim, the Democratic party was resistless at the election. It will be so next year when we shall elect a United States senator, and again send a Democrat from every one of the ten congressional districts by normal majorities."

South's Return Foreseen.

Senator Swanson made the following statement:

"The result of the election just held in Virginia indicates that under normal political conditions and issues, Virginia is overwhelmingly Democratic.

"The result in this election insures that in the election to be held next year Virginia will by a very large majority elect a Democratic senator and Democratic representatives from every congressional district in the State. The majority in the State and in every congressional district will next year exceed the majorities given in this election.

"The result of this election means that in the future there will be but two parties in Virginia, Democratic and Republican.

"This election also indicates that the entire South will return to the Democratic party by large majorities, especially if the wise and liberal policy adopted in Virginia is pursued in other Southern States, and all Democrats invited to return and again affiliate with the party, irrespective of the differences of last year."

It would cost you more than $1,500 to send a letter to each person who buys The Washington Post every day. To reach them with a large sized ad in this newspaper would cost you only a fraction of a cent per person.

LOSER AND VICTOR IN NEW YORK

Victorious Tammany Chief Calm Amid Felicitations

New York, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—In his handsomely furnished office in the new Tammany Hall, John F. Curry, hailed by the victorious Mayor James J. Walker last night as "the finest type of political leader I have ever known," sat through the late afternoon twilight today and quietly discussed the raising of fig trees in this climate.

Outside, a long line of Tammany braves and others waited to congratulate him on the results of the first election under his regime as Tammany leader. Still ringing in their ears were the words of "Jimmy" Walker at the celebration in Tammany's auditorium last night.

"In my long political career I have never known a leader of higher ideals, integrity and morality than has the honorable John F. Curry. Amongst all the leaders, in and out of New York, he is the finest type of political leader I have ever known, and one that I will follow as long as I am mayor."

Curry leaned forward earnestly in his chair there in his office this afternoon.

"I have a friend," he said, "who actually did raise fig trees out at Manhattan Beach. In the fall he turned them down, covered them with straw, and wrapped rags around them."

To the Tammany Braves today, John F. Curry was the big hero of yesterday's victory. He had proved his leadership.

Curry had heard all this, many times, and he'll continue to hear it for many weeks to come. But——

"Well, what can I say?" he parried.

Tall, slender, gray-haired and courtly is John F. Curry, with a soft Irish brogue in his quiet voice. His expression is grave, but occasionally he smiles—not with his firmly chiseled lips, under a clipped mustache, but with his intensely blue eyes. He is well groomed, but there is nothing pretentious about his appearance.

He is a born listener. Any man who has been for twenty years a Tammany district leader and before that a telegraph operator would be a good listener. But it amounts to more than training with Curry. It's genius. Before the interview had progressed fifteen minutes he had, with rare tact and convincing interest, found out all about the interviewer's birthplace, ancestry, profession and hopes for the future.

Apologetically, Curry talked of himself. Of the days when he was a telegraph operator, first with the Western Union and then in the stockyards down by North River; of his four sons, Bernard, in grade school; Robert Emmet, in high school; Frank, at Holy Cross, and John F. jr., now out of school and in the insurance business; and of his daughter, Veronica, soon to be married to Edward McCarthy, a young lawyer up in Springfield, Mass.

he signed the paper. He also alleged fraud on the part of Lund. The case was on trial four weeks.

In rendering his decision today, Judge Ellison said he found no grounds of fraud, but it was clear Reeder did not know what he was doing when he signed the document. Lund not only lost the suit, but is required to pay the costs of the action, restore to Reeder all rents and interest collected since he has controlled the property, and his claims of $10,000 against the estate was reduced to $2,000.

Reeder is the oldest living graduate of Cornell College at Mount Vernon, Iowa, and has been prominent in business circles of Tipton for 60 years. At the inauguration of Hoover he held the President's hat.

HAMILTON CLEARED OF SLAYING CHARGE

As the jury filed out, Hamilton's friends surrounded him and he introduced many of them to his 82-year-old mother, who listened to all the arguments. Near Hamilton as he accepted the good wishes and felicitations of the crowd around him were Mrs. Hamilton, his elder daughter, Helen, and his younger daughter, Theresa, widow of the slain youth.

A cordon of defense lawyers surrounded the defendant, and Dexter Hamilton, the accused man's brother, put his arm about the shoulders of the widow, who had sat sober-faced and apparently unmoved, as defense attorneys attacked the character of her slain husband.

All but one member of the jury which decides Hamilton's guilt were farmers. That member is an assistant cashier at the First National Bank, Weatherford's oldest. All the jurors were fathers, most of them having daughters.

The courtroom emptied slowly, country folk standing about in the hope that the jury would report quickly.

Dr. John R. Straton Leaves Estate to Wife

New York, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Dr. John Roach Straton, who died October 29, at Clifton Springs, N. Y., left his entire estate to his wife, Mrs. Georgia Hillyer Straton, of 338 West 71st street, according to the terms of his will filed for probate today.

The petition states that the estate fils "more than $10,000" in personal property and "more than $5,000" in real property. The widow was named executrix without bond.

SHAKE-UP RUMORED IN NEW YORK G.O.P.

TAMMANY IS JUBILANT

New York, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Political observers presiding over the postmortems of yesterday's city election that swept Mayor James J. Walker back into office in a great Democratic victory professed today to hear an under-cover but wide demand for a new deal in the leadership of the Republican party in the metropolis.

The victory that permitted Democrats to retain control for another four years of every major office except one in the entire city and borough governments also marked one of the poorest showings made by a Republican slate of municipal nominees. Walker obtained a plurality of 497,165 over Fiorello H. LaGuardia, Republican fusion candidate.

LaGuardia said little beyond announcing: "I will have a very important statement in the near future, possibly tomorrow." His headquarters had only a skeleton force to clean up after the fight in which La Guardia obtained only 368,384 votes.

Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, hailed the 174,931 votes given him as a warning to Tammany Hall and the Republican organization of the advance of his party. Some political observers, however, attributed his comparatively large vote to complimentary ballots and votes of anti-Tammany Democrats, and old-line conservative Republicans who refused to support the fiery Republican congressman who had once been a Socialist.

The Republicans obtained their only major office when George U. Harvey was elected president of Queens Borough, where he has been crusading against graft and machine control.

ELECTION RESULTS CHEER DEMOCRATS

Kentucky elected Democratic majorities in both branches of the State General Asembly. The Republicans had sought control of it to strengthen the hand of Gov. F. D. Sampson, a Republican, during the remaining two years of his term.

A coalition ticket in Chicago was elected, seating ten Republican and twelve Democratic circuit and superior court judges.

But while the Democrats were centering their efforts upon the State contest in Kentucky, the Republicans reelected their mayor of Louisville, William B. Harrison, by a huge majority, and in Pittsburgh they put Charles H. Kline back into the mayor's seat in a victory that swept Allegheny County.

The Republicans also retained control of the New Jersey Legislature, but the Democrats gained three votes in the New York State Assembly.

In the only congressional contest of the day, the Democrats retained the seat of the twenty-first district of New York when Joseph A. Cavagan defeated two Negro candidates, one a Republican and the other a Socialist. The district is in the heart of Harlem.

In smaller mayoralty contests in up-State New York, the Republicans took four Democratic places, but in turn lost to the Democrats in ten cities.

In Ohio the voters settled an old dispute by writing into the legal code of the State an amendment to permit the legislature to classify for taxation purposes. It was the thirteenth time such a proposal had been voted on in that State.

The majority for Dr. John Garland Pollard, the Democratic gubernatorial candidate in Virginia, had climbed to almost 70,000 votes over Dr. William Moseley Brown, the standard bearer for the Republicans and Anti-Smiths.

Senator Swanson, of Virginia, one of the Democratic leaders, took the election as an indication that the entire South would return to the Democratic fold and that Virginia would elect a Democratic senator and Democratic representatives from every congressional district in the State. Senator Glass joined him in the latter portion of his prediction.

SLIGHT DEMOCRATIC GAIN IN KENTUCKY

Two Democrats Added to Lower House; All Except Two Districts Report.

LOUISVILLE GOES G. O. P.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—A Democratic gain of two members in the lower branch of the 1930 general assembly was indicated today by unofficial returns of yesterday's election. The 1930 State senate, half of whose members were elected yesterday, will be composed of twenty-four Democrats and fourteen Republicans. The same as in 1928, the returns indicate.

Based on complete unofficial returns from practically all of the 100 legislative districts, 64 Democrats and 34 Republicans were elected to the house. In two districts, the Fifty-second and Fifty-third, both in Jefferson County, the outcome is undecided, but the Republican candidates hold the lead over their Democratic opponents on the fact of incomplete returns. Even though these two districts elect Republicans, the Democratic gain in the house will remain at two members.

The Republican party claimed a clean sweep in Louisville and Jefferson counties, as elections of their other six legislative candidates and the two senatorial candidates are practically conceded. Mayor William B. Harrison, Republican, was swept into office by a majority of approximately 27,000 votes. He carried into office with him Republican magistrates and constables, the returns indicate, making Louisville solidly Republican for the first time. The only Democratic member of the 1930 general assembly from Jefferson County will be Frank Dacher, Louisville, a holdover.

In general, the legislative election was quiet over the State, and interest on most of the districts centered in the races for local offices. A fight in an isolated district of Clay County over the election of a magistrate was one of the major election disorders. In the melee, Taylor Harris, 42, was shot; Will Lipps, 45, was stabbed in the back, and a dozen others were cut and bruised. Tom Lipps, member of the Clay County school board, surrendered in connection with the shooting of Harris, who is said to be in a serious condition.

BETHESDA STREET PLEA TO BE HEARD

HOUNDS EVENT ENJOYED

The Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission at its meeting tonight will consider a petition of residents of Elm street, Bethesda, which asks that the street be opened through to Wisconsin avenue. The end of the street at present is blocked by a lot owned by W. G. Counselman.

Counselman in the meantime has requested that a building permit be given him which will allow him to erect a garage on the lot in question. This application is being held in abeyance pending inquiry into the opening of the street.

The citizens point out that the street is residential and that they should be allowed easy access to their homes. To permit the construction of the garage would almost definitely end the possibility of having the street cut through, they assert.

The Derby Stake of the Maryland Foxhunters Association, which is holding its annual meet at Rockville, was won by Sunshine, owned by Charles F. Haight, of Montgomery County. The hound scored 70 points in competition with 33 hounds which were entered in the first day Tuesday. The final scoring was held yesterday.

A tie for fourth place also resulted when Clipper, property of H. H. Horner; Black Roger, owned by Clagett C. Dorsey and Dick, property of the Glenmerry Kennels, each scored 30 points.

Approximately 75 hounds are expected to be entered today in the first day of the "all age" contest, which will last three days. A ball will be held tonight at the Rockville Fair Grounds. Otho C. Trundle, of Gaithersburg, is chairman of the committee in charge.

Eruption's Death Toll Reaches 400

Guatemala City, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—The death toll from the eruption of the volcano Santa Maria was officially estimated today at more than 400.

This placed the eruption, which began last Saturday and was continuing today, as one of the most serious volcanic disasters in the Americas. The casualties have not approached those in the eruption of Mount Pelee in Martinique in 1902, when 30,000 were estimated to have perished, but greatly exceed any reported in recent years.

Lava still was pouring today from the crater newly opened on the volcano, but it was largely following the course of earlier flows and had caused no extensive new damage. The authorities have sent numerous relief expeditions to the stricken area, about 90 miles north of here.

Sound Track of Movie Film, Thrown on Screen, Enables Audience to See Shapes of Shadows That Make Intelligible Sounds.

New York, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Pictures of spoken words were shown to the New York Electrical Society tonight and discussed as a new kind of possibility for enabling the deaf to hear conversation.

These speech pictures were thrown on a canvas screen, where they literally talked by turning themselves back into speech. The pictures were the sound track of a movie film, magnified with a stereopticon until the row of jagged shadows which represents spoken sounds was as big as a line of icicles. As this row moved across the canvas the alternating lights and shadows penetrated a slit in the cloth and fell upon a mirror. Thence they were reflected to a photo-electric cell and were turned into words.

As the speech translation was instantaneous, the audience could see the shape of shadows that made the sounds. In reading the shadows, said the demonstrator of the picture, John Bellamy Taylor, of the General Electric Co., lies a possibility of relief for the deaf. He warned, however, that there is no early likelihood of this relief.

Tonight, for example, when he wished to show the shape of speech, he had to stop the picture, turning it into a silent still. Even so, only the simplest vowel sounds could be exhibited. Nevertheless, Taylor said it is conceivable that methods can be devised of turning the moving shadows into a series of stills which the eye can see while speech goes on. Ordinarily the shadows move so fast that they are a blur. He said that although he knows of no one now able to read the words in these sound tracks, the key to shadow translation may yet be discovered.

Taylor made the talking canvas do astonishing tricks. By changing the speed of the shadows the speaker's voice became that of a seemingly different person. A sentence spoken by a man ranged all the way from a startling imitation of a pig's grunt up through intelligible speech in higher and higher key as the speed increased, until it became an unintelligible high-toned warble, but the man's voice never became feminine. Women's voices, said Mr. Taylor, undergo similar changes.

Then the screen spoke the words backward, and demonstrated that reversing the order of spelling does not reproduce the sound backward. The name Taylor, when reversed, sounds as if spelled Orlate. This is because the voice pronounces whole sound instead of letters.

"Eetay eye sauce le keert kelly kawye oon," said Taylor. He put the picture of this sound on the canvas, reversed the direction and the canvas said "New York Electric Society." That was what Taylor had said backward.

British Shipbuilders Lock Out 15,000 Men

London, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—The Shipbuilding Employers Federation tonight declared a national lockout affecting between 10,000 and 15,000 joiners in federated shipyards and ship repairing establishments in Great Britain.

The action was taken after a conference at Edinburgh with the executive council of the Amalgamated Society of Woodworkers. It was announced that union members had refused to accept wage proposals. The lockout, effective November 21, if continued, may involve other trades.

Borah Permits Name To Be Used for Peak

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Senator William E. Borah has accepted the honor of having Idaho's highest mountain peak named for him. In a letter received by the State Geographic Board the senator said he felt "highly complimented."

The new name of the peak, which is in the Pahsimerio Range, in eastern Idaho, has been sent to the United States Geographical Commission for enrollment in the permanent files and for inscription on the official map.

REGULARS SWAMPED IN TARIFF ITEM VOTE

REED CALLS BILL DEAD

(Associated Press.)

In the first dispute over a major industrial tariff, the administration group in the Senate bowed yesterday to an overwhelming majority of Democrats and Western Republicans who succeeded by 48 to 30 in reducing the duty on pig iron from $1.12½ to 75 cents a ton. The finance committee Republicans had proposed an increase to $1.50.

The 75-cent rate was sponsored by Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, a Democratic member of the tariff-framing finance committee. This was the same duty carried in existing law until it was raised by presidential proclamation to $1.12½, which rate the House left untouched.

Western Republicans Factor.

Nineteen Republicans, including many regulars and a Republican member of the committee—Sackett, of Kentucky—joined 29 Democrats in support of the lower duty. Four Democrats—Broussard and Ransdell, of Louisiana; Heflin, of Alabama, and Kendrick, of Wyoming—combined with 26 Republicans against the decrease.

The roll call follows:

Favored by Nineteen Republicans.

Republicans against the Barkley amendment—Couzens, Dale, Deneen, Edge, Fess, Glenn, Goff, Goldsborough, Gould, Greene, Hale, Hastings, Hatfield, Hebert, Kean, Keyes, Metcalf, Moses, Oddie, Phipps, Reed, Shortridge, Smoot, Townsend, Vandenberg and Walcott. Total, 26.

Democrats against—Broussard, Heflin, Kendrick and Ransdell. Total, 4. Grand total, 30.

Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, who had urged the $1.50 rate to assist merchant furnace operators on the Atlantic seaboard, said the vote proved the futility of attempting further arguments in support of industrial tariff increases and reiterated the bill was dead, since the House would never agree to the wholesale changes being wrought by the coalition.

Norris Hits Reed Speech.

This brought a stinging reply from Senator Norris (Republican independent), Nebraska, who said he was tired of listening to "lectures" from the Pennsylvania senator and contended Reed had come "perilously near violating the rules of the Senate," at least having violated "ordinary sportsmanship."

It was not "becoming" of Reed, continued the Nebraskan, to "lecture and question the intelligence of his fellows after several hours of debate had resulted in a decision not to his liking. While not questioning the accuracy of Reed's argument in favor of a higher tariff, Norris said he was not going to sit by and be "indirectly accused of being an enemy to my country or a free trader."

Disclaiming any free-trade opinions, the Nebraskan asserted advocates of higher tariffs were doing more harm than good by demanding an embargo tariff wall.

Reed Is Pessimistic.

Reed had described Democratic talk about a competitive tariff as "political" and added that the coalition had determined to knock out every increase in industrial rates, "so it might as well go ahead and pass the bill and send it to conference with the House," he added; "but the House and Senate never will agree."

Senator Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, also replied to the Pennsylvanian, saying he "almost wept" during the speech.

"You didn't weep, but you will after the next election," Reed retorted.

Two Democratic attempts to limit debate on committee amendments to the metals schedule, the same procedure as in effect Tuesday and yesterday on the earthenware and glassware section, met with objections, and at adjournment Senator Oddie (Republican), Nevada, and others were arguing against the proposed transfer of manganese to the free list.

Debate Over Iron Rate.

Urging adoption of the higher duty on pig iron, Reed said the distress of the farmer was nothing compared with the small merchant pig iron producer on the Atlantic seaboard, "who is suffering from imports from India, where wages were 14 cents a day." He cited figures to show that many of these Eastern furnaces had closed down because imports had forced domestic prices down below the cost of production, and said the big steel producers farther inland would not derive a nickel of benefit from the raise.

The Pittsburgh district, he said, needed no tariff at all, because it had freight rate advantages and low-priced imports could not hurt producers like the United States Steel Corporation.

Senators Barkley and Walsh (Democrat), Montana, contended the trouble with the pig iron industry was domestic rather than foreign competition and asserted the higher duty would result in higher prices of all iron and steel products in the interior as well as on the seaboard.

Barkley said only 140,000 tons were imported last year, as against 1,500,000 tons produced on the seaboard and that only 52,000 tons came from India. He agreed the merchant furnace operators were having difficulty keeping open, but attributed this to the big steel companies making pig iron beyond their own needs for sale in competition with the smaller producers.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

A SOUTHERN colonel's soliloquy: Well, well, if old Virginia hasn't come back home. Boy, howdy, I'm sho' glad to see you all. Been up East with those Republican city slickers, eh? Must have heard the Swanee River or Dixie or something and got homesick, eh? Well, it's good to see you back, anyway.

You look sort of bad, though, like you've been mishandled or something. What's the matter? Couldn't you get any of that tariff up there or any of that Farm Board money, any of those cabinet members? Boy, you should've known that befo' you went away. You weren't raised in any financial school. Shuh, those Republicans are taught how to go after things like that from the time they are born.

BOY, you ought to stay home awhile now, too, and quit this running around business. Doesn't get you anything. You ought to stay home and go to work and quit worrying your poor old mother to death. Goodness, she's had the lamp out ever since you went away last November.

She's worried a lot about you, Boy. She was down at the polls watching every vote that came in, looking for you. You ought not to do her that way. You've got a mighty good mother. Yes, siree. Misus Democracy is about as good a woman as I ever knew. Does look like she's gonna be in poverty all her life but she's reared a lot of high principles. Anybody will tell you that. Yes, sir, she's mighty good woman. I'm getting nare on to 60 years and I've never seen the likes of her for punishment, but she's a mighty fine and sturdy woman, Virginia Boy, and you ought to quit worrying her.

• • • •

Of course, I'll admit she's been wedded to some mighty strange men, but then she's had her troubles. Looks like she's just doomed to be a widow, what with Mr. Jackson, Mr. Cleveland, Mr. Wilson and men like that dying as fast as she gets them.

Old Man Carter Glass has been asking about you a lot. If you quit spending your time loafing on the corner you might go around and see him. I believe he might give you a job on his Federal Reserve Board so as you can stay at home.

He's pretty mad at you, though. But you know how the old man is. Has his deep convictions and how he doesn't mind expressing them. What made him so mad, of course, is that Bishop Cannon kept saying you were a ne'er-do-well and would run away from home. And derned if you didn't.

• • • •

I DOUBT if the old man will ever fergive you either. But then he may give you somethin' to do to keep you at home. I always told the folks that you weren't a bad sort, that it was just the bad companions you fell in with.

You started to running with those boys on the other side of the railroad tracks, Texas, North Carolina and Florida. You come from a better stock than they do, Boy.

And, by the way, did you see them anywhere up East? Guess, they'll come running home, too, now, eh boy? Well, it's mighty good to see you back, 'deed it is.

Of course, you mustn't expect that the mothers will let their daughters go with you now same as they did befo' you went away. Not that there's anything wrong with you, understand. You're good at bottom. But you've been traveling around, taking on experience and the like. You know how it is? Bet you're a good talker now, eh? At any rate, you've picked up a lot of travelin' men's jokes.

White House had found that it had too many guests from the State Department and that the word had gone out to strike off the name of Nelson Johnson, an Assistant Secretary. "Strike off Johnson's name," was the way the order was issued, according to this version. And, lo and behold, some one struck off the name of Senator Hiram Johnson, causing a national if not an international incident.

There is no suggestion that an investigation is under way, with a view to disciplining the careless person, however.

Shortly after Reed left Johnson's office Richey arrived with the presidential apology. Reed subsequently suggested to Johnson that he should make it public, but the Californian, being a retiring man, said that it should be made public at the White House. Reed telephoned to the White House, and that was done.

Senator Reed is the man who will likely have the job of getting the President's armaments limitations treaty through the Senate.

Blease Refers to Mrs. DePriest.

Throughout an early part of the morning session the California senator held a levee at his desk as senator after senator came up to talk with him about the matter. Senator Cole Blease, of South Carolina, came the nearest to provoking an outburst. He prepared a resolution asking why Mrs. Oscar DePriest was received at the White House and Senator Johnson was not. The South Carolina senator was talked out of presenting it, however.

There is, of course, no love lost between the President and Senator Johnson. Their feud has been of long standing and besides the fact that they were both running as Republicans there was little pretense of friendliness between them in the campaign.

There is no doubt, indeed, that the California senator would be the last person in the world that the President would think of as a congenial dinner companion, and vice versa, if it is proper to say such a thing.

Only a few days ago, when the President had a statement issued on the tariff, Senator Johnson precipitated the situation in the Senate, where the senators were professing to believe that there was a mistake, that the President could not have issued such a statement as that accredited to him.

"Why, did the President issue that statement?" the senator asked of Senator McKellar who was reading it. "Preposterous. He could not have done so."

Then the senators in high glee suggested that a committee should be named to find out if the President really had issued the statement. Of course, this incident did not make the President laugh and say, "Hiram is the funniest fellow."

Hughes Snub Recalled.

But the point about Tuesday night's dinner was that it was an official occasion, an impersonal affair—just for example, as was the visit of Mrs. DePriest.

That is the reason why the Californian's absence became such an incident and why an explanation was considered necessary.

The snubbing of Johnson, believed to have been unintentional, perhaps, by Charles Evans Hughes, it will be recalled, cost the latter the Presidency in 1916.

HARRISON BRANDED SUGAR TARIFF FOE

Subject Drives Him Insane, Says Letter Read at Lobby Inquiry.

HOOVER CALLED TARGET

(Associated Press.)

Campaign plans of the Southern Tariff Association to obtain a high sugar duty in the pending bill were uncovered yesterday by the Senate lobby committee.

Questioning J. A. Arnold, vice president and general manager of the Southern Tariff Association, for the fourth day, the committee produced a letter from Arnold to J. C. Barry, of Lafayette, La., which said the Republican party probably would follow President Hoover's wishes regarding the sugar duty.

"My thought is that the President is the target," the letter added.

Arnold explained that what he had in mind was to "develop sentiment" in favor of the high sugar duty and that the word "target" was illadvised. "I never saw a President who was not amenable to public sentiment," he asserted.

Slap Taken at Harrison.

Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, and Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking Democrats on the finance committee, were characterized in the letter as the leading opponents of a high sugar duty.

"Mention of a sugar schedule drives Senator Harrison insane," the letter said. "He would put you on the free list."

Another reference to Senator Harrison was contained in a letter from Arnold to E. A. Burguieres, New Orleans sugar man, which suggested that Harry D. Wilson, Louisiana commissioner of agriculture, put in 30 to 60 days in protective tariff work in the South.

"I think he should spend a few days in Mississippi," the letter said. "Pat Harrison is the hitterest enemy you have on sugar."

In another letter to Barry last July, Arnold said "our friends here" were interested in sending a Republican to Congress from the Third Louisiana Congressional District.

The letter added that a Democrat favoring the protective tariff "would help some," but that a Republican would be more influential in the councils of the Republican party, "who must give you the tariff," than a Democrat.

"That was just personal," Arnold explained.

Arnold's Ordeal Not Ended.

The committee directed Arnold to appear today for further examination. He probably will be followed by C. A. Buck, vice president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, who will be questioned in regard to the action of the finance committee in placing manganese on the free list.

Arnold was questioned closely about two letters, one from the St. Paul Association of Commerce and the other from the Advertisers National Protective Bureau of Minneapolis, asking information regarding the American Taxpayers League, of which Arnold is general manager.

The letter from the Advertisers Bureau said the information was needed because of the large number of fraudulent solicitors working in cities. Arnold wrote J. W. Groves, of Minneapolis, State chairman of the Taxpayers League, to take up the matter with the bureau, and added that "we do not as a rule care to submit the work of our organization for the approval of local organizations."

Chairman Caraway of the lobby committee said this meant the bureau wanted to "know whether you are honest or not," and the inference to be drawn from the letter to Groves was that "you were getting money for yourself."

Arnold explained that the word "rule" might have been a little "strong" and that he thought it was a matter for the State chairman to handle, which he said was done.

Raskob Talk Suggested.

Regarding the letter from the St. Paul Association of Commerce, Vance Muse, field man of the Taxpayers' League, wrote to Groves that he doubted the wisdom of supplying information "because we have gotten about all the money we can out of St. Paul."

Arnold said this expressed his view and that he thought it was "unnecessary" to furnish the information since the field already had been canvassed.

Activity of Arnold in connection with the effort of the Taxpayers' League to obtain repeal of inheritance tax laws was revealed in a letter to Henry B. Sawyer, of Boston. The letter said Arnold visited Judge Laffey, of the du Pont interests at Wilmington, Del., in an effort to line up Gov. Roosevelt of New York in favor of repeal. Arnold said in the letter he suggested that Judge Laffey talk with Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and urge him to take up the matter with Gov. Roosevelt.

"What would you call that if it is not lobbying?" Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, demanded.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 10 a. m. and recessed at 5:33 p. m. to 10 a. m. today.

Voted to cut the duty on pig iron $1.12½ to 75 cents a ton.

Lobby investigating committee inquired into plans of the Southern Tariff Association to obtain a higher sugar tariff.

Senator Sheppard (Democrat), Texas, introduced a resolution calling for information about the sharp decline in the price of cotton in 1926.

THREE CHILDREN DIE AS FIRE RAZES HOME

MATCHES ARE BLAMED

Thompsonville, Mich., Nov. 6 (A.P.). Three children, the oldest a girl of 4, were burned to death today in the fire which destroyed the farm home of Frank Eddy, near here, while both Eddy and his wife were away. They were Lulu, 4; Lenna, 3, and Walter Melvin, 1 year.

The cause of the fire was not determined, but it was believed that the children themselves may have set it by playing with matches, since the parents said there was small likelihood of the flames having started from fires in stoves in the house.

The father was at work in a field some distance from his home and Mrs. Eddy had gone to the home of a neighbor for milk for the children when the fire was discovered by neighbors. The house already was enveloped in flames when the farmer reached his home. It was necessary for the group around the house to restrain Eddy from dashing into the flames, from which he could not have escaped alive.

The children were burned beyond recognition.

Birth of a fourth child in the Eddy family is expected.

Today's tragedy recalls a similar one which befell George Peters, an uncle of Mrs. Eddy. Three of Peters' children were burned to death several years ago in a fire which destroyed his home, the site of which was not far from the Eddy farm.

Eddy took up farming several years ago in an effort to regain his health, impaired by shell shock and gas in the World War.

U. S. Sends to Berlin New Reparation Draft

(Associated Press.)

Edwin C. Wilson, first secretary of the American Embassy in Paris, has been instructed by the State Department to proceed to Berlin to assist negotiations for a new agreement between the United States and Germany for the direct payment of German reparations to the United States.

The text of an agreement for such direct payments outside the machinery of the Young plan was forwarded to Berlin through Wilson. Wilson, who was American observer at the recent reparations conference at the Hague, will be chief American expert during the negotiations.

DAWES AND STIMSON TALK WITH HOOVER

Trio Continues Discussions of Disarmament and Coming Conference.

GENERAL TO LEAVE SOON

Ambassador Dawes yesterday continued his conversations with President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson on naval disarmament, the forthcoming five-power conference and other points of Anglo-British relations.

The office of Gen. John J. Pershing, in the State, War and Navy Building, was turned over to Gen. Dawes, and while not in conference with adminstration officials he received friends in his special office and transacted such business as required attention.

Secretary Stimson informed newspapermen that he expected to see Gen. Dawes several times before the latter leaves for New York to sail tomorrow for London. He remarked that it was always a delight to see the general, but indicated that no public statement would be made concerning their discussions.

Dawes Gets All Data.

All information concerning naval matters that has been laid before Secretary Stimson in connection with the naval conference is being made available to Gen. Dawes in order that he may be as fully advised as possible before leaving the country.

Secretary Stimson referred to the White House all inquiries concerning additional members of the members of the American delegation to the five-power parley. If the other members have been definitely chosen President Hoover has not yet communicated that fact to him.

No official comment was forthcoming at the White House or the State Department on the declaration of "Pertinax," widely known French political writer, that Philip Snowden chancellor of the exchequer in the MacDonald cabinet, blocked a pledge by the British prime minister to abandon Britain's age-old position of the freedom of the seas and threatened to resign from the ministry if such a pledge were given.

The French journalist added that Prime Minister MacDonald during his visit here was prepared to stand for the abandonment of naval bases in Canada, including the Vancouver station of the British Pacific squadron, but this was also called off, both matters being left to future negotiation.

Clerks Vie for Trip.

There is considerable rivalry among technical advisers, stenographers and clerks, who are hoping that the lightning will strike in their vicinity when the personnel of the American delegation and their assistants are finally chosen.

Secretary Stimson would not comment today on the suggestion appearing in British newspapers that the scene of the naval conference be shifted from London to Torquay in Devon to avoid the cold and fog. From what he learned about the Devon resort Stimson seemed much interested in the suggestion and did a lot of smiling, while refraining from committing himself one way or the other.

Asked whether he had accepted Gen. Dawes' invitation to be his guest during the conference, Mr. Stimson did some more smiling and indicated the matter had as yet been suggested only in an informal and friendly manner. He added that his plans in this regard have not been formulated.

CURRENT EVENTS IN VIRGINIA AND MARYLAND

VETERAN ADDRESSES ALEXANDRIA U. D. C.

Col. Edgar Warfield Gives Account of Reunion in Petersburg.

FIRE TRUCK IS TESTED

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 823.

Col. Edgar Warfield, of Robert E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans, this city, who was elected grand commander of the Virginia Division, United Confederate Veterans, at the annual reunion in Petersburg in October, addressed the meeting of the Mary Custis Lee-Seventeenth Virginia Regiment Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy Tuesday night at Lee Camp Hall, giving an outline of the reunion and stating that the invitation from Orange, Va., to hold the 1930 gathering in that town was accepted.

The local chapter of the U. D. C. will assume the work this year of locating and marking all unmarked Confederate graves and is asking that any one knowing of an unmarked grave notify Mrs. Charles W. Howell, the president of the chapter. The regular Confederate marker will be placed at these graves.

The Daughters of the Confederacy and the Sons of Veterans will hold a joint meeting on November 11, Armistice Day, when two Daughters of the Confederacy medals of honor to World War veterans who are descendants of Confederate soldiers will be bestowed. The recipients will be Edwin H. Hoffman, of this city, and Col. Alexander Murray, United States Army, an Alexandrian who is now stationed at Fort Totten, N. Y., but will visit his native city for this ceremony.

R. Samuel Luckett, commander of R. E. Lee Camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans, will preside, and the presentation of the medals will be by the Rev. Dr. William Jackson Morton, rector of Christ Church.

The entertainment program will feature Mrs. Stephen H. Field, Miss Margaret Alexander and Clarence H. Brader.

Mayor William Albert Smoot, Fire Chief James M. Duncan and a number of members of the fire companies, witnessed yesterday the first official test of the 75-foot aerial truck recently purchased by the city and received during the past week. James C. Smoots has been named as temporary fireman for the new apparatus.

The following deeds of transfer have been placed on record in the office of the clerk of the court: John E. Murphy to W. P. Wools, trustee, house and lot on the west side of Royal, betwen Cameron and Queen streets; H. Noel Garner, trustee, to James C. Gaines and Gladys A. Gaines, lot 25, block and section 1, George Washington Park; J. M. Duncan and wife to James C. Gaines and Gladys A. Gaines, lot 24, block and section 1, George Washington park.

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold a meeting at 8 o'clock tonight at the George Mason Hotel, when final reports on the plans for the cabaret supper to be given Armistice Night in Armory Hall, under the auspices of this organization, will be submitted for approval. Mrs. Irvin Diener is general chairman and Mrs. Cameron Roberts is in charge of reservations.

The Washington Society of Alexandria will entertain with a ladies' night entertainment on November 19 in Christ Church Parish Hall. Guests will include members of patriotic societies and chapters in Alexandria, Arlington and Fairfax Counties.

The sentence is from 1 to 50 years in San Quentin Penitentiary.

The affidavits also stated that the women knew that Garland Biffle, a defense witness, had been arrested for alleged perjury before the deliberations began and that the knowledge influenced their decision.

Biffle and his wife both testified for Pantages that they had overheard an alleged conversation between Miss Pringle and Nick Duneav, author of the dance skit she attempted to book with Pantages. Biffle testified the conversation indicated Miss Pringle and Duneav planned to "frame" the defendant. The girl and Duneav denied the allegation.

Arrest of Biffle as he left the witness stand by District Attorney Buron Fitts' staff, the women jurors declared, unnerved them.

Dr. Shuler was adjudged in contempt of court and fined $5 for his radio statement.

The other affidavits were filed by Biffle and his wife, and by W. I. Gilbert and Joseph Ford, defense attorneys, who said the trial was affected adversely for Pantages by comments that Dr. Shuler made "against the juror in the Mrs. Lois Pantages case whom Shuler claimed was in favor of acquittal."

Miss Fannie Cole, 77, Expires at Culpeper

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., Nov. 6.—Miss Fannie Meade Cole, 77 years old, long prominent in patriotic and fraternal organizations in Culpeper, died here today.

Miss Cole was the daughter of the late Rev. John Cole, rector of Stephens Church for more than 30 years, and is survived by two brothers, Dr. Carter S. Cole, of New York, and Willoughby Cole, of Chicago. Burial will be in the Masonic Cemetery, in the upkeep of which she for years took an active part as president of the Masonic Memorial Association.

National City Bank Merger Faces Delay

New York, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—The merger of the National City Bank with the Corn Exchange Bank Trust Co., scheduled for National City stockholders' approval tomorrow, will be deferred, probably pending stabilization of the market in bank stocks, it was reliably reported today, as several large stockholders indicated their disapproval of the consummation of the plan at this time on the basis proposed.

Judge Holds Court, Though Under Charges

ALLEN TO APPEAL DISMISSAL VERDICT

utes, closed. In view of the trend the trial took before its conclusion there was little doubt as to its outcome.

Allen Is Dramatic.

The trial yesterday morning before it ended became a stage upon which Allen presented in dramatic fashion his views of why the trial board was unable to render a just decision in his case, the rights of a policeman and a private citizen to investigate any criminal violation of the law and the alleged failure of Maj. Pratt to point out any evidence of insubordination in the letter written by Allen to the superintendent of police.

Attired in khaki overalls and a corduroy coat, the suspended policeman several times goaded the board to end the trial as speedily as possible because he had to return to his job at a gas station.

Inspector Louis J. Stoll, chairman of the board, sprung a surprise at the opening of the hearing by immediately acquiescing to Allen's challenge of Capt. William G. Stott, a former commander of the defendant, and Capt. O. T. Davis, both regular members of the board. The two captains were replaced by Capt. Charles P. Peck and Capt. C. P. M. Lord.

The two charges against Allen were read by Inspector Stoll. The first, which was subdivided into three specifications, declared that the defendant was guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer and consequently had violated a section of the Police Manual. The second charge was that Allen was guilty of insubordination and disrespect toward superior officers.

To each of the charges and specifications Allen pleaded not guilty.

Maj. Pratt Sworn In.

Robert E. Lynch, assistant corporation counsel, then asked that Maj. Pratt be sworn in and proceeded to have him identify the three exhibits, and the only evidence of the prosecution.

A copy of an interview with Allen appearing in The Washington Post on October 19 was introduced as Exhibit No. 1. This article, which was declared the basis for the charges which led to the defendant's suspension, quoted Allen as saying that he would investigate the district attorney's office after the arrest of William Lee Moffett.

The letter to which Maj. Pratt wrote to Capt. Doyle, demanding an explanation of Allen's conduct and Doyle's reply constituted Exhibit No. 2.

The five-page letter written by Allen to Pratt, around which the remainder of the trial centered, was the third exhibit. With this Lynch concluded his examination and turned the witness over Allen, who was acting as his own lawyer.

Standing up and sitting alternately, Allen pressed Maj. Pratt to point out exactly in what instance the police superintendent considered him guilty of insubordination and disrespect toward superior officers.

For Board to Determine.

"That's up to the board to determine," Pratt replied. "The letters have been submitted, and I don't care to express an opinion."

Finally, Stoll interrupted Allen's harangue with the admonition: "Confine your talk to questioning Maj. Pratt. We don't want an oration just now."

After a little more bickering the prosecution rested its case, and Allen was given an opportunity to present his defense and to make any statement he desired.

For a moment Allen appeared baffled. Asked to explain his letter, he declared that he had expected to answer questions and more specific verbal charges at the trial. The letter, he said, he did not consider disrespectful. "If I had I wouldn't have written it," he added.

Reiterating his statement made in his letter to Pratt that he had a right to investigate any criminal violations of the law as a policeman, the defendant launched into another oratorical outburst.

Allen Puts Question.

"If in the time of stress and excitement a policeman should make an investigation that would cause a verdict of suicide to be changed to murder or a swindler to be arrested, should a superior officer come to him and say, 'You have violated a rule of the police manual?'"

The suspended policeman informed the board that he was still working up new evidence against Moffett and that he would continue to do so "tomorrow after I'm fired." He has recently given one case to the grand jury that has never been published, he declared.

Turning to the newspaper story in evidence, Allen said that while he had not been quoted exactly, the sense of the article was true.

When Allen's tendency for investigation of law violations was mentioned, the suspended policeman fired back with: "Yes, I would investigate any law violation which was brought to my attention. Even if you, Inspector Stoll, were believed guilty of a murder, I would be the first to investigate it."

Makes His "Swan Song."

It was then that the stormy petrel of the Police Department launched into what he called his "swan song," and with this final oratorical harangue brought the trial to an abrupt end.

"You know that I am singing my swan song here," he said. "These will be the last remarks I'll ever address to the police force as a member of the department."

Declaring that the trial was "merely a form;" that his judgment was sealed, and that it was impossible for him to get a fair trial by the Police Board, Allen declared that the members of the board would not dare to acquit him, because if they did they would be either suspended or be forever marked by Maj. Pratt.

"Capt. Doyle was the only man in the Police Department who had the courage to come out in my defense, and look what happened to him," he almost shouted.

Calls Trial a Farce.

Maj. Pratt was determined from the first to get him out of the Police Department, he said, and the trial was a farce.

"I'm not sorry for myself, though," he said. "God being willing, I've got 40 years more of life ahead of me, and I want my conscience to be clear. I'm proud of my record for the last two years. But I feel sorry for you three men. Yours is the onus, not mine. The people are with me, but you will have this on your consciences so long as you live. You'll never be able to live it down."

With that he walked over to a chair and picked up his hat, declaring that he had to get back to his job.

"Disgraceful Proceeding," He Says.

Questioned by Lynch, he retorted: "This is a disgraceful proceeding from the start. They had no right to bring me to trial. After all, though, I'm just saying what lots of policemen would like to say, but are afraid to. A policeman's job is just a job."

Asked by Inspector Stoll if he were not going to call on the two witnesses he had subpenaed, Allen replied: "No, I didn't intend to. They are just press agents, and I wanted to keep them out of the trial."

Bernard McDonnell, a reporter for The Washington Post, and Robert M. Buck, of the Daily News, the witnesses, had been kept in another room during the hearing.

SEVENTH DISTRICT VOTE IS SURPRISE

Rockingham, Page Counties, Normally Republican, Give Democrats Majority.

HARRISONBURG VOTE HOT

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., Nov. 6.—In sweeping the Seventh Virginia District by a majority approximating 6,000 votes Dr. John Garland Pollard and his Democratic running mates sprang a big surprise in carrying the normally Republican counties of Rockingham and Page and the City of Harrisonburg in Tuesday's election.

President Herbert Hoover piled up a 4,000 lead in the Seventh District in the Republican landslide of last November, while the vote in yesterday's election was only 15 per cent less than that cast a year ago.

Rockingham and Harrisonburg gave Pollard a majority of 338 votes. Democratic leaders would have been satisfied with a 250 vote against them in this district. Page County gave Pollard a margin of 47 votes. Last fall Rockingham gave the Republican national ticket a 2,300 majority and Page County contributed a 500 lead.

Shenandoah and Greene, both stanchly Republican, were the only Seventh District counties carried by Dr. William Moseley Brown. Shenandoah gave the coalition candidate a margin of 159 votes, while Greene gave him 63. Hoover carried Shenandoah last fall by 1,800 majority. The Democratic landslide for governor carried all four legislative candidates to victory in the Seventh District, while all the city candidates indorsed by the Democrats were elected in Harrisonburg. Delegate Ralph R. Bader, Harrisonburg attorney, and his Democratic running mate, former Delegate Jacob R. Breneman, were elected from the Rockingham-Harrisonburg District over Dr. J. M. Henry and Dr. B. B. Bowers, their Republican rivals.

The vote was Bader, 3,422; Breneman, 3,386; Bowers, 2,819, and Henry, 3,018.

C. W. Louderback, Stanley banker and Democrat, was elected to the House of Delegates from Page and Warren Counties, defeating J. R. Derflinger, Republican. The vote was, Louderback, 2,436; Derflinger, 1,697. Delegate Joseph Denny, Democrat, was an easy victor over J. S. Haldeman, Republican, in the Frederick-Clarke-Winchester District.

E. Stuart Ashby, Democrat, was elected treasurer of Harrisonburg over E. A. Zigler, Republican County chairman, by a margin of 230 votes. R. Lee Woodson, Democrat, was re-elected commissioner of revenue, over F. Wilmer Coffman, Repuublican, by a majority of 526. The hottest municipal fight was staged over the treasurership. The campaign marked Ashby's debut in politics. Zigler has been a member of the city council for years.

Democratic leaders today in rejoicing over the results of the landslide attributed it to the faith of the Seventh District voters in the "program of progress," sponsored by their favorite son, Gov. Harry Floyd Byrd, which Dr. John Garland Pollard pledged himself to carry on. These leaders say that the voters failed to respond to the same appeals in this campaign which contributed to the Hoover vote last fall, pointing out that the election was settled entirely on purely State issues.

Robbers Board Ship, Bind Two, Get $397.60

Portland, Oreg., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Several young men boarded the steamer Edgar F. Luckenbach, at the Luckenbach terminal in the Willamette River here early today, bound Capt Carl Alberts and Elmer Atkinson, quartermaster, and robbed the ship's safe of $397.60. They escaped.

Capt. Alberts told police he recognized Peter Media, 19, discharged boatswain of the steamer, as one of the robbers.

Successful Candidates For House of Delegates

(Associated Press.)

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—Democrats held the commanding majority of 10 to 1 over the Coalitionists in the new House of Delegates, the final check-up revealed tonight.

Of the 100 seats, 92 will be occupied by Democrats, the other 8 falling to members of the Anti-Smith Democrat-Republican coalition.

Wounds May Be Fatal To Alleged Rumrunner

Sebring, Fla., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Overtaken near here today after a 50-mile race through two counties, Bob Hall, alleged Miami rumrunner, was shot and probably fatally wounded by P. C. McWilliams, a customs agent, as he abandoned a liquor-laden automobile and fled.

Doctors expressed little hope for Hall's recovery.

POLLARD MAJORITY NOW NEARS 70,000

Democratic Landslide Proves Disastrous for Minor Coalition Candidates.

TAKE ASSEMBLY SEATS

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Dr. John Garland Pollard's majority had reached nearly 70,000 votes tonight with nearly all the State's precincts having reports the result of the election which yesterday brought an avalanche of Democratic ballots. The governor-elect, on the face of unofficial returns from 1,640 of the Old Dominion's 1,683 precincts, had registered 167,315 votes, as compared with 97,750 for Dr. William Moseley Brown, gubernatorial standard bearer of the coalition ticket of the Republican and anti-Smith Democratic party.

The Democratic landslide proved disastrous practically all down the line for the coalition opposition. James H. Price, lieutenant governor-elect, and John R. Saunders, attorney general, overwhelmingly defeated Calom Jones and C. C. Berkeley.

In the elections for the general assembly, the Democrats captured 92 of the hundred seats. They were unopposed for 31 of them. The coalition ticket won five contested seats and were unopposed in three others. All four contested senatorial posts went to the Democrats.

Dr. Pollard joined other Democratic leaders today in interpreting what they believed the victory signified. The governor-elect said he saw in the decisive triumph a warning to those who "may hereafter seek, for partisan purposes, to revive religious strife."

Gov. Harry F. Byrd said that the people "unmistakably indorsed the Democratic program under successive administrations and just as emphatically declared themselves against the program of reaction as offered by Republican leaders."

From the Nation's Capital came statements from Senators Claude Swanson and Carter Glass. Senator Swanson asserted that the Democratic victory "indicates that the entire South will return to the Democratic party in large majorities."

Senator Glass said: "The election tells its own story. Nothing that I could say would add to it. The election Tuesday demonstrates the fact that the large body of those who dissented last year told the truth when they insisted that their defection was momenary and in no sense permanent."

German Marriage Real, Soldier Finds; Sues

Special to The Washington Post.

Weston, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Marie Norma, somewhere in Germany, wanted to boast that she had "an American husband."

James Harron, of Weston, with the American Army of Occupation, thought Marie was joking, and he went through with her with what he thought was a burlesque ceremony. It was all in German, and Harron had a great time until he found the whole thing was in dead earnest. That was ten years ago. Now Harron is waging a fight in the Lewis County Circuit Court to regain his freedom.

Mrs. Susan Lynn Dies At Purcellville Home

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., Nov. 6.—Mrs. Susan A. Lynn, prominent resident of Purcellville and widow of J. A. Lynn, died at her home here last night from a heart attack. She was 84 years of age and a native of Loudoun County, the daughter of the late William and Ellen Ball.

Mrs. Lynn was an honorary member of the Blue Ridge Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy. She is survived by two brothers, Notley Ball, of Purcellville, and C. M. Ball, of Colorado. Her funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Baptist Church in Purcellville, with interment in the Leesburg Union Cemetery.

A rocky chamber 145 feet below ground, in San Francisco's Twin Peaks Street Railway tunnel, is used as a laboratory to test the effect of radiation from the earth upon evolution.

CURRENT EVENTS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

ELECTION PLANNED BY CHAMBER GROUP

Annual Meeting of Body Will Be Held Next Month in Clarendon.

REALTORS DINE TONIGHT

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Meeting tomorrow afternoon in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce the board of directors will consider plans for the annual meeting at which directors will be elected.

According to Executive Secretary P. P. Woodbridge, the constitution provides for the holding of the annual meeting the second Thursday in December.

Among details that will have to be decided by the directors are whether the board shall, according to the constitution, comprise a membership of twenty-four or shall it continue to operate under the special resolution which was adopted calling for fifteen members of the board of directors. Another question to be determined is whether the directors shall be elected by ballot or, as in the past, in the open meeting which has heretofore been held in the Washington Lee High School.

Secretary Woodbridge announces that there will be sixteen vacancies to be filled this year, fourteen of which have been caused by expirations and by resignations.

Those whose three-year term expires are: Clarence R. Ahalt, Ashton C. Jones, William P. Ames, M. E. Church, and A. K. Stratton; those whose one-year term expires are: Keith A. Brumback, G. D. Burks, Louis C. Carl, Walter K. Handy, William S. Hoge, Jr., Charles T. Jesse, A. L. Kelley, Hugh Reid, and W. R. Rose; those who have resigned are Dr. W. C. Welburn and Fred N. Windridge.

The Alexander-Arlington-Fairfax Real Estate Board at its monthly dinner meeting to be held tonight at the Washington Golf and Country Club will have as its guests the members of the Washington Real Estate Board.

Preceding the dinner there will be a tour of this section of Northern Virginia to acquaint the Washington members with the opportunities on this side of the Potomac for property development.

The Arlington County Bar Association, at its meeting held yesterday in the Boulevard Bakery, at Clarendon, appointed a special committee composed of Capt. Crandal Mackey, Judge Harry R. Thomas and State Senator Frank L. Ball to complete arrangements for the hanging of a picture of the late Judge J. B. T. Thornton on the walls of the circuit courtroom.

Judge Harry R. Thomas, chairman of the committee on the filing of copies of pleadings for use of opposing counsel, reported that Judge Howard W. Smith has expressed his willingness to enter any necessary order to that effect. The committee is to prepare an order and submit it at the December meeting for the association's approval.

Efforts to dismiss the committee appointed some time ago to arrange for a suitable outing for members of the Sixteenth Judicial Circuit failed, and the committee was instructed to arrange for the holding of an indoor affair.

The committee comprises Claude O. Thomas, chairman; J. Hammond Brewer, jr., B. M. Hedrick and Amos C. Crounse.

The case of Harry N. Douthit, former publisher of the Clarendon Chronicle, a county weekly newspaper, who at the June term of the Circuit Court of Arlington County was indicted for allegedly attempting to bribe Circuit Court Judge Howard W. Smith, comes up for hearing before Judge Frederick W. Coleman, of Fredericksburg, Va., Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the Circuit Court of Arlington County. The case will be prosecuted by Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Cloth. Defense counsel are State Senator Frank L. Ball and William Leahy, of Washington.

County Treasurer E. Wade Ball announced yesterday that within the next week he will advertise the delinquent real estate tax list for the year 1928.

Property owners whose 1928 real estate taxes have not been paid and who wish to avoid having their property advertised may do so by appearing at the county treasurer's office at the courthouse and paying the taxes due.

The Arlington County Zoning Commission will hold its third public hearing on the proposed zoning ordinance tonight in the Hume schoolhouse on Mount Vernon avenue.

This hearing will cover that area known as the Virginia Highland Precinct which comprises most of the industrial area in the county.

Declaring that the Virginia Park and Planning Commission, which was appointed by Gov. Harry Byrd, has failed to function, due to lack of a quorum at several of its meetings which have been called when other important matters were pending, the Arlington County Civic Federation, at its monthly meeting, held in Lyon Park last night, adopted a resolution calling upon Gov. Byrd to make changes in the personnel of the commission.

The resolution, which was offered by Hugh McGrath, chairman of the executive committee, sets forth that the Federation considers it most necessary, in view of the rapid growth of the greater metropolitan area of Washington, that the commission as a whole take a more active part in the development of this area.

The resolution further states that there are many persons who are fully qualified and who are willing to give their time, talent and energy in order that the duties of the commission may be properly performed.

The special committee of the Arlington County Civic Federation, of which Robert E. Plymale is chairman, and which is to arrange plans for the annual banquet to be held the latter part of this month, will meet tonight in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce in the Rees Building in Clarendon.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Matthew Fontaine Maury School, of Clarendon, will hold its monthly benefit card party tomorrow night at the Boulevard Bakery at Clarendon.

The condition of Miss Alice Virginia Fought, of Leeway, who underwent an operation at an eye and ear hospital in Washington yesterday, was reported as much improved last night.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Robert E. Lee School met yesterday at the schoolhouse and discussed plans for a card party to be given in the near future.

There will be a special union meeting of the congregations of all the county churches tonight in the Clarendon Baptist Church in the interest of the Kernaghan Visitation Evangelism.

Among the speakers will be the Rev. E. S. Delaney, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Alexandria, and Ward Boswell, also of Alexandria.

The public is invited.

The Arlington Rotary Club will hold its weekly luncheon meeting today at the Washington Golf and Country Club. President Dr. R. N. Sutton will preside. The meeting will be at 12:30 o'clock.

The Arlington County Monarch Club meets today at 12 o'clock in the Boulevard Bakery at Clarendon.

The Arlington Volunteer Fire Department met last night in the firehouse and nominated the following officers to be elected at the December meeting: For president, Julian Tapp; vice president, J. A. Dawkins; secretary-treasurer, E. J. Blackmer; assistant secretary, M. C. Meyers; chief A. C. Scheffel; deputy chief, C. J. Snoots; captain, Charles Snoots; lieutenant, A. E. Scheffel, and fire marshal, J. W. Travis. Members of the board of directors, James R. Mossburg, H. L. Wilson and V. Ghehardt.

Chief Scheffel reported that during the month of October the department responded to five fires which resulted in a total loss of $3,650.

The secretary was instructed to extend an invitation to the Arlington-Fairfax Volunteer Firemen's Association to hold in Arlington its annual memorial service the first Sunday in January.

1930 Methodist Meet Will Be at Wheeling

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Wheeling was chosen for the next conference and officers were chosen for the coming year today by the State Methodist Episcopal Woman's Home Missionary Society, which closed its 30th annual convention this afternoon.

Mrs. W. D. Fletcher, of Moundsville, was elected president; Mrs. Abijah Hayes, of Parkersburg; Mrs. W. G. Morris, of Charleston; Mrs. R. B. Nay, of Wheeling, and Mrs. W. D. Reed, of Fairmont, vice presidents. Other officers are Mrs. Fred M. Morris, Charleston, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Walter Ferbee, of Mannington, treasurer; and Mrs. C. J. Proudfoot, Wheeling, recording secretary.

JEWISH WOMEN END SECTIONAL MEETING

Middle Atlantic Sessions of National Council Hear Reports.

BALTIMORE PLANS FETE

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Nov. 6.—The Middle Atlantic States Conference of the National Council of Jewish Women, embracing Maryland, Virginia, District of Columbia, North Carolina and Delaware, held two sessions here today and adjourned this evening. The executive board will select the place of meeting next year. The present officers hold over for another year.

"Education" was dealt with at the morning session today by Mrs. D. H. Goodman, of Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. Beryl D. Cohen, of Cumberland, and Mrs. Etta Spier, of Greensboro, N. C. Mrs. Goodman said that after a survey of the more spectacular and well-known instance of youthful revolt against "traditional forms of religious thought and practice," she was inclined to blame adults and not Jewish youth.

"We have failed," she declared, "to define sharply enough the differences between traditional ceremonies and religion. Rigid moral laws that worked well in a primitive society work badly in modern life. Yet the new morality is simply the proved wisdom of the ages which youth is determined to rediscover for itself."

Reports Submitted.

Mrs. Spier, after discussing the Jewish and Christian attitude toward the Bible, said that the atmosphere, text and style of the Bible are of more value to Jews than its interpretation.

Miss Bert Israel, Washington, submitted the report of the rules committee. The report of the secretary-treasurer was made by Mrs. Leonard B. Schloss, Washington; that of the corresponding secretary by Mrs. Max Spear, of Cumberland, and that of the national executive board by Mrs. Minna T. Livingstone, Richmond, Va. Mrs. Schloss, who is national chairman of the Junior Council, also made a report on its activities. The report of Mrs. L. Lee Lichtenstein, president of the conference, told of the work accomplished in the Washington, Norfolk, Richmond, Roanoke, Newport News, Alexandria and Staunton sections. At Wilmington, Del., the report said, 500 Jewish families were found in making a census of the Jewish population, many of whom were unable to speak or write English. These were urged to attend Americanization schools and the results have been "astonishingly gratifying."

Baltimore to Celebrate.

The Greensboro, Winston-Salem and Raleigh sections were also covered by the report.

It was announced that the Baltimore section will celebrate the feast of Esther with a luncheon and clannish affair on Monday, December 16. All members of the conference are invited.

The reports of District Vice Presidents Mrs. James N. Ganins, Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. E. B. Werthelmer, Newport News, Va., and Mrs. J. W. Cone, Greensboro, N. C., were made at the luncheon tendered by the Cumberland section.

Killing Frost Ends Season in Lynchburg

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 6.—The growing season was ended here by a killing frost, which formed in an official temperature of 32 degrees. The growing season continued for 245 days, the last killing frost having occurred March 11. The average growing season here is 204 days, the longest, of 245 days, having occurred two years ago.

Gets Aviation School.

CLUBS IN SESSION IN PRINCE GEORGES

Federation Delegates Are Urged to Support Endowment Fund.

TRAFFIC FINES LEVIED

Deeper interest in the endowment fund being raised to care for expenses of the State federation and support of Mrs. John F. Sippel for reelection as national president were urged upon the delegates at the semi-annual meeting of the Prince Georges County Federation of Women's Clubs yesterday by Mrs. John L. Alcock, president of the State federation. The meeting was held at Emmanuel M. E. Church, South, at Beltsville, with the Women's Community Club of Beltsville as the hostess organization.

The federation voted to amend the rules of the scholarship fund so that money advanced to girls winning scholarships will be considered a loan instead of a gift. The student is to be allowed two years from the date of graduation to begin payment of the loan, it was decided. The action was taken following the report of Mrs. A. B. Gahan, chairman of the scholarship revision committee.

Registration of delegates began in the morning at 10 o'clock under supervision of Mrs. M. W. Derr and Mrs. Carl H. Frey, each delegate receiving an artificial sunflower, the emblem of the federation, a sprooi that her credentials were approved. Approximately 200 attended the meeting.

The invocation was by the Rev. Reginald Hall, followed by the Salute to the Flag, led by Mrs. W. E. Thorne. Greetings were extended to the delegates by Mrs. T. E. Woodward, president of the hostess club, to which Mrs. R. S. Allen, president of the federation, responded.

Reports were presented by the following officers: Mrs. R. S. Allen, president; Mrs. G. A. Castle, treasurer; Mrs. W. L. Preston, corresponding secretary; Mrs. T. A. H. Miller, recording secretary. Reports also were presented by these committee chairmen: Mrs. M. W. Derr, credentials; Mrs. W. E. Thorne, American citizenship; Mrs. W. E. Shegogue, education; Mrs. O. N. Eaton, international relations; Mrs. J. H. Hopkins, legislation; Mrs. D. J. Orcutt, press and publicity. The report of Mrs. N. O. Brigham, chairman of the American home department, was presented by Miss Ethel Regan, county home demonstration agent.

Luncheon was served by the Ladies Aid Society of Emmanuel Church, with Mrs. L. L. Hurley as chairman of the committee in charge. Mrs. Kerner F. Brown, State endowment chairman; Mrs. Earl Chaffee, State vice president, and Mrs. George Hax, State extension chairman, also were guests at the meeting.

The afternoon session was in charge of the fine arts department, of which Mrs. H. C. House is chairman. The various subcommittee chairmen in this department reported as follows: Mrs. House, art; Mrs. Nina Piozet, drama; Mrs. Frank P. Scrivener, literature, and Mrs. R. Irving Bowie. Folger McKinsey, Baltimore newspaper columnist, was the guest speaker for the afternoon. Mrs. B. F. Wade, chairman of the public welfare department, also reported on the progress of her department. Mrs. C. D. Church was chairman of hospitality and Mrs. William F. Rogers parliamentarian. The latter also is State chairman on resolutions.

Charged with pulling out of line and further complicating the serious traffic situation at the Hyattsville grade crossing Saturday afternoon, Ralph H. Chase, of Chevy Chase, was arraigned in Hyattsville branch of Prince Georges County Police Court yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff Ralph Brown told Judge J. Chew Sheriff that Chase drew out of the line of traffic headed to Baltimore and caused the inauguration of a second line in the same direction, resulting in an almost hopeless traffic snarl. Brown said that he was unable to arrest several motorists who followed Chase's lead.

Chase denied that he led the separation of the lines and testified that several cars preceded him. Judge Sheriff said that he did not wish to punish Chase, but that he felt that drawing out of line in a congested area was too dangerous to pass unnoticed. He imposed a fine of $1 and costs.

Guy L. Baker, of 3033 Sixteenth street northwest, pleaded guilty to charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated, reckless driving and exceeding a speed of 40 miles an hour preferred by Deputy Sheriff Brown. He told the judge that he rarely drank, but had taken a couple of drinks in celebration of Halloween. Judge Sheriff imposed a fine of $126 and costs.

James A. Richards, of Berwyn, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, reckless driving, no title, driving with dealers' tags and no registration card, was fined a total of $117 and costs by Judge Sheriff. He appealed. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Brown.

Two alleged liquor law violators haled into court by the "Three Musketeers of the Baltimore Boulevard," Deputy Sheriff Brown, County Policeman Claude Reese and Constable Andrew Gasch, were fined by Judge Sheriff.

M. Albert Hill, colored, N street southeast near South Capitol street, was fined $200 on charges of transportation and illegal possession. He is alleged to have been hauling a load of 816 quarts of alleged liquor in a light delivery truck on the Baltimore boulevard.

Dominis Messina, of Washington, was fined $150 on charges of transportation and illegal possession of 192 quarts of alleged liquor. Messina is alleged to have told the police when he was stopped that he was hauling movie film, but it turned out to be "fil-em," according to Reese.

The Prince Georges County Commissioners have approved the application for reclassification of lot 454, block M, of Sylvan Vista, from residential "A" to commercial "D," filed by A. W. Knox, of Landover. The Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission and the county commissioners agreed that the lot was an ideal one for commercial zoning. It is at the corner of Sheriff and Addison Chapel roads. It is planned to erect a gasoline filling station on the property.

The petition of Mrs Dorothy K. de Graffenreid, of Cottage City, for rezoning of lots 7, 8 and 9, of block 4, Cottage City, from residential "A" to commercial "D" was rejected by the commissioners. The commissioners held that a well-established commercial zone is close by and that they believe "spotty" zoning to be detrimental. The application also was disapproved by the park and planning commission.

If you play bridge, and who doesn't? you can vastly improve your game by following the daily article on this fascinating pastime written by Milton C Work, its foremost exponent.

CUMBERLAND MADE RAIL SALVAGE BASE

All Reclamation Plants of Baltimore & Ohio to Be Centered There.

DIRECTORS MAKE VISIT

Cumberland, Md., Nov. 6.—In connection with the visit of the board of directors and prominent officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad here this evening, it was announced that all the reclamation plants of the company would be centered in Cumberland. So far plants from 22 different points on the system have been centered here, the old rolling mill property being used as the main plant and devoted to the salvage and reclamation of scrap and used material. The concentration of plants at this point will continue.

The visitors were entertained by the Federated Shop Crafts at the shops, the men of the various shifts returning on their own time to give a demonstration of the building of two types of locomotives, assembling and erecting in their presence. This included a heavy switching type. Five stripped boilers were placed in one end of the shop, placed on the assembly line and carried by huge overhead traveling cranes.

It was said that the shop men hoped to impress the management with their efficiency so that further shop extensions might be provided for in the next budget.

The visitors were received with the shops band playing "Hail Baltimore & Ohio," theme song at the Fair of the Iron Horse. A speaker's stand was erected and a huge electric sign, "Welcome, Directors!" blazed. Addresses were made by Daniel Willard, president; Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War under President Wilson, now a Baltimore & Ohio director; John Howe, superintendent of back shops here, and W. J. Jones, president of the Federated Shop Crafts. The talks were broadcast from local station WTBO. The party continued on to Detroit on the tour of inspection.

Lad Accidentally Shoots Small Boy

Youth of 13, Who Killed 9-Year-Old, Thought Gun Unloaded.

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Thomas Myers, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Myers, this city, was shot to death near his home here early tonight and a 13-year-old companion, William Faulkwell, is being held by State authorities as a result. Myers was shot through the neck as he and Faulkwell and some other youths were returning from a trip in the country.

The older boy admitted he had fired the shot which killed the Myers lad, but said it was an accident. He told Sheriff Emory F. Thomas he thought his gun unloaded.

Baby Is Asphyxiated; Doctor Revives Mother

Special to The Washington Post.

Cambridge, Md., Nov. 6.—Peggy, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Ewell, Phillips street, Cambridge was asphyxiated this morning by carbon-monoxide gas from a gasoline stove on which her mother was preparing breakfast. Mrs. Ewell was overcome, as was her 6-year-old daughter, Barbara, who entered the room as her mother and sister became unconscious. Miss Agnes Moran, a sister of Mrs. Ewell, came in some time later and found the three unconscious. She opened doors and windows and summoned her neighbors and Dr. E. E. Wolff, who revived Mrs. Ewell and Barbara.

The fire company inhalator and two tanks of oxygen were used in an attempt to revive the baby.

GRAND JURY BEGINS ATTACK QUIZ TODAY

WOMAN RELATES STORY

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 6.—The Anne Arundel County grand jury tomorrow will begin an investigation of an alleged criminal assault on Mrs. Chick Galisha, 28, Baltimore, by a quartet of men, three of whom are lodged in the county jail here, while county and Baltimore city police are searching for the fourth.

Mrs. Galisha, who told her story of the attack to Police Justice John W. Anderson, of Annapolis, claims she was held up by the men, who were in an automobile on the Old Furnace Branch road in the upper part of the Third District. The attack, she said, took place Saturday night soon after she left a roadhouse-caberet on the southern outskirts of Baltimore. The men also robbed her of a wrist watch valued at $26, and an earring, she said, and declared that she was finally allowed to leave the car in a section of Baltimore with which she was unfamiliar.

When she left the roadhouse, Mrs. Galisha said, she made her way to a car which she thought was a taxi, to return to her home, but instead the vehicle was that of her assailants.

The men under arrest are William Adams, said to have been the driver of the car; Edward Schmidt and Joseph Polisterer.

Adams claims that Mrs. Galisha knew him and was willing to enter the automobile.

BUSINESS FAILURES DROP IN FIFTH AREA

Lowest Figure Reached Since November, 1920, During Last September.

LABOR MARKET NORMAL

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Business failures in the Fifth Federal Reserve District in September, 1929, totaled 70, "the lowest for any month since November, 1920," says William W. Hoxton, chairman and Federal Reserve agent, in his monthly review of business and agricultural conditions.

The business failures figure for September, 1929, was 40 per cent less than 119 failures in September, 1928. "Liabilities involved in the September, 1929, insolvencies totaled $1,111,141, the lowest figure for any month since September, 1923, and 58 per cent below $2,650,752 reported for September, 1928," says the review. "Total failures in the Fifth District in the third quarter of this year numbered 290, with liabilities aggregating $6,263,056, compared with 355 failures and liabilities totaling $7,035,907 in the third quarter of 1928."

Concerning employment, it is stated in the review: "No developments of importance took place during the past month in the employment field. Indications are that practically all labor groups are seasonally employed, with plenty of workers available to supply all needs, but not sufficient surplus at any point to be troublesome. South Carolina is preparing to begin work on a $65,000,000 road building program, which should give employment to many unskilled workmen in that State for several years. One of the leading tobacco companies is beginning the erection of an additional factory in Richmond, which will require a large number of additional women workers when completed and will give employment to a considerable number of building trades people while under construction."

Farmer Strikes Oil Well in West Virginia

Clarksburg, W. Va., Nov. 6.—What is expected to bring about an important oil development was reported here today in the strike of a well in paying quantities in the Dunkirk Sand on the farm of Ellis J. Marsh, farmer and stockman, near Brown, this county. It will be shot tomorrow.

This is one of the few strikes in that sand hereabout, but oil was found in it near the Wallace field, one of the most productive in the State, 25 or 30 years ago. Brown is near there.

Can Atheists Be Believed Under Oath?

If she had lied and avowed a belief in Heaven and Hell, the testimony of Mrs. Edith Saunders Miller, it is pointed out, might have been accepted in behalf of her husband, who, with six codefendants, was tried and convicted at Charlotte, North Carolina, for the murder of Chief of Police Aderholt of Gastonia.

Judge N. V. Barnhill, presiding, held that Mrs. Miller's views were pertinent evidence as to her credibility and were proper material for her impeachment as a witness. "If I believed that life ends with death and that there is no punishment after death," the dispatches quote him as saying, "I would be less apt to tell the truth." And for that Judge Barnhill is put on trial before the bar of public opinion.

But in another part of the State, in Concord, Judge A. M. Stack, presiding in another case, held exactly the opposite opinion. He declared from the bench, we read in the press reports of the trial, that "a man's character is made up of acts and his conduct, and you can not impeach him for what he believes."

Here we have a conflict in law which has captured the attention of the entire country and brought down on the head of Judge Barnhill and on the ancient Tarheel statute an overwhelming torrent of editorial maledictions.

In "The Literary Digest" this week, November 9th issue, the entire subject is reviewed and editorial comment is presented which shows the tense feeling that the controversy has aroused everywhere. Other striking news-features in this number are:

BRITAIN'S STEP BACKWARD.

The MacDonald government was strongly supported in the House of Commons Tuesday on the issue of resumption of relations with the Russian Soviet government. By a vote of 324 to 199 the house approved the plan for resumption of relations which was agreed upon by Foreign Secretary Henderson and M. Dovgalevsky, Soviet Ambassador at Paris. The Liberals solidly supported the proposal, and three Conservative votes were also cast in its favor.

Under the Henderson-Dovgalevsky agreement an exchange of ambassadors is to take place, and immediately thereafter the two governments are to exchange reciprocal pledges not to indulge in subversive propaganda in each other's territory. Negotiations on other disputed questions will be undertaken. The House of Commons was assured that the agreement with the Soviet did not include any arrangement for the granting of credits to Russia.

This "victory" by Prime Minister MacDonald is in reality a setback to the British Empire, on account of the increased facilities that are afforded for spreading communist propaganda in the Near East and India. The Moscow regime will now have in the heart of London a listening-post and a nursery of communism. Britain's pledge to refrain from propaganda in Russian territory is of course valid, and even without a pledge Russia is not endangered. But certain regions under British control are fertile fields for the spreading of communism and rebellion. The Soviet pledge is not in any wise binding, and is made only to be violated. "We are lost unless we can bring about revolutions in other countries," said one of the Soviet leaders, echoing the same statement made some years ago by Comrade Lenin.

The eagerness of the MacDonald government to resume relations with Soviet Russia is easily explained by Britain's desperate economic condition and the necessity for holding out some hope, however specious, that the socialist government will bring about a change for the better. The lure of trade with Russia serves as an expedient whereby the Labor government can throw a sop to socialism and perhaps make the people believe that tangible benefits will result from fraternizing with Moscow. Since no time limit is set for the advent of the millennium that is to follow the association of workless Britain and starving Russia, the deception may be prolonged for quite a long time, during which "something may turn up."

It is announced that British resumption of relations with Russia will have no effect upon American policy in refusing to recognize the Soviet. This would be reassuring if anybody had harbored the idea that the Hoover administration was contemplating the suicidal act of clasping hands with communism. Mr. Hoover has troubles enough, and he is not imitating Mr. MacDonald in inviting a disaster via Moscow. The success of the proposed naval conference should not be further jeopardized by raising a furore over communism, here or in Great Britain.

Prime Minister MacDonald's naval limitation plans will not count for anything if he does not remain in office, and his fraternization with Moscow may have a surprising effect upon international negotiations. Italy, for example, can not be expected to find pleasure in a British-communist understanding which may facilitate communist propaganda in the Mediterranean basin. Having rescued Italy from communism, the Fascist regime will not tolerate that evil, and it may look askance at naval proposals emanating from a socialist government that has just affiliated with communist Russia. Yet Italy must be brought into agreement if there is to be a naval limitation compact.

Viewed from any angle, the British government takes a step backward when it fraternizes with an avowed enemy of all governments that are not communist.

DEMOCRATS GAIN.

Tammany won a sweeping victory in the New York City elections and, to those who took seriously the Bishop Cannon twaddle, an equally sweeping victory in the Virginia elections. In the light of the final tabulations one wonders how practical politicians could have issued election eve forecasts of victory for the defeated candidates. James J. Walker is reelected mayor by a vote more than double that received by his opponent, Fiorello LaGuardia. In Virginia, Dr. John Garland Pollard defeats his opponent, William Mosely Brown, by more than one and a half to one. The Democratic party had a happy day Tuesday, and in both elections the "machine" rode ruthlessly to victory.

Except in one minor detail it is not possible to read national significance into the result of either election. Tammany triumphed in New York City as it has been accustomed to triumph for many years. Virginia returns to the Democratic fold, and can not be placed on the "doubtful" list. The fact that the Virginia result constituted a direct rebuke to those who would inject religion into politics is of significance in the national political field.

The prelate-politician, Bishop James Cannon, jr., leader of the bolting movement in Virginia, left his followers in the heat of battle and tried to save himself. He saw the handwriting on the wall, whereupon he set sail for South America, having discovered suddenly that a church convention required his presence. Bishop Cannon may put forth the alibi of absence to explain his crushing personal defeat of Tuesday, but he is beaten just the same. He is now free to devote himself to his ecclesiastical duties.

Under Gov. Pollard, Virginia is assured that the wise policies of Gov. Byrd will be perpetuated. Under Mayor Walker New York City will be well governed as it has been during the past four years.

THE LIBBYLOBBYITES.

Advance warning that there is to be a swarming of Libbylobbyites about the Capitol early next year must not be confused with similar warnings having to do with the seventeen year locust, the corn borer or the Mediterranean fruit fly. It simply means that the lobbyists under the leadership of Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War, are to again become active under the inspiration of a $200,000 lobby fund.

So long as the money holds out, the Libbylobbyites will continue to swarm with the hope of eating into the fabric of national defense much as the boll weevil eats into the bloom of the cotton plant. In announcing his plan Mr. Libby this year emphasizes a statement that the money has all come from Americans, which may or may not be an admission that heretofore foreign money has been secretly used in the pacifist campaign to undermine America's national defense.

The new program calls for an attack against the American naval program, an attack against the Supreme Court's decision that prospective American citizens must be willing to bear arms in defense of the United States, and an attack against military training in the American schools.

Recognition of the Soviet and dismantling of all fortifications on the Mexican border are also to be urged. Apparently no opportunity to eat into national defense plans is to be overlooked. But it's all to be sanctified by the pacifist slogan of world peace for $200,000—so, why worry?

A STRICKEN WARRIOR.

On a hospital cot in the village of Hanover, N. H., lies a disappointed, broken-hearted young man. His name is Al Marsters and for two years he has been the outstanding star of the Dartmouth Football Team. At the conclusion of last Saturday's game with Yale he limped off the field, having suffered, it now develops, three fractured vertebrae. His injuries will keep him confined to the college infirmary for the next four weeks and they spell the end of his football career, but, happily, they will have no permanent effect.

Chris Cagle, of West Point; Albie Booth, of Yale, and Al Marsters were the triple-threat stars of the 1929 season. If the year is to produce its Red Grange or Benny Friedman, he would have been chosen from these three. But each is so outstanding, each is such a thorough master of the game in its various departments and elements, that there is little possibility of designating one as the star of stars. Booth and Cagle will shine in future contests, but Marsters, in the six games he played this season, earned a position in the football firmament of which he can not be deprived.

GROWTH OF BANKS.

A survey of banking in the United States for the last five years just completed by a company of investment bankers of New York and Chicago brings forth some interesting figures on the trend of development in this field. The period has been essentially one of mergers and consolidations. Financial institutions have reached gigantic proportions, and are growing every day. Smaller banks are being absorbed or crowded out of business.

Congress is scheduled to discuss problems of branch and group banking during the coming regular session. It will find that 18 per cent of the Nation's banking assets are already in the hands of 273 separate chains of banks, including 1,858 institutions. It will find that unified control over State and national banks is rapidly increasing and that the greatest gains are being made by the largest institutions.

During the last five years, the survey shows, resources of American banks have increased by $15,522,062,000, with a similar increase in deposits. At the same time the number of banks in operation was cut down by 3,416. The average gain for all banks during that period was about 22 per cent. For the 69 largest banks in the country the increase of resources amounted to 66 per cent, and for the four greatest banking institutions in America the gain was approximately 100 per cent. The bigger the bank the more rapidly it seems to grow.

The survey reveals that since 1924 there have been more than 2,000 mergers and consolidations in the banking system, involving nearly one-fourth of the total banking resources. Investigators found other consolidations involving more than $3,000,000,000 under way. The scramble for bigness is especially notable among banks of large cities. In seventeen of the larger cities 69 banks have resources of more than $100,000,000 each and their combined assets represent 34 per cent of all bank resources in the country. Resources of three separate New York banks and one in Chicago have passed the $1,000,000,000 mark.

The era of enormous financial institutions and powerful banking groups has arrived without congressional action. Will Congress recognize this fact and revise Federal statutes accordingly? Or will the traditional policy against branch banking be upheld, and the banking system be allowed to grow beyond the control of Congress?

STATUARY HALL.

Announcement from the office of the architect of the Capitol that nine more statues are being prepared for Statuary Hall will bring sighs of despair from those who have hoped to preserve an artistic atmosphere about the Capitol. Every time a new statue is added to this crowded hall plans for erection of a separate hall of fame, or some other disposition of the statuary, are discussed, but nothing is done. Word that nine additions to the collection are contemplated should stimulate action.

Statuary Hall has been overcrowded for years, but that does not hinder ambitious States from sending marble or bronze effigies of their famous sons to occupy the front rows. There are now 58 pieces in the room, and those undergoing the process of sculpture will bring the total to 67. But the end is not yet in sight. Each State has a vested right to enter two of its worthies, and no State can be expected to refrain because its heroes will obscure those of some other State.

Those who lament the condition of Statuary Hall should feel encouraged by the promise of overproduction of effigies. With 96 counterfeit presentments the Nation will be shocked into action. What Statuary Hall needs is drastic downward revision.

THE TALLEST PRESIDENT

From the Houston Post-Dispatch.

The controversy over who was the tallest President has been settled by Representative Fish, of Garrison, N. Y., who asserts that the distinction belongs to Abraham Lincoln. At least, Mr. Fish thinks he has presented data from historical authorities which should be considered as the last word. It is to be admitted that he has delved deeply into the subject, and has gone to some original sources for his information.

The data which accords to Lincoln this distinction is interesting for the reason that heretofore the belief has been rather general that Washington was the tallest man ever to serve in the Presidency. The splendid physique of the first President has been a matter of comment all down the years since he became a public character. There are men still living who knew Lincoln well and they are able to testify to his unusual height. Unlike Washington, whose figure was straight and of military bearing, Lincoln was ungainly in form, and while those about him were not unaware of his tallness, it seems that they have not questioned until recently the authenticity of the tradition that Washington was the tallest of all the Presidents.

Mr. Fish quotes an autobiographical sketch written by Lincoln in 1859 in which the author said: "If any personal description is thought desirable, I am in height 6 feet 4 inches, nearly." And from Townsend's Handbook of United States Political History, he quotes: "Lincoln was the tallest, 6 feet 4 inches."

As to authorities on the height of Washington, Mr. Fish presents many, and all agree that it was less than Lincoln's. In Henry Cabot Lodge's "Life of George Washington," a letter by George Ackerson, of Alexandria, is quoted, which says: "Washington's exact height was 6 feet 2 inches in his boots. At that time he weighed 200 pounds and there was no surplus flesh about him." From Paul Lester Ford's "George Washington," this is taken: "The earliest known description of Washington was written in 1760 by his companion in arms and friend, George Mercer, who attempted a portraiture in these words: 'He may be described as being as straight as an Indian, measuring 6 feet 2 inches in his stockings, and weighing 175 pounds when he took his seat in the house of burgesses in 1759.'"

And so the testimony of the authorities goes. Mr. Fish adds the statement from Townsend's Handbook that Madison was the shortest President, measuring only 5 feet 4 inches in height. And Polk was the leanest, while Cleveland was the stoutest. Van Buren was the tidiest and Taylor the most careless in dress. This assertion regarding Van Burean may be questioned. Harding had an extensive wardrobe and liked to dress. And Coolidge, after he had been in office some time, became noted for his sartorial appearance. And who could appear any neater at all times in personal appearance than the present Chief Executive, Mr. Hoover.

"Isn't that rose a lovely red?"
"It is," I said, "but wouldn't you
Those petals paint a deeper hue?
Wouldn't it help the rose a bit
If you should put some rouge on it?

"These flowers must battle sun and rain,
The wear and tear of wind is plain.
If treated with a fancy cream
These blossoms lovelier might seem.
We might deceive the eyes of men
If we should paint them now and then

With floral paste and floral mud
We'll make an old bloom seem a bud.
With proper treatment I am sure

All Historians Are Members of the Superior Race.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

NATURALISTS agree that bees and ants are the most intelligent of insects.

They are not unanimous, however, in ascribing to either a reasoning faculty similar to man's.

"They are prompted by instinct," say the doubters, "and obey blindly and helplessly."

If that is true, it is difficult to distinguish between instinct and intellect.

Ants have a form of government. They organize for war. They capture prisoners and work them as slaves under guard. They fight fire. They keep cows.

But they are guilty of one folly that raises a doubt of their ability to think. When they are on a march and come to a stone or clod or a towering fence post, they do not break ranks to avoid the climb. They go over the top—up one side and down the other.

How unreasonable to blunder straight ahead instead of going around!

The much-praised bee is equally foolish. For all his skill in building and ventilating and heating his house, and his marvelous skill as a chemist, he will butt his head against the wall of his dwelling if it is moved in his absence so that the door is an inch to the right or the left of its accustomed place, and he will buzz against a window pane for an hour instead of exercising a little common sense and searching for another outlet.

How unreasonable to be the slave of habit and to continue an unprofitable performance!

And yet, if these faults prove the ant and the bee incapable of reason, what shall you say of men.

Pioneers built barns on a hill side so they could drive their loaded wagons on the second floor from an entrance at the rear. And when they moved to the level land of the West they built their barns the same way, with a wooden approach sloping up to the second floor.

The first plow was a crooked stick, and men continued to use wooden plows until the sixteenth century A. D.

Men still butcher one another in cold blood because they don't know how to quit. They stubbornly exhaust themselves in lawsuits. They get drunk and narrowly escape death and drink again. They follow a party or a sect because they were taught to follow it. They do what is customary, without thought for their own preference. From the cradle to the grave they are slaves of habit and precedent.

How devoid of reason these insects called men must seem to a greater intelligence that watches them from above!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Why Not Have a Fixed Rule for Retirement of Federal Employes?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In view of the fact that the Federal employes are working earnestly to have the retirement age lowered under the Civil Service retirement act, does it not seem incongruous and strange that the Civil Service Commission should come forward with a proposition favoring indefinite extensions?

Now this matter of extension is something that Congress should look into very carefully, since under this system a great many abuses, discriminations and injustices are taking place in many of the departments. In some instances those who happen to stand well with the chiefs of divisions are recommended for an extension, while other employes equally efficient, but for one reason or another do not stand so well with the chief, are forced out. Moreover, this system tends to defeat the main purpose of the bill—namely, the letting out of the superannuated, and the more rapid advancement of the younger generation of clerks.

Now, except in the case of those employed in doing work of a scientific nature, and whose services are therefore invaluable, why does not Congress make it mandatory for everybody else to step out upon reaching the age of 70—that is, provided they have served fifteen years or more—and thereby give not only the younger generation, but the former service men a chance? EMPLOYE.

Senator Brookhart Advised That the Law Nullified the Volstead and Jones Acts.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Senator Brookhart's silly twaddle about law enforcement, exuded upon the floor of the Senate yesterday, is stupidly tiresome in view of the common knowledge of the fact that Senator Brookhart assisted in enacting prohibition laws, the enforcement of which absolutely prevents the enforcement of prohibition laws.

No one knows better than Senator Brookhart that, while the use of alcoholic beverages, theoretically, may be prohibited through the use of straight illegal tyranny such as the Federal and State Governments are now using in their furtive and futile attempts at prohibition, the enforcement of prohibition laws is a ridiculous impossibility until the present legislative lawlessness, which legalizes the nullification of the eighteenth amendment of the Constitution and the violation of the Volstead and Jones laws, is de-bunked or otherwise senatorially rectified.

Radio Fan Protests Against Broadcasting by Senators.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A separate radio room for senators is a very good suggestion, and it comes at an opportune time, but on the other hand, consider the poor listeners. At present the airways are terribly congested. When one tunes in there is usually faint evidence of any except local stations. Think what it would mean if a broadcasting system were installed at the Capitol.

Winter is just about here, and that should mean that the fans should be getting many new distant stations, but if senators are to broadcast the air will be heated to such an extent that it might as well be summer as far as receiving distant stations is concerned. From an efficiency expert's point of view, the idea is perfect, but from the radio public's point of view it is a crime. Let's not clutter up the winter atmosphere with a lot of hot air. HUMANE.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: John J. Raskob, the campaign manager, didn't suit me a little bit. But it strikes me that instead of making him the bold, bad goat among the bulls and bears of Wall street, he should be given a vote of thanks for setting a good example to the poor plucked lambs. He says he is not a plunger, and his financial bill of health just about proves it. In plain English, he is a safe investor, and the difference between him and the aforesaid lambs is the difference between the safety-net of a circus acrobat and calamity.

NEW PASSION PLAY CAST.

Last fortnight was election week in Oberammergau, Germany. But not for a mayor, police chief or sheriff did the citizens vote. Pious and thoughtful, says Time, a committee representing all the citizens met to elect a new cast for their world-famed Passion Play in which the entire village takes part.

Anton Lang, who has played Christus three times, was succeeded by his cousin, Alois Lang, chosen from three candidates. The part is exhausting. Anton is too old. So he was made the prologue reader. Alois Lang, now 38, was understudy to Anton Lang in the last performance (1922). He failed then of election to the Christus role by only a few votes and played the High Priest Nathaniel. Like his revered cousin, Alois Lang looks the part—a gentle carver of wooden Christs who has been letting his hair and beard grow for years to be prepared.

Hansi Preisinger, daughter of Oberammergau's postmaster, was a candidate for the supreme role of the Virgin Mary. Custom demands that not only must the girl chosen be a virgin, but she must remain unmarried for one year afterward. Hansi, ablest virgin actress, is engaged to an engineer in the power plant. So the tactful electors awarded her the role of Mary Magdalene, less important, more nubile.

The theater has been enlarged to seat 6,000 people. Tourists may come by plane; an airdrome will be ready for the solemn scenes in May.

The Oberammergau Passion Play, first acted in 1634 in gratitude for the cessation of the black death, was to be given every ten years. In 1674 the date was changed to fall on decimal years. The World War postponed the 1920 production until 1922.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN CAPITAL SOCIETY

Crack Riders Will Be Seen By Diplomats

By JEAN ELIOT.

OPENING today at Madison Square Garden in New York, the National Horse Show is so international in its aspects that delegations from several embassies and legations probably will attend. Teams representing Italy, Poland, the Irish Free State, Canada and the United States are to compete for the coveted international military trophy, with a dashing Polish cavalry team, which already has captured the cup twice, heralded as a probable winner.

The Polish Minister and Mme. Filipowicz will be present on Tuesday, when the military teams will compete for the cup.

They have a double errand in New York, for tomorrow they are to share honors with Mme. Curie at a luncheon to be given by Mrs. William Brown Meloney, president of the Marie Curie Association. They also will say farewell to this distinguished scientist, born their countrywoman, although now a citizen of France, when she sails Friday night on the Ile de France for home.

The Counselor of the Polish Legation, Mr. Stanislaw Lepkowski, is already in New York, having gone to attend the opening of the horse show today and to be present when the contest is held for the Ciechenowski Cup. This trophy, a great bowl of old English beaten silver, was presented by a former Minister of Poland, Mr. Ciechanowski, as an award for individual horsemanship. Like the International Trophy for military teams, it must be won three times before it comes into the permanent possession of the winner. Mr. Lepkowski will return to town Sunday and Mr. Viktor Podoski, first secretary of the legation, will attend the horse show. Both men are first-rate horsemen. Mr. Podoski won his spurs in the Polish cavalry.

Although definite plans have not been made, presumably the Polish Cavalry Team, including Col. Rudolph Dreszer, Lieut. Kazimierz Growski, Lieut. Stefan Starnowski and Lieut. Wladyslaw Zgorzelski, will come to Washington after the horse show. The Italian Team is coming and preparations are being made for entertainment of its members, with the Italian Ambassador's dinner on November 18 as an important feature.

The team which the United States has entered in the international trophy contest is captained by Maj. Charles P. George, whose wife is a daughter of Vice President Curtis. Maj. George has been in Boston for some time training this team of horsemen who are to carry the American colors in the Olympic Games. Mrs. George, now at the major's permanent station at Fort Sill, Okla., will not attend the horse show, but it is probable that her sister, Mrs. Webster Knight, 2d, of Providence, R. I., will be on hand to root for the American team. Others on the team are Maj. Harry D. Chamberlin, Capt. William B. Bradford, Capt. James C. Watkins, Capt. Russell C. Winchester and Lieut. John W. Woolfard. All are Cavalry officers except Maj. George and Capt. Watkins, whose branch is the Field Artillery.

Ambassador of Cuba Will Be Dinner Guest.

The Ambassador of Cuba and Senora de Ferrara are the guests in whose honor the Military Attache of the Cuban Embassy and Senora de Prieto will entertain at dinner this evening.

Capt. and Senora de Prieto will entertain at a tea dance at the Mayflower on November 23 for the latter's daughter, Senorita Lucia de Tessada-Guzman. On December 21 they will give a ball at the Willard for Senorita Tessada-Guzman.

The Minister of Switzerland and Mme. Peter have gone to New York to attend a Swiss celebration and to see their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Georges Peter, and another son, Mr. Marc Peter, now living in New York. They will return to Washington early next week.

Senator and Mrs. Lee S. Overman have taken an apartment at the Powhatan Hotel for the winter.

Mrs. James M. Beck, wife of Representative Beck, of Philadelphia, returned to Washington Tuesday night after passing several months at her summer home in Seabright, N. J.

Appointment of Mr. Ralph A. Totten to head the legation which will be established by the United States in the Union of South Africa at Cape Town has been announced. He has been on duty here at the State Department. He is at present consul general at Cape Town.

Mr. Gustaf Weidel, commercial counselor of the Swedish Legation, and Mme. Weidel have taken an apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel.

The chief of cavalry, Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, and Mrs. Crosby will be at home to the officers of the cavalry and their wives on Wednesday, November 20, from 5 until 7 o'clock, at 3540 Massachusetts avenue.

Army Girl to Be Feted Before Navy Ball

Underwood & Underwood.

MISS VIRGINIA CHEATHAM, daughter of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. B. F. Cheatham. Miss Frances Morse will entertain at dinner in her honor on Thanksgiving night, going later with her guests to the Navy Relief Ball.

Two Weddings Solemnized in Churches Here

Margaret Bates and Beatrice Fitzpatrick are Brides.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Bates, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Walker Bates, and Mr. Edwin M. Hughes, of Maysville, Ky., took place last night at 8 o'clock in All Saints Church, Chevy Chase.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory net embroidered in pearls and roses over ivory satin. Her tulle veil, which formed a train, fell from a band of lace which was caught on either side with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride's attendant was Miss Betsy Slaven, of Baltimore. She wore a sleeveless frock of yellow crepe fashioned on princess lines. Her hat was of russet horsehair, and she carried chrysanthemums shading from yellow to russet.

Betsy and Billy Chickering, twin children of Capt. and Mrs. William Chickering, preceded the bridal party carrying baskets of small chrysanthemums. They were dressed in costumes in russet shades.

The best man was Mr. Daniel Williams, of New York, and the ushers were Capt. William Chickering, Capt. Mark Devine, Lieut. Willard A. Holbrook, jr., and Lieut. Raymond Bosserman.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents, in Chevy Chase, followed the ceremony, after which the couple started on their wedding trip, the bride wearing a beige frock with a hat to match, and a beige broadtail coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes will be at home in Maysville, Ky., after November 15.

The marriage of Miss Beatrice C. Fitzpatrick, daughter of Mrs. John Joseph Fitzpatrick, of 3420 Sixteenth street, to Dr. Francis Edward Dougherty, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., took place yesterday morning at the Shrine of the Sacred Heart. The ceremony was performed by the brother of the bride, the Rev. R. R. Fitzpatrick, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, White Mills, Pa., and was followed by a nuptial mass.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. W. A. Fitzpatrick, of Scranton, Pa., and her sister, Miss Lena Fitzpatrick, was maid of honor.

Mr. Dawes Departs From City Tonight

Envoy and His Wife Dine en Famille With President.

Rounding out a busy day for hosts and visitors, the President and Mrs. Hoover and the United States Ambassador to Great Britain and Mrs. Dawes dined en famille at the White House last evening. With their daughter, Mrs. M. B. Ericson, who is also a White House guest, Mr. and Mrs. Dawes will leave tonight for New York, whence they will sail for England.

Ambassador Dawes was a guest of the Secretary of State, Mr. Henry L. Stimson, at luncheon at Woodley yesterday between visits to the Capitol, where he met many of his quondam associates in the Senate. He also established "temporary headquarters" in Gen Pershing's office in the State, War and Navy Building and there received many callers.

In the afternoon Mrs. Hoover entertained a large group at tea, many of the guests being friends of Mrs Dawes Earlier she received the members of the League of Coast Guard Women, who have been holding a meeting in Washington

This morning, accompanied by Mrs. Dawes and Mrs. Ericson, the First Lady went with Mrs. Hyde, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture, to see the department's chrysanthemum show. She had missed the private view held last Saturday morning, as she was leaving early that day for camp on the Rapidan. One new variety of the blooms is named for her small granddaughter, Peggy Ann Hoover.

President Hoover will make the principal address at the Armistice Day celebration Monday evening at Washington Auditorium. The Diplomatic Corps will be well represented, including the Ambassador of Brazil, Mr. S. Gurgel do Amaral; the Ambassador of Japan and Mme. Debuchi; the Minister of Finland, Mr. L. Astrom; the Minister of Sweden and Mme. Bostrom, and members of

TARDIEU'S CABINET SEEKS VOTE TODAY

Majority of 20 Is Expected in First Appearance of New Regime.

PEACE-AND-WORK POLICY

Paris, Nov. 6 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—"Peace and work" is the slogan of the new government formed by Andre Tardieu, which will ask the Chamber of Deputies for a vote of confidence tomorrow.

The cabinet, which succeeds that headed by Aristide Briand, which fell October 23, is believed sure to get a majority of more than twenty votes from the center parties, the moderately radical groups and the moderately conservative groups.

Its slim margin of safety was further narrowed today, however, when the Radical Socialists, led by Edouard Daladier, decided without waiting to hear Tardieu's ministerial declaration of policy to vote against the government, making an adverse vote a matter of party discipline.

Not Banking on Their Support.

Tardieu is not counting on votes from the Radical Socialists (the strongest single group in the chamber), from the Socialists, from the group headed by Louis Marin, or from the smaller diehard groups on the right.

The ministerial declaration was discussed today by the cabinet, which in an official communique later announced that they were "in perfect unanimity on all points at issue." Tardieu declined to comment on the declaration, which will be put in final form tomorrow morning at a cabinet council to be presided over by President Gaston Doumergue, except to say that it will take only about twenty minutes to read before the chamber.

After the reading of the ministerial declaration of policy, Aristide Briand, foreign minister, will speak on international questions.

Briand's Group May Split.

The Tardieu policies have a constructive trend which may cause many radicals and conservatives to break their party bonds to give the new government a chance. Briand's own party, the Republicaine Socialiste, composed of eighteen members, is one cause of worry to the new cabinet. Eight of its members, under the presidency of Maurice Violette, held a meeting today at which they supported Briand's foreign policy, but opposed the present coalition.

The loss of these eight votes might prove a vital one. On the other hand, the Radical Socialists who, with the Socialists, will lead the assault on the Tardieu government tomorrow, may not be able to hold 40 of the older members of their group of 122 in line.

Louis Marin's right wing group is also wobbly, as most of the conservative newspapers are supporting Tardieu. By accepting the gauge of battle at once, as he has, Tardieu may construct a new and substantial majority.

As long as vital questions remain to be settled no minister in the Tardieu cabinet will accept invitations to banquets, luncheons or other social functions, it was decided at today's gathering of the memers of the government.

MRS. KATE MAGRUDER DIES

Daughter of Late District Governor Expires in California.

Funeral services were held at Redlands, Calif., yesterday for Mrs. Kate Cooke Magruder, daughter of the late Henry D. Cooke, governor of the District of Columbia from February 28, 1871, to September 13, 1873, who died Saturday at Monrovia, Calif. Interment will be made at Oak Hill Cemetery here at a date to be announced later.

Mrs. Magruder had a large circle of friends in Washington and many long-time residents of this city remember the hospitality she helped to engender at the governor's home in Georgetown during his term of office.

WILLIAM A. BENNETT RITES

Funeral for Insurance Company Manager Set for Tomorrow.

Funeral services for William A. Bennett, 71 years old, vice president and general manager of the Equitable Life Insurance Co. of this city, and vice president of the Bank of Commerce & Savings, who died Tuesday in his apartment at the Cavalier, will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Francis Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church South. Burial will be in Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Mr. Bennett had been connected with the life insurance business for 45 years. He joined the Equitable Co. soon after its organization in 1887. He is survived by two sons and two daughters, James Gordon Bennett, William A. Bennett, jr., Mrs. Elizabeth W. Nettleship and Mrs. Inez Manter.

REV. LOUIS S. WEBER RITES

Funeral of Well-Known Priest to Be Held Tomorrow.

Funeral services for the Rev. Louis S. Weber, S. J., assistant pastor of the Holy Trinity Catholic Church, who died unexpectedly Tuesday, will be held tomorrow morning. Office of the dead will be read at 9:30 o'clock, and requiem mass will be held at 10 o'clock at the Holy Trinity Church. Interment will be in the cemetery of Georgetown University.

Father Weber came to this country from Alsace Lorraine, where he was born 71 years ago. He was professor of classical languages in a number of colleges and universities, including Georgetown University. He had been associated with the Holy Trinity Church for the past ten years.

Reichstag Session Summons Issued

German Body Will Convene November 27 to Act on Referendum.

Berlin, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—The reichstag today was convoked for November 27 to discuss, among other things, the bill for protection of the republic and the national plebiscite bill "against enslavement of the German nation."

A joint meeting of leaders of the government parties and the ministers announced that the referendum on the nationalist bill, which repudiates all postwar treaties and agreements, would be held this year. This referendum has been forced on the government by the recent plebiscite initiated by the Nationalists, which obtained the necessary support of 10 per cent of the electorate.

The fact that the referendum will be held this year will not delay dispatch of business in connection with decisions of The Hague conference on reparations, which includes the Young plan, whose fate the Nationals would seal.

MRS. A. E. DONALDSON RITES

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna E. Donaldson, 70 years old, a resident of Washington for 30 years, who died Tuesday at the residence, 1352 Columbia road northwest, will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the residence. Burial will take place tomorrow morning at the Evergreen Cemetery at Camden, N. J.

Mrs. Donaldson was the wife of the late William Donaldson, a printer at the Government Printing Office until his death 12 years ago. She moved to this city from Philadelphia in 1899. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Ella Hamilton, with whom she made her home.

O'CONNOR RITES ARRANGED

Funeral Will Be Held Today for Gas Firm Employe.

Funeral services for Thomas Francis O'Connor, 57 years old, an employe of the Washington Gas Light Co., and a resident of Washington for more than 40 years, who died Tuesday, will be held at 8:45 o'clock this morning at the residence, 2316 Tunlaw road, with mass in Holy Trinity Church at 9:15 o'clock. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Mr. O'Connor was born in Clarksburg, W. Va., June 7, 1872, the son of the late Thomas and Catherine Cayden O'Connor. He came to Washington from Salem, W. Va., at the age of 17. He is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Maurice J. Colbert, Mrs. Annie Noone, Miss Bridget O'Connor and Mrs. Margaret Cunningham, all of Washington. He was unmarried.

WELFARE STUDY TO GET UNDERWAY

Secretary Wilbur, as chairman of the White House conference on child health and protection, announced yesterday that its various committees were ready for the most sweeping study of child welfare "ever made in all the world."

H. E. Barnard, director of the planning committee, and other members of the committee, who were drawn from all types of organizations engaged in welfare work, finished three months' work recently by recommending the most complete study possible of all work being done for the advancement of the child, from which suggestions will be drawn for future action.

The work of the conference has been divided into four major sections: Medical service, headed by Dr. Samuel McC. Hamill, of Philadelphia; public health service and administration, Surg. Gen. Hugh S. Cumming, chairman; education and training, headed by Dr. F. J. Kelly, president of the University of Idaho, and study of the handicapped child, C. C. Carstens, director of the Child Welfare League of America.

Major Phases of Survey.

Under each of the major sections have been placed certain particular phases of child study, each with a chairman recognized as an authority on the subject. Under the medical service division will come prenatal and maternal care, medical care of children and study of child growth and development.

The public health division will study public health organization, communicable disease control, and milk production and control. The division on education and training will have separate groups studying family and parent education, the infant and preschool child, the school child, vocational guidance and child labor, recreation and physical education and special classes.

500 Experts to Participate.

The group studying the handicapped child will devote special attention to State and local organizations for the handicapped child, the study of physical and mental handicaps, and delinquency.

Secretary Wilbur said that about 500 men and women, all recognized authorities, have been asked to help in the study. It is believed a year or more will be required before the first preliminary report and recommendations will be ready.

The White House conference was called three months ago by President Hoover. The Chief Executive has informed Secretary Wilbur that he considers its work one of the most pressing needs of the country.

Irene Bordoni Obtains Annulment of Marriage

Chicago, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Irene Bordoni's marriage eleven years ago to E. R. Goetz, New York play producer, was annulled today by Judge Charles A. Williams in Superior Court.

The actress sued for annulment on grounds that her husband had not been divorced a year when they were married, as the Illinois law provides.

Portuguese Painter Dies.

Lisbon, Portugal, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Columbano Bordallo Pinheiro, well-known portrait painter, died tonight at the age of 80 years. He was the last surviving member of the famous Bordallo family, which had given Portugal and Brazil many works of art.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875

He shut out the roar of the Street . . . but he shut in a more deadly din

There has been a great awakening in American Business to the devastating cost of noise. Millions are spent in office building construction to shut out the thunder of the street by insulating walls and ceilings. But in closing out the noisy distractions of the outside world, many business men are overlooking the vital importance of suppressing the inside noise manufactured right within the office itself!

The biggest factor in creating office noise is typewriter clatter. For the typewriter regulates the pitch of the office.

The one and only remedy for typewriter clatter is the REMINGTON NOISELESS Typewriter. With one of these machines, your secretary can type your letters within whispering distance of your desk and you will scarcely be conscious of her presence.

SCOUTS HAVE PLANS FOR ARMISTICE DAY

WILSON TO BE HONORED

Armistice Day ceremonies, which will continue through next week, will be inaugurated Saturday by District of Columbia Boy Scouts, with exercises in Arlington National Cemetery at which James J. Davis, of the Department of Labor, will be the principal speaker.

After mobilizing at the west gate of the cemetery at 10 o'clock, the scouts will parade to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. The parade will be led by the Drum and Bugle Corps of Troop 48, followed by the Massed Colors of the Council. Five Eagle Scouts, to be selected at a meeting tomorrow night, will bear the wreaths which will be placed on the tombs of the Unknown Soldier—Brig. Gen. Lloyd M. Brett, former vice president of the District Council; Lieut. E. Comeys, former boy scout, who was killed in action in the air service overseas; Lieut. Maurice Snyder, also a boy scout killed in action, and Sergt. Laurence Axbell, former Scout Master of Troop 63.

Only scouts and troop officials in uniform will be permitted to participate in the procession and ceremonies at the various tombs, but all other scouts are urged to attend.

Richard Babcock, official bugler for the District council, will sound "taps" over each grave. Col. E. L. Mattice, assistant to the Scout executive, will be in command.

On Monday at 3 o'clock The Woodrow Wilson Memorial Committee will conduct the usual Armistice Day service at the tomb of President Wilson in Bethlehem Chapel, Washington Cathedral.

Bishop Freeman will make the address and Dr. James H. Taylor, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church, will offer prayer. This service will be broadcast over the National Broadcasting System chain.

No seats will be reserved except for the family of Mrs. Wilson. Members of the committee in charge of the service are Mrs. Blair Banister, Mrs. Huston Thomason, Mrs. E. C. Bryant, Mrs. Kate Trenholm Abrams, and Maj. Oliver P. Newman.

A special feature of the Armistice day ball of V. F. W. Monday night at the Willard Hotel, will be a massed colors parade of all posts in the District. A detail of sixteen marines will carry the colors, which will include those of the department of the District of Columbia, Equality-Walter Reed, Columbia, Federal, Potomac, Front Line, Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary Ship and the National All-Navy organizations.

The flags will be marched onto the dance floor to the notes of the national emblem, played by the 93-piece Overseas Military Band, Drum and Bugle Corps of the V. F. W., which is directed by Lieut. A. E. Harper. Proceeds of the ball will be used for relief and welfare work among needy veterans and for the V. F. W. Orphans Home at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

By WILLIAM ULLMAN.

It is no easy problem that the average man faces when he tries to consider dispassionately the question of compensation for motor vehicle accident victims. All authorities agree on that point even though they violently disagree on virtually all others related to the issue.

Against the exhortations of some groups that he try to look at the subject unselfishly, as a social rather than a personal problem, he finds the issue veiled by smoke-screens, hedged about with half-truths, and bitterly opposed or defended by agencies whose word on the matter would seem authoritative. One thing that he wants to know definitely in fixing his own opinion is just who is for or against compensation and what variety they favor or oppose. Another is why the defense or opposition. Here is the way the situation stands as the reporter, looking only for facts, finds it.

Take first the proposal to provide compensation by means of the so-called safety-responsibility legislation.

Supporting it as at least preferable to compulsory liability or compulsory compensation insurance are the insurance companies. Another proponent is the American Automobile Association, many of whose member clubs have powerful insurance departments. Both of these groups explain their position as due to the fact that such legislation is more fair in that it penalizes only the careless or reckless driver and not the great body of car owners. That is their own explanation of their position.

Differs From Explanation.

It differs radically from the explanation offered by the opposition group, which includes such a powerful organization as the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, composed of the Nation's motor car manufacturers. It declares flatly that underwriters and the A. A. A. have enlisted in the cause of financial responsibility legislation because in other compensation proposals they see clearly the menace of State insurance. Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, is outspoken on behalf of the industry when he calls financial responsibility "a hasty, half-baked substitute for real public protection," and states frankly that he believes A. A. A. support for it comes from the conviction that it will sell more conventional insurance, as well as forestall the likelihood of a law adverse to insurers.

Throughout the history of motordom, there has been no previous instance in which the American Automobile Association and the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce have not seen eye to eye on every issue. That they are definitely split over the issue of compensation is accepted in all quarters as of the greatest significance. In the National Automobile Chamber's suggestion for "real public protection," there are many who profess to see a leaning toward a program of compensation insurance.

If the A. A. A. and N. A. C. C. are divided on financial responsibility legislation, the breach is not so sharply apparent with regard to compulsory liability insurance statutes. With the insurance underwriters, both groups were among the original opponents of the Massachusetts effort to solve the problem. The National Automobile Chamber's opposition at the first appearance of the Massachusetts law is to be ascribed to the fear that it would reduce the sale of automobiles. Time, however, is held to have disproved this with the result that the only current objection is believed to be that the chamber does not believe the law, any more than a financial responsibility statute, really compensates the victim.

Opposed By Dealers.

Another group opposed to compulsory insurance is the automobile dealer, especially the used car merchant. Whereas the former, much as has the manufacturer, has learned that new car sales are not necessarily restricted, the latter still definitely knows a certain type of used car has not sold. That is the $10, $15, $25 or $50 used machine. Those who have only enough to pay such a small price have been found to be unable to raise an additional $35 to $45 for insurance. While used car dealers have fought this situation, it has won many supporters for the law in other groups: namely, many who maintain that a car sold at this price is junk and has no place on the road under any conditions.

Many who originally gave their full support to compulsory liability insurance legislation have since slightly revised their position. Their attitude toward the principle involved—that of assuring compensation for the accident victim—remains unchanged. They feel, though, that the machinery is wrong, that instead of liability insurance, compensation insurance should be provided. Many of them go farther and insist that the State, itself, should underwrite the insurance.

In effect they say:

"We thought compulsory liability insurance would mean that the man, woman or child injured by an automobile through no fault of his own would be compensated. However, he still has to lick the insurance company. He can not do it. Compensation is the real need. It looks as if the State would have to administer it."

This, with the exception that they do not care whether the State or some private agency writes the insurance, seems to be the opinion of the mute majority which has no organization and no spokesman. Into this class falls the father of the child who has been crippled for life; the child whose hope for an education vanished when his father was killed; and, in many more cases than one might imagine, the motor car owner who was responsible for the crippling of the child or the death of the father. Social scientists, jurists and scores of similar leaders think likewise.

Like Physical Suffering.

Asking the average man in States which have financial responsibility or compulsory liability legislation what he thinks of compensation, one finds his humane response to be to the effect that economic suffering and spiritual suffering is just as bad as physical suffering and something effective ought to be done about it. But this reaction by no means is universal. A large number offhand are against anything in the form of compensation because it costs them more money. However, a surprisingly large number, even of these reverse their position when they look at the issue in a broad light.

The reporter finds among those who are in favor of the principle of compensation a group of idealists who think that while the issue is up for settlement it might well be settled finally by the enactment of a nationally uniform law. With motorists no longer circumscribed within the boundary of their home States, they argue that a law requiring every motorist in the country to provide compensation of some kind is the only logical solution of the problem.

Casting about for individual and group opinions with regard to the issue, one discovers that some of the smoke screens laid down have been remarkably successful. A specimen of one of the most successful is that which tries to confuse the question with one of safety.

"If the motorist has insurance protection, he tends to become careless and reckless and thus the law defeats its own purpose," is one of the stock arguments that has been advanced ever since the subject of compensation was raised. It has had its effect, but by those who look at the issue broadly this argument is declared to have a distinctly hollow sound.

Does Not Embrace Safety.

"In the first place," they point out, "the law does not deal with safety but rather with the absence of safety. Accidents are happening. Men, women and children are being killed or injured in them. The question behind compensation is not how to prevent accidents but to recompense their victims. Safety is not the consideration. The lack of safety is.

"Secondly, there are numerous reasons to question that such laws make a car driver more reckless. For one, his criminal liability in an accident is absolutely unchanged. If he commits a breach of the traffic regulations, he is liable to exactly the same penalty whether or not he is insured. If this is not a deterrent to recklessness at one time it is not at another.

"Self-preservation, ordinary humanity, the desire to avoid unpleasantness of every character, the sense of protecting his own property—these are not discarded by the car owner simply because he is assured that he will not be assessed damages arising out of an accident."

On the part of the pedestrain, it is likewise argued that the mere fact that the motorist is liable for damages does not cause him to throw common discretion to the winds. It is admittedly true that some have attempted to use such a situation to their advantage by chancing slight injuries in motor vehicle accidents but the number is held to include only a negligibly small percentage of subnormal individuals.

Accidents Show Increase.

That in States which have forced motorists to take out protection for their possible victims there is an increase in the number of accidents reported is another fact emphasized by those who minimize the safety argument. This is due, they declare, to the fact that whereas the accident under other circumstances was not reported, it was because the victim felt his chance for redress was negligible. That he may with justice and hope of success follow up such a case under a compensation program is held to be morally right and economically sound.

In this connection, it is not questioned that many evils have grown up involving the sharpest kind of practice by unscrupulous lawyers and doctors and others in a position to follow up street and highway accidents. Of this point, enemies of both financial responsibility and compulsory liability insurance legislation have made the most. It is of interest in this connection, however, that one of the most vigilant foes of the practice of "ambulance chasing" has now become one of the strongest proponents of financial responsibility legislation.

Those who favor enactment of compensation insurance laws for motor victims cite this evil as one favoring their proposal. With the State as the administrator of the fund, or the private insurance company acting in such a capacity, they point out that there is no place for the unscrupulous to ply his trade as in the case of liability insurance.

In final analysis cost is one of the largest factors that the motorist is impelled to consider in connection with the broad issue of compensation. This has two aspects:

First, whether the direct cost of providing compensation of some kind is higher than the indirect cost of allowing the accident victim to fend for himself via the law court or the official or unofficial charity.

Second, he must consider which of the three of the proposed methods for providing compensation is the most efficient and least expensive.

Direct Cost Found Less

With regard to the first point, as revealed in the first article of the series, a majority of close observers seem to be rapidly coming around to the view that the direct cost of compensation is less than the indirect cost.

The second factor in cost consideration is more complicated. Those in favor of financial responsibility declare it is the least expensive in that it does not compel all car owners to carry protection but against this, of course, is the argument that it does not meet the need which is held to be, first of all, for compensation. Those in favor of compulsory liability insurance while admitting that the present cost in Massachusetts is high declare this is due primarily to politics.

Proponents of compensation insurance on their part have voluminous arguments to support the contention that their proposal is the one which embodies the inexpensive and, at the same time, satisfactory way out of the dilemma. There seems little room to dispute their point that no other form of insurance has reached the low rate level of compensation protection whether the State or the private company is the underwriter.

Those who have no particular ax to grind express a growing conviction that the American people, apprised of what lays beneath the smoke-screens, eventually will find a satisfactory way out of one of the country's most unsatisfactory situations. Speeding that day is their present big task and duty.

Cuba Tobacco Men Get Privileges From France

Paris, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Cuban tobacco and cigars are granted certain privileges facilitating entry to France in a commercial treaty signed today at the Quai d'Orsay between France and Cuba. The treaty gives Cuban exports to France the minimum customs tariffs, while French exports are afforded the most favored nation treatment in Cuba. Reciprocal guarantees for protection of trade-marks is another feature.

SIX PERSONS KILLED IN AIR LINER CRASH

TWO MEN SAVE LIVES

Marden Park, Surrey, England, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Six out of eight persons aboard a big German air liner bound from Croydon to Berlin were killed today after the pilot had lost his way in a fog. The machine crashed into a clump of trees on a hillside and burst into flames, trapping three passengers, and three of the crew.

Prince Eugene Schaumberg-Lippe, a cousin of the former kaiser's sister, escaped through the torn fuselage. He was second pilot of the liner. Commander Glen Kidston, well-known racing driver, got out the same way. Both were badly burned.

The three passengers killed were G. P. Milne, of Calcutta; G. S. Gaspar, sr., of Lnodon, and D. L. Jones, of Stockwell. Pilot Rod Schinka, Mechanic Ulrich and Wireless Operator Niklas were killed also.

Wanted to Return.

"We were trying to find our way back to Croydon which we had left about 25 minutes before," Commander Kidston explained.

"We crashed into the side of a hill. On two previous occasions the pilot had to pull the stick sharply back, and once we only just cleared the tree tops.

"We struck with a terrific crash, the passengers being flung headlong the length of the fuselage. I saved myself by grabbing the side at the moment of the impact. I struggled free of the debris and crawled out through a hole in the fuselage to the ground. My coat was on fire and I rolled on the wet grass to put out the flames.

"The fire was leaping as high as the tree tops when I went back and tried to save the others. I could not approach the airplane on account of the intense heat."

Pilot Goes Up Again.

After having his injuries dressed, Commander Kidston returned to Croydon, chartered another plane, and went aloft for a ten-minute flight "to keep his nerve." He was in a hospital tonight with his head and shoulders swathed in bandages. His burns were severe.

Mrs. Killick, who lives near the spot where the airplane was wrecked heard the crash.

"From where I stood I could hear the pitiful moans and cries of the trapped passengers appealing for help," she said. "I could hear the machine burning like crackling firewood and saw the flames leaping up through the undergrowth."

Tree Torn From Ground.

By the time a rescue party reached the airplane the machine and the six persons had been burned to cinders. A big tree was torn from the ground by the impact.

Prince von Schaumberg-Pippe was so burned about the face he was scarcely recognizable. All his clothing was burned from his body.

He was taken to a hospital, where he was identified. He is the son of the late Prince Max von Schaumberg-Lippe and of the same family as the first husband of Princess Victoria of Prussia, the former kaiser's sister, who later married Alexander Subkoff, the Russian dancer.

Prince's First Accident.

The prince never had an air accident before, though he has risked his life scores of times, his friends said. He is a stunt flier by inclination, delighting in loopings and rollings in the air.

Only a fortnight ago he performed hair-raising stunts over Tempelhof air field, Berlin, swinging on a trapeze hanging from a flying airplane. He was qualifying on the regular Berlin-Croydon-Amsterdam service for a full pilot's certificate. He is 30 years old.

WHO'ZIT?

("Whozit?" is a test of your knowledge of history and current events. The statements below describe a character whom you should be able to identify. Match your knowledge and memory against those of your friends.)

1. He was a dramatist.
2. He also wrote poetry.
3. His dramatic writings, in the form of problem plays, contained severe criticisms of social conventions.
4. Although he was a native of one of the Scandinavian countries and wrote in the language of that country, his writings, in translation, have been popular in England and America.

Amendment on Taxes Passed by Ohio Voters

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—The tax classification amendment to the State constitution, a bone of contention in Ohio for many years, finally has been written into the legal code of the State by an election majority of 190,924. Complete unofficial returns from all precincts of the State showed tonight that 697,958 Ohioans voted for the amendment yesterday and 507,034 voted against it. The amendment will permit the legislature to classify property for taxation purposes.

It was the thirteenth time a tax classification amendment has been submitted to Ohioans. Eleven times it was defeated and once, although receiving a majority, it was lost on a legal technicality.

REMOVAL OF FIRM'S RECORDS IS CHARGED

Attorney General's Aid Files Reply to Motion to Quash Subpenas.

INQUIRY IS EXPLAINED

Charges that an official of the [illegible] Smith Co. removed the records of the company from the District after he had been subpenaed to produce them before the grand jury last May were made yesterday by Nugent Dodd, special assistant to the Attorney General, who filed in the District Supreme Court his answer in opposition to motions to quash subpenas duces tecum issued in a new grand jury investigation of the company.

The case under investigation at the time the records are alleged to have been removed involved the bankruptcy of the Hamilton Hotel Corporation and subsequently resulted in the indictment of G. Bryan Pitts, chairman of the board of directors of the company, and other officers.

The new investigation of the [illegible] Smith Co. was revealed recently when counsel for the company, affiliated organizations and certain individuals filed motions to quash subpenas duces tecum served on them in the case of the United States vs. John Doe.

Dodd countered with a lengthy statement to the court in which he stressed at length the investigation which the Department of Justice has been making into the affairs of the Smith company.

Immediately afterward the Government issued new subpenas against the same firms and individuals to produce the same records before the grand jury in the investigation of the case of the United States vs. G. Bryan Pitts. A motion to quash those subpenas was then filed. Dodd's statements, filed yesterday, are in answer to the latter motion and in supplement of his answer to the other motion.

BOY REPUDIATES KILLING CONFESSION

witness stand today. "I was afraid and I wanted to go home to my mother."

After he had been questioned a long time, he said, and assured that he could go if he confessed, he told them, "Yes, I killed her because she caught me trying to steal $3."

The alleged confession described how Edward, a short time before the killing, showed a caller up to Mrs. Hewes' room and while there got the idea of returning and taking some money. He did return, he was quoted as saying, and seeing that Mrs. Hewes was in bed, crept to the dresser.

Just as his hand was about to close over the $3, the alleged confession said, the aged woman said sharply:

"Edward, put that back."

Then, the police charged, there was a struggle in which Mrs. Hewes was strangled.

Detective John McGee, who questioned the boy at the police station, admitted under cross-examination that he had made no attempt to check the accuracy of the statements the child made in the confession.

Court was adjourned without a decision.

BE ON YOUR GUARD, MOTORISTS! "FREEZE-UP" WEATHER IS COMING . . .

SNOW AND COLDER! That's what the weather man will be predicting very soon. Just one look at this picture makes you think about getting some Denatured Alcohol put in your car. Better play safe and have the nearest garage or filling station put some Denatured Alcohol in your car today. It's the only sure way to protect yourself against costly repair bills later on.

CAR WON'T START! This careless motorist left his car standing in the cold too long . . . motor froze up and the starter couldn't turn it over when he stepped on the button. That certainly sounds like a lot of trouble . . . but it may be worse. Perhaps the radiator is broken or the cylinder head cracked. IT'S due, car owners. Coming any day . . . maybe tonight! Winter . . . with its frosty mornings, below-freezing nights, dangerous day-time temperature . . .

Take no chances with that car of yours. Once frozen it's never the same . . . and in less than 2 minutes you can avoid all danger of such a happening.

For it takes only 96 seconds to make your car ready for freezing temperatures at any place where you buy gas and oil.

Just drive in to the nearest garage or filling station that shows the orange and green Denatured Alcohol sign . . . Without the slightest delay, with no bothersome overhauling whatever . . they'll consult a handy chart, put in as much Denatured Alcohol as your particular make of car requires, check it with an Alco-Tester . . .

And away you drive ready for winter with your cooling system protected by the surest, safest, most economical anti-freeze you can get.

Sure . . . because with Denatured Alcohol you can protect your car to any degree of temperature!

As for its economy . . . figure it out yourself! You buy only what you need and pay for only what you use. You have no special overhauling costs to meet. And you can buy Denatured Alcohol for a fraction of the cost of certain preparations.

Denatured Alcohol is approved by every manufacturer of motor cars and enthusiastically endorsed by all radiator makers.

Remember, too, that Denatured Alcohol is backed by 25 years of successful use in 30,000,000 cars . . . and you can get it any time, anywhere . . . as easily as you can get gas!

The Industrial Alcohol Institute, Inc., Graybar Building, New York City.

YEP, IT'S CRACKED! That's the bad news the repairman is telling this motorist. Same old story . . . left his car outdoors all night . . . down went the thermometer. And now there's a big repair bill staring him in the face. Play safe . . . use Denatured Alcohol, the most economical anti-freeze you can get.

SIX INDISPUTABLE FACTS

You've heard a lot about anti-freezes. Here are the real facts in the case . . . the indisputable reasons why more motorists use Denatured Alcohol than all other anti-freezes combined.

1. An entire season's supply of Denatured Alcohol usually costs less than half as much as one filling of some preparations.
2. Denatured Alcohol is harmless to radiators, engines and electrical systems. It will not corrode metal parts or attack rubber hose and does not cause leaks.
3. No special service is required to make your car ready for winter. Just put Denatured Alcohol in your radiator as it is.
4. Every car manufacturer approves Denatured Alcohol, and the firm that made your radiator is also emphatic in its endorsement.
5. If your protective solution is lost through accident, the cost of replacement with Denatured Alcohol is usually one-sixth that of replacement with some preparations.
6. You can get Denatured Alcohol anywhere. Service when you need it, wherever you are.

Use DENATURED ALCOHOL . . . Safest, Cheapest Anti-Freeze

Spirituals Over Air in Hymn Sing

WRC at 7 P. M. Offers Famous Tunes—Vallee at 8 P. M. — Baffling Murder Mystery on WMAL at 9 P. M.

Spirituals of the American Negro whose folk songs are based upon religious themes, will compose the midweek federation hymn sing, which will be broadcast from Station WRC at 7 o'clock. The program follows:

"Mary and Martha," mixed quartet; "Deep River," barytone solo, Arthur Billings Hunt; "I Want to Be Ready," mixed quartet; "The Old Sheep Done Know the Road," tenor solo, Clyde Dengler; "Steal Away," "The Lord's Prayer," mixed quartet; "There's a Little Wheel a-Turnin'," contralto solo, Helen Janke; "My Lord, What a Morning," "The Old Time Religion," mixed quartet; "Nobody Knows de Trouble I've Seen," soprano solo, Muriel Wilson, and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," mixed quartet.

Selections from the works of Brahms, Thomas and Tschaikowsky will be presented by Eugene Ormandy's concert orchestra in the Melody Moments at 9:30 o'clock. Ormandy will lay aside his baton for the violin to play "Chanson Bohemienne." The "Neapolitan Song" from "Princess Pat" will be sung by Oliver Smith, tenor.

A Samoan dance, a blues song and theme songs from the "talkies" will be heard in a variety program as the Halsey-Stuart broadcast from WRC at 10 o'clock, to be followed by a half-hour Victor program. Forty-five minutes with the Le Paradis Band will close WRC's day on the air.

Senator Harry B. Hawes, of Missouri, will appear before the microphone of Station WMAL at 10:30 o'clock tonight in answer to the prohibition talk made by Senator Sheppard, of Texas, last Thursday evening.

"Whispering Flames," featuring the Silent Automatic Entertainers, and Gude's "Garden of Melodies" are local features to be heard from the studios of Station WMAL at 7 o'clock and 7:30 o'clock, respectively. After fifteen minutes with the Tower-izers, Frederic William Wile will present his weekly discussion, "The Political Situation in Washington Tonight," at 8:15 o'clock.

One of Wisconsin's most baffling murder mysteries has been dramatized for radio presentation and will be broadcast at 9 o'clock. The Greenwaldt mystery opened when Alvin Greenwaldt staggered into an inn a few miles from Milwaukee and reported a vicious attack upon his wife and himself on a nearby road. Searchers found Mrs. Greenwaldt dead and detectives immediately set about trailing the attackers.

A soprano and tenor duet, "When the Sun Goes Down," and a tenor solo, "Rose of Romany," will be sung during the Gold Seal program. Orchestral selections include "Bigger and Better Than Ever," "You've Made Me Happy Today," with a saxophone specialty, and "How Am I to Know?"

In addition to a short program of dinner music, Station WOL will present Louis Rothschild in a Better Business Bureau talk; Elsie Varle Lang, mezzo soprano, and Jimmie and Ray in popular songs during the early part of the evening. A two-hour dance program will start at 10 o'clock.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

APPARENTLY Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, is a fine senator for everybody but himself. This observation is based upon the fact that the Federal Radio Commission has just cut the power of WIBW, his radio station at Topeka, Kans., from 1,000 to 500 watts. In so doing, the commission contends it is giving him a more desirable frequency, but since the senator hopes to make this one of the most important agricultural broadcasting stations in the Middle West, and is ready to spend any amount of money necessary to do so, it is not to be supposed that he is hilarious over the power cut.

How successful Senator Capper's station may be in reaching the farmers in distant and isolated stretches in his new power may be judged by the opinion expressed yesterday by two Government officials, one of whom estimated the reliable service range of a 500-watt station at between 6 to 7 miles and another at 15 to 20 miles.

That does not mean that a 500-watt station may not, at times, be heard all over the United States but it does mean that, as was the case one day recently, a local 500-watt station could not be heard 5 miles down in Virginia.

THE cutting of power of an agricultural station in the Middle West attracts attention, because of late the tendency of the commission seems to be to increase power to 10,000, 25,000 and even 50,000 watts. There are now either authorized or under construction about fifteen 50,000-watt stations, most of which are not located, as might be supposed, where they may serve the great open spaces, but in the vicinity of large cities, in overserved and congested areas such as New York, Chicago, Cincinnati and Cleveland, where WTAM, the newest of the superpower stations, was dedicated last night.

Strange as it may seem, there is at present only one 50,000-watt station operating west of the Mississippi—WBAP at Fort Worth, Tex., though four additional 50,000-watt stations have been authorized for that portion of the United States—WSAA, at Dallas; WOAI, San Antonio; KNX, at Los Angeles, and KSTP, at St. Paul.

The autograph of Graham McNamee is said to be as much sought after by the fans at the sporting events he announces as that of any idol of the moment. McNamee, who writes with his left hand, has autographed hundreds of football and baseball score cards, oftentimes writing and talking at the same time.

IN ADDITION to the fame Bishop Freeman is achieving as a broadcaster, one of the reasons the Washington Cathedral was chosen by Columbia for its coast-to-coast Armistice Day broadcast was said to have been its fine choir.

Composed of close to 40 men and boys under the direction of the expert choirmaster, Edgar Priest, the Cathedral Choir has the reputation of being one of the best drilled organizations in the country. Mr. Priest recently returned from abroad where he visited the English Cathedrals.

Naturally since on Armistice morning the choir, via radio, is to be heard in every principal city in the United States, it is up on its toes preparing for the great event.

CONDENSED versions of six of the operas of Giacomo Puccini—long sought prizes for radio broadcasting, will be heard during the fall and winter.

A brilliant orchestra will be directed by Gennaro Papi, for twelve years musical director of Italian operas at the Metropolitan Opera Company. Vocalists will include Mme. Frances Alda, Mario Chamlee, Pasquale Amato and others of the Metropolitan and Chicago Opera Companies. Deems Taylor will be the broadcast librettist and the Judson Radio Program Corporation will have charge of the production.

The first opera to be heard will be "Mme. Butterfly" at 7 o'clock on Saturday evening, November 16. Among the others to follow at monthly intervals will be "La Tosca," "Girl of the Golden West," "Manon Lescaut" and "La Boheme."

Puccini's operas will be new to the radio audience. None of them have been heard over the air because of the copyright owners, until now, did not consider radio sufficiently developed to do them artistic justice. In all the history of radio, it is said, only two bits of Puccini's have been broadcast; one a duet from "La Boheme," five years ago; one an aria from "Mme Butterfly" more recently.

One night each month the Puccini operas will replace Merle Thorpe's "New Business Forum," but it is likely all the speakers scheduled for these business talks will be heard over a lengthened period of time.

CONSIDERING the nature of the book, the mention of Chic Sale as the author of a best-seller seemed a little raw in a high grade radio hour. While the sale of the book referred to unquestionably puts it in the best-seller class—500,000 copies having already been sold, according to one estimate—there seems to be a question of good taste involved in broadcasting any reference to the publication.

Despite the fact that the scene of their adventures in New York, "Amos 'n' Andy" really have never left Chicago and still broadcast from the studios of Station WMAQ in that city. Another interesting thing about the two boys, who are white, is that they impersonate all the different characters themselves.

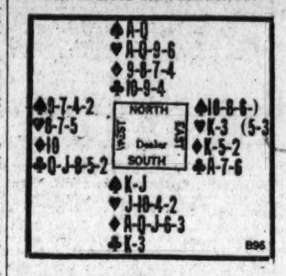
WORK'S BRIDGE

AID FROM ADVERSARIES.



I HELD the West hand; the game was Auction Bridge. South bid one No Trump and there was no other declaration.

If the game had been Contract Bridge, South would have bid one No Trump and North three No Trumps.

I started by leading the Five of Clubs; my partner won with the Ace and returned the Seven, South taking the trick with the King. South then led his Jack of Hearts and finessed. My partner's King won and he returned my Club; so we made four Club tricks all told, and a Heart, which saved the game.

Where was I aided?

THE CORRECT PLAY.

After the second trick, the Declarer could place all the adverse Clubs. I had led the Five which, of course, was my fourth best; there are nine Clubs higher than the Five; I must have three of them. North had two, East had played two, and South had one; consequently East must have a third Club left, and as it must be higher than the Five and lower than the Seven, it must be the Six. With a Club marked in East's hand, the Declarer should have known that if he lost a finesse before he won nine tricks, game would go with it. But he had to finesse Diamonds in order to win the four extra tricks needed for game (he had won one Club and was sure of two Spades, one Heart and one Diamond). The Heart finesse had an equal chance of success, but would yield only three extra tricks and he would have to try the Diamond finesse subsequently. Taking two finesses would entail a double risk, so on trick 3 Declarer should have put dummy in with a Spade and then have led a Diamond for the finesse. When the Diamond finesse won, dummy should have been put in a second time to lead diamonds. Played in that way the Declarer would have made game.

Jane Interprets the Mode

TWEEDS are certainly "in" this season. Long looked upon as an English fabric, the Paris couturiers have received it with open arms. But as with King Midas, everything the Paris couture touches is transmuted into something else, and tweeds are no exception.

The French designers have created special weaves and designs, and these are being specially made for them in Great Britain.

The smartest, or at least newest, thing at the moment is the tweed dress with a coat to match. These dress tweeds are delightfully light in weight—almost like a cashmere—and the yarns used are very often of the same color as those used in weaving the material for the coat.

• • • • •

Attractive three-piece ensembles are also made up in this fashion, and for this purpose matching, yet slightly different, tweeds are woven. Suppose, for instance, you choose a tweed in which light brown, dark brown and white appear. The jumper will be made of a weave in which the white is most conspicuous, the jacquette with the light brown most in evidence and the skirt with the dark brown featured. Can't you just see the delightful harmony of ensemble which this creates?

Then, to give variety, there are the matching jerseys, also of the same colored yarn, and one may have the blouse of this jersey and then use pieces of the same to trim the tweed coat, or, vice versa, one may trim the jumper with bits of tweed.

To give still further variety to the ensemble, the same outfit may be worn with a silk tuck-in blouse of white, with shirt collar and solid color man's cravat in a color matching one of the tweed colors.

So lovely, so entirely graceful, was this navy moire dress with its flowing princess line, that we asked Bruyere if we might not sketch it for you—we and nobody else. And so they did, and we did!

Christmas Box Suggestion.

No girl can ever have too many shoes! Never, never! So we suggest today for her Christmas gift that you give her a pair of shoes. First, take her window shopping and get her opinions, her taste and desires in the matter of shoes. Then, ingeniously discover her size. And voila! On Christmas morning the gift she will adore the most is yours.

Short evening coats in light colors, heavily embroidered and with fur collars and cuffs, are a feature of the winter collections. These are at their loveliest, we think, in gold lame with beige fur. These jaunty jacquette-coats may match the gown or blend with it.

Aren't we all—forever contemplating the luxury of a change of scenery for the sake of our respective souls? And most of us think we have to go far, far away to new climes and countries to attain it! Not so, we have a better idea—economically better and for the greatest good of the greatest number of our family.

Meaning, let's toss out those old and faded sofa pillows and start anew—with gay and colorful soft materials in a delightful diversity of shapes and sizes. Hadn't you better sit right down and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post and discover just how to go about it?

• • • •

We must remind you again of the weekly Dare fashion letter in The Washington Post each Sunday and urge you to look for it regularly.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Tragedy for Three.

DEAR Miss McDonald: I am 21, married and have a baby 20 months old. I haven't been married three years and my marriage has gone a flop.

I realize that it is mostly my fault, as I gave my husband cause to lose faith in me, and oh, how sorry I am, for I want him back!

I had a nice apartment and decided I wanted to go away with the baby and we gave up the apartment and baby and I went. But I couldn't stand it and three weeks later I came back and things have just gone from bad to worse, and now we have been living apart three weeks.

Miss McDonald, I think my husband loves me but he is fighting it as he thinks he is doing right. Also, Miss McDonald, I will admit that he has been wonderful to me and I have had everything he could afford to give me.

We married when I was 18. He had traveled quite a bit and had seen lots, while I had never been allowed to go to a dance or down town to a show. I had loved a boy about 3½ years before I was married but we parted and it is over this other man that we have quarrels. But I have done nothing wrong and oh how I want to go back to my husband. But my husband says he can never forgive me and he thinks we are better off this way. What do you think? We know we are not suited as he is very quiet, doesn't talk much, he doesn't like company to come to see us, he doesn't want to visit, or go to movies. But he has done these things to help peace in the family, but not because he wants to. I like company (the right kind), and I am very talkative. I am jolly and like to joke and he thinks that is unnecessary. So, Miss McDonald, see what a mess we are in.

I am working and am not accepting money for myself, but he is supporting the baby, and I still think we should try again. Do you? I have no one but you to tell me what to do and what would be fair. As people either decide one way or the other with no allowance.

I hope I haven't bored you with this long letter but you can see that this is serious to three people even though the rest of the world does not know or care.

Please answer soon.

D. A.—FLAPPER WIFE.

She "loves to joke." He "thinks that it is unnecessary." But, of course, they selected each other out of the sundry billions of humans on this earth, and are now engaged in the familiar struggle for adjustment. One can just see the little flapper wife who "loves to joke," and who has lost the young husband who considers joking unnecessary, irrelevant, and immaterial. What a world if all joking were debarred. Can you imagine the solemn business of hanging pictures for instance with joking omitted from the procedure?

Poor little flapper, waking up in the morning all agog with life, to meet the solemn glance of a stern young man with a purpose in life. No wonder she was foolish enough to do or say something silly, and finally to run as far as her little legs would take her, and stay as long as her little heart would let her. And now she wants only to be back with the stern young man and their baby! What a sorry mixed up old world! Surely the glum young man would be worse off than Adam was, if some glum young woman as solemn as himself had singled him out for distinction. Surely two such sombre souls conscientiously digesting their morning grapefruit, with their solemn offspring decorously seated between them would soon react upon each other quite as fatally as these two opposites. Certainly our sympathy goes to the little flapper who likes to take life smiling. And we believe the stern young man would be happier and healthier for a lighter view. Even a stern young man is a joke, especially when his sternness leads him to bar his door as well as his heart against his wife and child.

Conscientious folks do get so muddled trying to be as conscientious as they think they should be. It must be hard after a day's work to have to start in censuring humanity for its light-heartedness in the face of a jokeless world. And when it comes to feeling it your Christian duty to withhold forgiveness, and deal out discipline to the misguided soul who for some reason loves you, well it's no wonder the whole program seems something considerably less than a joke. But how do these good folks get that way? How do these stern young men happen? What makes this particular one believe that it is his duty to make his wife miserable? How much more manly to make good on his marriage vow "to love and to cherish."

Guess we can't understand stern young men who think jokes unnecessary, but we sure can and do understand girls who wake wanting to sing and kiss the baby, and the baby's father and we understand the desperation that posses them when they are repulsed, and reproved and finally driven from the arms that should hold them safe forever. Read again this wife's letter, and if you happen to be the stern young man take her back and be glad God sent her your way!

What Today Means to You

"SCORPIO."

IF November 7 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a. m. to 11:30 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. and from 10 p. m. to 11:15 p. m. The danger periods are from noon to 1:30 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m.

This should be a good date for mental pursuits, and such efforts should be crowned with success. Keep clear of adventurers, and let only seeing be believing. Jealousy may be the cause of domestic upheavals.

The child born on this November 7 will have a thoughtful and rather philosophical nature. It will hold very decided opinions and will stick to its guns. It will not be inclined to make friends easily, but will be very loyal to those whom it loves.

You are by nature truly a gentleman or gentlewoman, and neither time nor circumstance will alter this fact. You are gracious because you are too sincere, unaffected and kindly to be otherwise. It can be said that you are nearly always the same. You do not enthuse over something today and grouse about it tomorrow. Your tastes are decided, and your likes and dislikes are definite and lasting. There is nothing flighty or changeable about your nature. You are capable of deep and warm emotions, but they are stable.

You are slightly too reserved to become easily known, and you are not in the least inclined to make advances. If, however, any one succeeds in gaining access to your innermost self, you unbend and are a very warm and devoted companion. You are able to hold the love and friendship of your friends through any vicissitudes.

You are a most methodical worker, rather slow, but sure. It is not easy for you to hand over the reins to another, and you seldom relax in the way of individual effort. You have more faith in your own efficiency than you have in that of others. You are too conscientious to overlook faults and errors. You are a little too critical and too observant to be easily satisfied with anything but the best.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

A DENATURED CIGARETTE.

MRS. D. W. R. writes: My husband has been smoking an expensive cigarette advertised as having "the bulk of nicotine removed." Is it possible to so remove the greater part of nicotine from tobacco?

Reply: It is possible to remove a considerable part of the nicotine from tobacco without causing any marked change in its taste or flavor, whatever one chooses to call it. Just as, in the case of coffee, caffein can be removed without disturbing the resins and bitters, and the resins can be removed without disturbing the caffein. I presume, if it were desired, a way would be found to remove any ingredient of tobacco without disturbing others.

On the market there are tobaccos from which most of the nicotine has been removed. However, there is some nicotine left in every one of the brands. The information is available. The Connecticut agricultural experiment station has analyzed a great many samples of tobacco of different kinds and has issued two bulletins on the subject. These bulletins are intended for the people of Connecticut, but a moderate number of copies will be distributed elsewhere.

It is probable that any public library or school library, writing the experiment station at Storres, Conn., asking for a copy and promising to keep it properly, would have the request honored. Perhaps other State food and drug laboratories and experiment stations would make similar analyses and publish similar bulletins. The Connecticut report is on various brands and gives the trade names. Starting with cigarettes, they give the nicotine content of a number of advertised brands and follow with the nicotine content of many advertised, denicotinized brands.

Then follow reports on various brands of cigars, ordinary and denicotinized. Then come pipe tobaccos reported on in the same order. Chewing tobaccos and snuffs would complete the list, though I know of no brands of chewing tobacco or snuff which claim to be denicotinized. The report shows that tobaccos vary greatly in their nicotine content. Some of the denicotinized brands are low in nicotine, but, on the other hand, some carry more than do certain brands of tobacco.

STONE IN THE KIDNEY.

S. J. H. writes: What can I do to remove stone from the kidney and bladder, or really to dissolve it? It is causing me lots of trouble and misery.

REPLY.

There is no way to dissolve a stone. Small stones generally pass through with great pain. The only other method of removal is by operation. In some instances the formation of stones can be prevented by right living. To do this, drink no alcoholic beverages of any sort or in any amount. Drink no hard water. Stick to rain water, distilled water or other soft water.

In most instances it is better to live on an alkali ash diet. However, if the stones are composed of phosphates, a meat and bread diet is better.

Glass Wool and Glass "Paint."

HOW many uses do you know for glass?

First you will probably think of window panes, and they are, indeed, very important; but the list of other uses is so large that it would take a long time to name them all.

lenses for field glasses, telescopes and microscopes. Without glass, man would not have made the invention of a camera—at least, the invention would have been much delayed. Without the camera we should have no moving pictures.

Windshields of autos are made of glass. Milk bottles are formed of glass (though the recently invented pasteboard "bottles" may prove better for handling milk).

It may seem strange to hear it, but many ice boxes have glass between the panels forming the outside and inside. In such cases the glass is known as "glass wool," and serves to keep heat from getting inside.

Glass wool is really spun glass, and mention of it leads me to tell you how it is made. A glass rod is heated at one end, and the hot end is touched with a small piece of cold glass. The cold glass is then fastened to a wheel. When the wheel is turned the hot glass "spins out" in a fine thread, sometimes as fine as silk. Makers of glass wool say that a block of glass weighing one pound will spin out a thread 620 miles long. That is hard to believe, isn't it?

Glass wool will crumble in the hands if you crush it. In such a case, your skin is likely to smart, for fine bits of the glass will cut in.

Another strange use of glass is in "painting" vases. This is done by crushing bits of colored glass, heating them until they join together, and then holding the vase so that it picks up the color. The vase is hot at the time.

FAIRFAX LEADERS DIVIDE TAX FUND

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Vienna, Va.
Phone Vienna 64.

The Board of Supervisors of Fairfax County divided $5,461.61 from the State gasoline tax for September equally among the six districts at its meeting in the courthouse yesterday. The report of the county traffic police for October was approved. This showed that Capt. Haywood J. Durrier made 21 arrests. The fines totaled $232, with fees of $18. Traffic Officer A. W. Mills made 73 arrests, fines amounting to $598.50 and fees to $101. Traffic Officer Carl R. McIntosh made 17 arrests, fines amounting to $97.50 and fees to $16. Traffic Officer Finks, who was injured, is still unable to report to duty. The total was 110 arrests, $868.50 collected in fines and fees amounting to $135.

The deputy clerk of the court, E. R. Holbrook, was authorized to purchase two typewriters and covers that will make them practically noiseless. The cost of these will be approximately $112.

The county engineer reported that the work of reroofing the courthouse was almost completed. The total cost of the work will be about $1,000.

The report from the advanced road fund shows that there has been received $15,194.02 to date. Of this there has been spent $14,991.28. The board appropriated $200 more for expenses next month.

The county electoral board presented bills amounting to $111.05 for services rendered from April 19, 1929, to the present day. These bills were tabled until the next meeting, awaiting a ruling by the Commonwealth attorney, as were the expenses of the election registrars in correcting the old election books. The county treasurer reported that $54.45 had been paid as bounty on hawks, weasels and other destructive animals.

The commissioner of revenue of the county was authorized to buy a card index system, at a cost of $500, for records of the property of the county, showing taxes and amounts of holdings of each person owning property in the county.

E. C. Utterbach was allowed $72.50 for killing stray dogs in the county since February, 1929, to date.

George W. Harrison, of Herndon, and E. C. Gibbs, of Mount Vernon, extended an invitation to the Board of Supervisors to attend a conference with Col. U. S. Grant 3d and St. John Wilson as representatives of the Federal Government to meet at the entrance of the Mount Vernon estate on November 20 at 10 o'clock in the morning. Harrison is chairman of the committee of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce which was appointed to investigate the plans of the Federal Government in regard to the establishment of a park and parking space at the entrance of the Mount Vernon estate. Gov. Harry Flood Byrd, as a member of the board of visitors of the Mount Vernon Association; H. G. Shirley, chairman of the State Highway Commission, and S. W. Bragg, chairman of the Virginia Park and Planning Commission, also will be invited to attend this conference. The invitation was accepted by the board, which will investigate and make recommendations.

Thomas R. Keith and Prof. Ormond Stone, of Centerville, addressed the board and asked its permission to use a room in the old county clerk's office building for the establishment of a county library. They stated that there was a lack of a place in this county to obtain books of educational value and that such a library would be a great benefit to all persons in the county, as they would be able to obtain books which they would not be able to get elsewhere without being put to great expense. Dr. Stone and several others have offered to place their own books in this library for public use, and with the aid of contributions they hope to obtain new books from time to time. If a local library is established, books may be obtained from the United States Congressional and Virginia State Libraries. This library will be established at no cost to the county. The supervisors granted permission to use the room until such time as it might be needed by the county.

A large delegation from Seminary and Baileys Cross Roads appeared before the board and asked it to do something in regard to the hauling and dumping of garbage on the ground as feed for hogs. Many hogs are raised in these sections and the odor from the rotting garbage was said to be obnoxious. Dr. T. F. Dodd stated that he had a patient in the Alexandria Hospital suffering from gastritis, caused by the unhealthy conditions. Persons living within a mile and a half of these places say that the water in the wells is unfit to drink and that millions of flies have been attracted to their homes by the odors. The value of property has decreased until their places can not be sold and these conditions are hindering the development of this section of the county. The board promised the delegation that it would take whatever action it legally could take. The members said they would instruct the Commonwealth attorney to inquire into the matter and report at the next board meeting.

County Agricultural Agent H. B. Derr also stated that hog cholera is spread by the feeding of garbage, and that many hogs are dying in these sections from that disease and that it would be a simple matter for all hogs of the county to become affected, as these disease germs are carried by birds, dogs, flies and even water that has been near the garbage.

Dr. R. E. Brookbank, of the State and Federal cattle inspection services, outlined a plan for the tubercular test for cattle in the county. There was some question as to how this plan should be carried out. Before the county can receive State aid and cooperation and indemnity the State must select the veterinarian who will make the tests, the county paying the salary and expenses of such person. A resolution, introduced authorizing the continuation of the work of bovine tubercular eradication in Fairfax County under the area plan as started on November 1, 1929, in cooperation with the State and Federal Departments of Agriculture, was defeated when the supervisors did not believe funds for this work were available. Following a statement by the county treasurer, a motion to reconsider this action was passed, after which the board unanimously agreed to carry on this work.

A colonial tea will be given tomorrow afternoon by the Piedmont Chapter of the American War Mothers at the home of Mrs. Walter Turner, at 5 o'clock. There will be a display of colonial silverware and glass and the tea will conform as nearly as possible to those served in the colonial days. The tea will be in charge of Mrs. J. B. Henery, chairman; Mrs. E. T. Fenwick, Mrs. Walter Turner and Mrs. T. T. Taylor.

There will be a meeting of the Falls Church Woman's Club tomorrow at the home of Mrs. J. S. Higgins. The musical program will be in charge of Mrs. John F. Bethune.

A large barn, owned by C. Porch, on Beulah road near Vienna, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The fire had made great headway before the local department was notified and the firemen were unable to render aid when they arrived at the scene. The loss was approximately $1,500. Porch was away from home at the time of the fire.

The Vienna department responded to a brush fire just outside the limits of the town yesterday, which might have caused considerable damage if it had not been checked quickly.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Vienna Fire Department took in over $100 at the oyster dinner and supper they served yesterday at the polls.

L. L. Freeman, successful candidate for the House of Delegates, in a statement yesterday, said: "I am proud of the confidence that the people of Fairfax County placed in me at the polls yesterday." He plans to represent to the very best of his ability every person in the county, regardless of which political party to which he belongs and wishes each would bring his problems to him, he added.

Freeman is a Fairfax County man, having been born in Vienna in 1872 in the house he now occupies. His early education was received in the Vienna Public School. He spent one year in the Spencerian Business College in Washington and two terms at Bethel Military Academy near Warrenton. He entered business in 1893 as partner in his father's business. In 1895 he took the firm over in his own name. From 1899 to 1908 he was a traveling salesman for a wholesale grocery firm, at which time he purchased the mercantile business in Vienna which he has recently sold. Mr. Freeman has always been active in Vienna public affairs. He was a member of the town council for eight years and mayor of the town from 1912 to 1916. He is president of the Vienna Fire Department and has been largely instrumental in obtaining Vienna's modern fire fighting equipment. He is president of the Republican Club and has been prominent in the councils of the Republican party of Fairfax County for years.

BARRAGE OF CASES MEETS POLICE CAR

SUPPOSED DRIVER HELD

Following an exciting chase of more than 3 miles, featured by a veritable barrage of cases of alleged liquor, Deputy Sheriff Harry Robinson and Prince Georges County Policeman V. M. Nichols last night arrested a colored man, who gave his name as James Russell, 24 years old, of Washington, when the car said to have been driven by Russell crashed into a telephone pole near Berwyn.

According to the story told by the policemen when they took their prisoner to Justice of the Peace George S. Phillips at Berwyn, they took up the chase of the alleged liquor car near Ammendale. Hardly had they started in pursuit, the policemen said, when one of the two colored men in the car began tossing out cases of alleged liquor. The cases were thrown into the middle of the road, apparently with the intention of wrecking or delaying the police car.

At the finish of the chase the Baltimore boulevard, from Ammendale to Berwyn, was strewn with broken glass and alleged liquor was running in rivulets. The police managed to evade the boxes and stayed close to their quarry until, near Berwyn, the passenger jumped from the car. The driver also attempted to jump, but the car crashed into a telephone pole, and he was captured before he could extricate himself, police said.

Deputy Sheriff Robinson, leaving the prisoner with Nichols and Judge Phillips, then went back up the road and managed to salvage 10 half gallons of alleged liquor.

Russell was charged with transporting and illegal possession of intoxicants and held for action of the Prince Georges County Police Court by Judge Phillips. The trial date was set for Friday at the Upper Marlboro branch. The colored man was placed in the Bladensburg Jail and will be removed to Upper Marlboro, to the county jail, today.

WITNESSES ACCUSE GASTONIA PRISONER

OTHERS ARE DESIGNATED

Gastonia, N. C., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Witnesses testifying in the inquiry into the death of Mrs. Ella May Wiggins, Bessemer City textile union member, continued today to present testimony implicating Horace Wheeler, Loray mill worker, in the shooting.

Julius Fowler, a one-legged man who was riding on the truck which was carrying the union members from Gastonia, where they had attempted to attend a communist meeting, testified he saw Wheeler fire just before the truck was in collision with an automobile parked on the highway.

Wheeler, at the time, was standing at one side of the highway, the witnes said.

Other occupants of the truck told Judge P. A. McElroy, who is conducting the inquiry at the instance of Gov. O. Max Gardner, that they saw Wheeler and others of the 16 men under bond in connection with the shooting immediately after Mrs. Wiggins was hit by the bullet.

One of these, Wes Williams, said Wheeler went up to the truck after it had been wrecked and "pretended" to be investigating, asking who was the driver. Williams could not identify the men who fled after Mrs. Wiggins fell wounded and he could not identify the three men he said he saw shooting at occupants of the truck who were running away.

A. L. Bulwinkle, attorney representing the defendants, attempted to discredit Fowler's testimony. He brought out that Fowler had worked little in the past four years, that his family had been cared for by the community, and that he had served 60 days for nonsupport.

Mrs. Wiggins was shot on September 14 as she and 22 others were returning to Bessemer City from their unsuccessful effort to attend a communist meeting in South Gastonia.

Gun Wounds Are Fatal To Cumberland Man

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Nov. 6.—Frank H. Albright, 27, died in Wenzel Hospital, Meyersdaye, Pa., late yesterday, from gangrene which developed from gunshot wounds accidentally inflicted hunting with his father, John F. Albright and Henry Miller.

While the party had stopped to eat lunch, the elder Albright's gun was discharged in some accidental manner yet undetermined. The charge from both barrels struck Frank Albright in the legs, the wound in his left leg being espscially severe. Albright is survived by his wife and one child. He was senior vice president of the McKinley Camp, Sons of Union Veterans, which will have charge of the funeral tomorrow afternoon.

Officer to Serve Sentence in Jail

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Prosecution of former Constable Joe Kane on a murder charge, arising from the shooting to death of Kenny Williams, Virginia apple picker, at Kane's filling station near here September 29 ended suddenly in Circuit Court this afternoon when Kane was permitted to enter a plea of guilty to involuntary manslaughter. He was immediately sentenced to six months in jail and at labor on the county roads.

Both the State and the court approved the change in pleas. Kane is alleged to have shot Williams fatally when Williams turned on him in a general fight at the filling station after Kane tried to separate Williams and Faircloth, the latter an aid of Kane's. Kane surrendered his constable's commission last week.

A packed courtroom followed the trial. The end came before completion of the State evidence and before any defense evidence had been introduced.

Kane's original defense was that he shot to defend himself.

Mine Experts to Speak At Fairmont Meeting

Special to The Washington Post.

Fairmont, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Several mining, explosives and machinery experts from other states will deliver addresses at a meeting of the West Virginia Coal Mining Institute to be held here November 26-27.

Charles E. Lawall, head of the mining department in West Virginia University, is in charge of the program. A banquet the evening of November 26 at the Fairmont Hotel will be a feature.

Delegates will be taken on visits of inspection to plants of the Consolidation Coal Company at Owings and the Bethlehem Mines Corporation at Barrackville.

Boasts of Kidnaping, Press Silence Sifted

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—A racketeers' reputed boast in a local hotel on October 27 that William J. Scripps, 24 years old, of Detroit, had been kidnaped and that newspapers would not publish the story was being investigated here today.

The racketeer is said also to have made threats against newspapermen who might use the story.

GOV. BYRD TO TALK ON APPLE RAISING

JOINT SESSIONS DEC. 3

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—The Governor of Virginia and a former governor of West Virginia will be speakers at the joint convention of the Virginia State Horticultural Society and the American Pomological Society in Roanoke December 3-5. The leading horticulturists of eight States are on the program.

At the night session December 3 Gov. Harry Flood Byrd and former Gov. John J. Cornwell of West Virginia will deliver the principal addresses, with Gov. Byrd speaking on "Our Apple Industry."

Reports of President Tom B. Byrd, of Winchester; Secretary W. S. Campfield, of Staunton, and Treasurer T. W. Woollen, of Crozet, will be delivered when the horticultural society convenes the morning of December 3. Addresses by J. H. Meek, director of the division of markets, State Department of Agriculture, and C. P. Close, pomologist of the United States Department of Agriculture, will follow.

The afternoon session to be devoted to an inspection of the machinery and of apple exhibits and addresses by Dean H. L. Price, of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, on "Our Horticultural Problems;" Dr. J. C. Blair, of the Illinois Agricultural College, and President of the American Pomological Society, who will deliver the president's address, and Dr. J. F. Adams, of the State of Delaware experiment station on "Foliage Injury in Relation to Spray Materials and Plant Diseases of the Peach and Apple."

Following election of officers on December 4, the convention will hear addresses by Dr. E. C. Auchter, chief horticulturist of the United States Department of Agriculture; Dr. A. J. Heinicke, Dr. T. J. Headlee, entomologist of the New Jersey agricultural station; Ralph Van Meter, of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, and Dr. W. S. Hough, of the Winchester field laboratory.

Speakers the final day of the meeting include Prof. R. H. Hurt, Staunton field laboratory; Henry M. Taylor, Federal-State agricultural statistician at Richmond; Dr. John Magness, in charge of horticulture at Washington State College, and Prof. Freeman Mason, Pennsylvania Agricultural College.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

LAND CONDEMNATION IS PUT UP TO COURT

92 PARCELS ARE CITED

Property on which the new Department of Agriculture Building will be erected will cost the Government approximately $2,200,000, if Justice Wendell P. Stafford confirms the report of the condemnation jury which appraised the property. The report was filed yesterday by the jury, which consists of A. M. Nevius, John P. Evans and George H. Beuchert.

The property is located in the southwest quadrant and is bounded by Thirteenth, Fourteenth, B and C streets southwest. It is all designated on the city plats as squares 263 and 264. Under the ruling of the jury Linworth place, which runs between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, will be eliminated. Ninety-two parcels of land were condemned.

Assistant Attorneys General Henry H. Glassie and A. Leftwich Sinclair represented the Government in the proceedings.

With NELSON B. BELL

THE Little Theater is to return to the land of the living day after tomorrow, under auspices that should augur well for the future of the tiny Ninth street house.

Fred Klein, who will be remembered by many Washington movie fans as a former manager of Loew's Columbia Theater in this city, has taken a lease on the Little property and on Saturday will inaugurate what he hopes will prove to be the most successful season in the history of the diminutive and heretofore "arty" amusement place. Mr. Klein will continue the policy of first-run foreign pictures, but will see to it that they are in some measure, at least, gaited to modern American taste.

The initial booking is World Wide Pictures production of "Piccadilly," in which the stellar role is played by Gilda Gray, who certainly never could be described as "no great shakes as an actress!"

Another member of the cast of this lively subject, made in England by E. A. Dupont, well known to United States audiences, is Anna May Wong, the Chinese flapper, who has never seen China. The remainder of the players, to the best of my knowledge, are British.

Mr. Klein launches his new project with the full assurance that a host of friends and well wishers in the industry are pulling for him.

Although the screen itself announced the name as "Gamer," and that is the way it was communicated to me by the management, a letter from Leo G. Garner, the lad's father, apprises me that the name of the first of the two youths supporting Jack Pepper in "After the Show," current at the Earle, is Paul Garner.

Mr. Garner informs me further that the boys were permitted to get started with Pepper only under the most discouraging circumstances. Nobody seemed to think the kids had anything. Finally at the Stanley Theater in Baltimore, when Bernie Depkin still was manager, Paul Garner and Jack Wolf were allowed to go on for one afternoon performance with the understanding that if they failed to click the matter would be dropped and the pestering cease.

They have been on ever since and have stopped every show in which they have appeared.

No wonder Papa Garner drops me a line from Danville, Va., where he is operating the Rialto, Capitol, Broadway and Majestic Theaters.

Yoo-hoo, Mabelle. Being merely a reporter and not a clairvoyant, all I know is what the man himself told me. And as for that fashion page in the Roto, it's going to be pretty heavy going for you if you ever run across Ernie Johnston and "Babs" Lincoln!

There has probably been no more faithful transcription of a stage play into the talking celluloids than in the case of "Disraeli," previewed Tuesday midnight by the membership of the National Press Club in the Metropolitan Theater. Louis N. Parker assuredly is one playwright who can not raise the customary wail that all the producers used of his original work was the title.

There are a great many things I should like to say concerning this latest of the Warner "supers," but, happily, all will endure until Monday when the new week's reviews decorate the back page of this estimable family journal.

Speaking of the "new week's reviews" reminds me that on next Monday they will be devoted to appraisal of the following attractions: Metropolitan, George Arliss in "Disraeli;" RKO-Keith's, Bebe Daniels and John Boles in "Rio Rita;" Palace, Joan Crawford in "Untamed;" Rialto, Mary Nolan in "The Shanghai Lady;" Fox, Charles Farrell and Mary Duncan in "The River;" Earle, Colleen Moore in "Footlights and Fools;" Columbia, a second week of Moran and Mack in "Why Bring That Up?"; Little, Gilda Gray in "Piccadilly."

And speaking of Charlie Farrell reminds me that in "Sunny Side Up," the Fox feature following "The River," he appears in a "white collar" part almost for the first time in his career. In "Sunny Side Up," Charlie is cast as a young millionaire and dresses the part appropriately. Only once before has he ventured out of the soft collar type of role and that was in "Fazil," in which for a moment he "dressed up" for the further bedazzlement of Greta Nissen, who already was that way about him. And I hope I'm not wrong.

The fact that it is his first talking picture probably accounts in part for Harold Lloyd's having named his current vehicle, soon to be seen at the Metropolitan, where all of his past successes have been presented, "Welcome Danger." Barbara Kent, a Washington visitor about a year ago, is his leading woman.

It hasn't been announced in the public press, but I understand that Tuesday's hunch was correct. They are said to be quietly resuming negotiations for the consolidation of Warner Brothers and Paramount-Famous-Lasky, now that Fox has sold his 28 per cent of First National to the Warners for all that dough.

That is probably what George Arliss meant when in the role of Disraeli in the Warner picture of that name, he remarked Tuesday night that those successful in serving his ends "will be promoted to paramount positions!"

There should be a last line here, but try and find it!

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau. Washington, Wednesday, Nov. 6—8 p. m.

Forecast—For the District of Columbia and Maryland, fair Thursday; increasing cloudiness and slightly colder Thursday night, followed by rain Friday; gentle shifting winds, becoming moderate northeast or east.

The disturbance that was over the northern lake region Tuesday night has moved eastward to western Quebec, with diminishing intensity. Doucet, 29.94 inches, and a slight disturbance that was over the northern plateau region has moved southeastward to Arizona and western Colorado, with a considerable increase in intensity. Flagstaff, Ariz., 29.68 inches, and pressure is low and falling eastward over Oklahoma and Texas. Pressure continues low over the Greenland-Iceland area, and a greater part of Alaska. High pressure prevails over the greater part of the United States and southern Canada. Williston, N. Dak., 30.50 inches; Northhead, Wash., 30.40 inches, and Norfolk, Va., 30.22 inches. There have been rains within the last 24 hours from western Texas northeastward to southwestern Missouri, and local snows or rains in the northern Rocky Mountain and northern plateau regions, the Lake Superior region, and North Dakota. Elsewhere fair weather has prevailed. The temperature has risen in the Eastern and Southern States, and it has fallen from Nevada and Idaho eastward to Missouri and Iowa.

The southwestern disturbance will advance eastward during the next 24 hours, and then probably toward the northeast. It will cause rain in Tennessee and the lower Ohio Valley Thursday, and over practically the entire Washington forecast district during Friday. The temperature will be somewhat lower in the lower lake region and the North Atlantic States Thursday, and in portions of the Middle Atlantic States Thursday night, and colder weather will overspread Tennessee and the lower Ohio Valley Friday afternoon and night, and the upper Ohio Valley and the lower lake region during Friday night.

Man Hurt by Falling Bricks.

Struck in the back by a couple of falling bricks, Philip Irving, colored, 24 years old, of 1009 Twenty-second street northwest, was severely injured yesterday while at work on a building under construction at Tenth and B streets northwest. His condition was classed as serious.

REPARATIONS BANK TO TAKE CASH ONLY

HAGUE GROUP MAY ACT

Baden-Baden, Germany, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—The conference for establishment of an international settlements bank after long debate tonight decided that it should have nothing to do with supervision of deliveries in kind in German repaartions payments. They informed the deliveries in kind committee that any supervisory function is incompatible with the spirit of the International Bank.

Should the deliveries in kind committee decide that the supervision hitherto exercised by the reparations committee must be continued in some form, then the second Hague conference on reparations will have to wrestle with the problem. The committee was visibly depressed by the decision of the conference and went straight to demand when the next train left for Paris, where their sessions are held.

M. A. Traylor, American delegate, had attempted to compromise on the problem. He submitted a memorandum in which he said that under the Young plan the bank could not escape a certain amount of responsibility of supervision and suggested that it could appoint a committee outside its directorate for such a special purpose as supervising deliveries in kind. Although there seemed general support in principle for his suggestion it failed of adoption because of the zeal of the conference to keep the bank out of politics.

The possibility now exists that certain governments, notably Great Britain, which is not strong for the International Bank, may lose interest altogether or suggest political controls which may prove embarrassing to the bank and run counter to the Young plan.

VITAPHONE

GEORGE ARLISS in "DISRAELI"

If you have cheers, prepare to give them now. For with George Arliss in "Disraeli" the art of Talking Pictures enters a new phase!

Experts have been predicting that it would take ten years to perfect the audible film. The experts were wrong! For here is that perfection, achieved by Vitaphone years ahead of time!

Not only has Vitaphone transplanted every atom of dramatic power, superb suspense, and rapier wit that made George Arliss' "Disraeli" one of the historic stage successes of the century. . . . It has done more than that. . . . In a single stride it has not only attained but actually surpassed the stage's artistic standards, which thousands felt the screen could never even equal!

The fascination of the footlights fades before the larger lure of mammoth settings—Vitaphone's crisp, telling dialogue that seems to come from someone next to you—subtle shadings of expression that convey thoughts as well as words to every corner of the house—and a George Arliss of heightened stature and new intimacy, exceeding even the amazing brilliance of his classic stage performance.

Come! See for yourself! Let Vitaphone put you "on speaking terms" with Disraeli, amazing man of destiny who rose from obscurity to control a modern empire—all because he knew how to handle women—especially a Queen!

NOVEMBER 7, 1904.

Both the Republican and Democratic candidates claim victory in the election tomorrow. Bourke Cochran in an outburst in Tammany Hall declared he would introduce a bill in Congress to make public the list of Republican campaign contributions.

Inmates of the Girls Reform School in Washington mutinied. The insurrection was led by a 14-year-old girl. Attempts to fire the building were frustrated.

An attempt to hold up the crew of the Washington and New York express train was foiled by an express messenger who refused to open the door of the car as a bandit pointed a gun at him.

Betting odds in Washington were 4 to 1 that Roosevelt would be elected over Alton Parker, the Democratic candidate.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By EARL MINDERMAN

MME. MARIE CURIE, who with her husband, Pierre, discovered radium, was born this day, 1867. In 1921, President Warren Harding, on behalf of the women of the United States, presented Mme. Curie with a gram of the costly element in recognition of her great services to science. She was presented with a second gram by her American admirers in 1929.

The discovery of radium in 1898 came after years of arduous work carried on in an abandoned shed with the most primitive equipment. Many honors came to her as a result of the discovery. In 1908 she was appointed chief professor of physics at the University of Paris. In 1910 she received the Albert medal of the Royal Society of Arts of England, and in 1911 she was awarded the Nobel prize for chemistry. Radium has a great therapeutic value, being especially valuable in the treatment of skin diseases and tumors. It is also used to make luminous paints.

Lotta Crabtree, one of the foremost American comediennes of her time, was born this day, 1847. She retired in 1891 after amassing a fortune.

HEAVY STOCK SALES RECORDED AT CLOSE

Orderly Decline Continues All Day Until Dumping Starts Deluge.

5,914,760 SHARES SOLD

New York, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Excessive optimism, reborn with the violent rally in stock prices late last week, was dealt a killing blow today with another swift and drastic decline, carrying prices down close to the low levels of the reaction.

During the major part of the abbreviated session, ending at 1 o'clock, the decline, while carrying leading issues off 10 to 30 points, was, nevertheless, orderly. It was not until the last 15 minutes of the session that wild, wholesale dumping of holdings recurred, and prices dropped several points between sales.

The deluge of liquidation in the last few minutes of trading kept the ticker running one and three-quarter hours after the close. Total sales for the three-hour session were 5,914,760 shares, nearly approximating the 6,202,930-share turnover of the full five-hour session on Monday. Little relief appeared in sight for the workers of Wall street, despite the decision of the exchange to close at 1 o'clock today, Thursday and Friday, and all day Saturday.

Rally's End Disappointing.

The failure of the rally last week to carry over into Monday's session was keenly disappointing to the new army of speculators who rushed in to buy stocks on the way up, and what appeared to be further large-scale distress selling today, was a severe jar to speculative nerves. There had been no general realization that such conditions were still hanging over the market. The work of commission house forces during the election day holiday yesterday had been expected to result in some further weeding out of weak margin accounts, but the large volume of urgent selling which appeared was surprising and perplexing.

Also, business news coming to hand was of a character to set aright those who had confused the stable conditions talked of by reassuring executives last week, with boom times. Freight car loadings, as reported for the latest week, showed a sharp decline, both from the previous week and the like week of 1928. The Steel Trade Reviews stated that considerable hesitancy in new buying had appeared as result of the Wall street crash.

News Not All Gloomy.

Iron age, however, pointed out a bright spot in the low level of consumers stocks. The day's news was not all gloomy, several favorable chain store sales reports for October appearing as well as a few cheerful dividend announcements.

Credit conditions remained practically unchanged, with both call and time money at 6 per cent. A rather belated readjustment of commercial paper rates, bringing them in line with the new credit conditions, appeared with a reduction of one-fourth of 1 per cent, most dealers now quoting 6 per cent.

Several leading issues broke through last Tuesday's low levels. U. S. Steel dropped 18¼ points to 165, as compared to last week's low of 166½, and a low of the year of 157½. It rallied, however, to close at 169. General Electric tumbled 80 points to a new low for the year at 205, having touched only 210 last week. Western Union dropped 29 points to a new low for the year at 170, but closed at 180. American Water Works dropped 22 points to 68, 3 points above its low for the year, then rallied to 74. American Telephone dropped 25 points to 212, compared to last week's low of 204, and closed at 215.

Spectacular Losses Seen.

A few of the erratic issues showed spectacular losses. Adams Express dropped 100 points to 350, Auburn Auto, 66 to 135, and Columbian Carbon, 36 to 124. Other notable losses were Johns-Manville 28, Atchison 27, Norfolk & Western 22, Westinghouse Electric 17¼, Radio 11¼, Montgomery Ward 11¼, International Harvester 10, Standard of New Jersey, 5½, and General Motors 4¾.

Commodities also broke sharply, although some recovered in a late rally. Wheat lost a cent and more on bearish weather, and corn eased slightly on large receipts at markets. Cotton broke $2 and more on high crop estimates, and in sympathy with the stock market.

Foreign exchanges were dull and moved in narrow ranges, with the exception of the Japanese yen, which jumped about 1-3 cent to another new high for the year at 46.80 cents. Sterling cables held at 84.87⅞.

California Standard Oil Declares Stock Dividend

San Francisco, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—The board of directors of the Standard Oil Co. of California, at a meeting here today, declared a stock dividend of 2 per cent in addition to the regular dividend of 32½ cents a share payable December 16 to stockholders of record November 16.

The dividend will comprise 261,882 shares. No fractional shares will be issued, but the company will pay market price to those entitled to less than a full share. The dividend will be paid out of current earnings.

Chicago Board of Trade Will Be Closed Monday

Chicago, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—The Chicago Board of Trade will be closed next Monday in observance of Armistice Day.

The board's securities market will operate from 10 a. m. to noon today, Thursday and Friday, and will be close all day Saturday, but the Grain and Provisions and Cotton Markets will do business on the regular schedule throughout this week.

NEW BILLS' DESIGN CHANGED SLIGHTLY

STORES' SALES HIGHER

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The initial change in design of new small currency was announced yesterday by the Treasury Department, the change being substitution of letters of the alphabet for numerals on Federal Reserve notes to designate the bank of issue.

Under the change each of the twelve Federal Reserve banks will be assigned a distinctive letter. Improvement of the appearance of the currency was stated as the reason for the change.

Confidential reports from 30 representative department stores in the Fifth, or local Federal Reserve District, according to the monthly review of its chairman, William W. Hoxton, of Richmond, Va., show an average increase of 5.8 per cent in September, 1929 sales, in comparison with sales in September, 1928. Most of the increase was in the upper half of the district, Baltimore leading all other cities in percentage gain. Total sales this calendar year average 6.4 per cent highcr than sales in the first nine months of 1928, and September, 1929, sales were 19.8 per cent higher than average September sales during the three years 1923-1925, inclusive.

Stocks on Hand Slightly Less

Stock on hand in the 30 reporting stores at the end of September was 3.9 per cent less in selling value than stock on hand on September 30, 1928, but showed a seasonal increase of 10.8 per cent over stock on hand at the end of August this year. The percentage of sales in September to average stock carried that month was 48.2 per cent, and the percentage of sales from January 1 through September to average stock carried during each of the nine elapsed months was 233.7 per cent, indicating business at an annual turnover rate of 3.116 times. During the first nine months of 1928 the turnover was at an annual rate of 2.98 times.

Collections in September were better than in September last year, 23.7 per cent of outstanding receivables as of September 1 having been collected during the month in comparison with 24.5 per cent of outstanding receivables collected in September, 1928.

Chairman Hoxton reported a sale gain for Washington over September, 1928, of 2.5 per cent; an increase in total sales since January 1, 1929 over the first nine months of 1928 of 4.1 per cent, and a September increase over average sales in September of the three preceding years of 22 per cent.

Light Stock Sales Here.

After three closings since Thursday, the Washington Stock Exchange reopened yesterday to light business in the stock division but a $5,000 improvement in bond sales as compared with Monday, last previous session, represented by a total of $18,500. Prices of six issues in trading held firm; five issues sold at increased prices and seven at lower levels.

Thirty shares of Capital Traction transferred at 80 last sale price, and ten at a half-point advance; 35 of Commercial National Bank moved at 258, previous level, and 36 of Lanston Monotype at fractional reactions from 115¼. Heaviest bond sales were in Washington Railway & Electric 4s, $5,000 at fractional recessions from 81.

Local interest in the New York Stock Exchange continued, as evidenced by crowds in the brokerages. A nervous market is anticipated for some time in local financial circles, but bankers believe withdrawals of savings for stock purchase has been ended for a long period.

Phone Mergers Increase.

Consolidation of independent telephone companies through purchase has been going on faster in recent months than at any time in history, and more consolidation is in view, according to reports from Chicago. Bell companies, recent statistics show, operate approximately 14,400,000 stations; the independents about 4,500,000. The most active organizations in the movement toward acquiring the smaller independents are the Associated Telephone Utilities Co., of Chicago, and the Associated Telephone & Telegraph Co., of Kansas City.

Associated Telephone Utilities Co., since the first of the year has acquired by purchase a large number of smaller independents scattered from Indiana and Michigan to the Pacific Coast and from Texas to Montana and Dakota. According to rumors, more announcements are pending.

At the annual meeting of the Home Mutual Building & Loan Association held yesterday the following officers and directors were reelected: Clarence F. Norment, sr., president; Maurice F. Flynn, vice president; Odell S. Smith, secretary-treasurer. Directors, John Alden, John N. Auth, W. W. Bowie, William P. Gude, R. Lee Horton, William E. Howard, George King, jr., Arthur J. May, John A. Maxwell, George L. Starkey, Alfred Walford, G. W. Forsberg, Karl Achterkirchen, Frank S. Smith, attorney.

Coal Production Reported.

Bituminous coal production in the United States during the week ended November 2, according to the estimate of the National Coal Association, computed from preliminary car loading totals, was 11,225,000 net tons. The partial observance of a holiday on Friday curtailed production to the extent of about 4,000 cars.

The last weekly coal report of the United States Bureau of Mines showed tonnage produced for the week ended October 19 as 11,150,000 net tons, and for the week ended October 26 as 11,363,000 net tons.

Firm's Growth Outlined.

Probably ten times as much capital is employed in the small loan business in the United States as was required ten years ago, according to Dr. Louis N. Robinson, formerly professor of economics, Swarthmore College, who some time ago studied the small loan busines for the Russell Sage Foundation. One of the startling evidences of this fact is the remarkable development of Household Finance Corp., which has been in the business for 51 years.

"One year ago this company had out on loan in sums of $300 or less approximately $13,000,000," said L. C. Harbison, president. "At that time, as a result of public financing through a stock issue offered through Lee, Higginson & Co., at which time the company's stock was listed on the New York Stock Exchange, interest rates were cut nearly one-third.

"In the year the number of customer loans has increased from 114,000 to 235,000, and the total loans out are approximately $30,000,000. If loans continue at the present rate the cut in interest charges will save borrowers about $3,600,000 in 1930."

Dr. Edward R. Hardy, of New York, secretary of the Insurance Institute of America, opens next Monday a series of lectures on fire insurance under the auspices of the Insurance Club of Washington. Insurance men and other interested persons may enroll for the course through Henry Latimer, Washington Building, secretary of the club.

GEORGETOWN RELIES ON DECEPTION TO BEAT NAVY

New Pilot Maps Out Buying and Trading Campaign

Hargrave, Fothergill, Koenig Rumored as Additions.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Donie Bush, a little man with a big job ahead of him, officially picked up the managerial reins of the downtrodden White Sox today.

The former pilot of the Pittsburgh Pirates conferred with White Sox officials and began mapping out a winter buying and trading campaign which he figures should strengthen and lift the once powerful baseball club to a first division berth in 1930.

"We are wide awake and hustling for all the promising talent we can obtain, and I think we are going to have a vastly improved club," the little Irishman said. "I have the solid backing of the White Sox officials and, while good baseball players are scarce, we have lines out for several of them."

Confers Privately With Comiskey.

Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the club which was toppled from its pinnacle by the 1919 "Black Sox scandal," was unable to attend a reception given to his new manager at the club offices today because of a bad cold, but Bush conferred with him privately.

Bush's arrival gave rebirth to many rumors of trades and sales in the White Sox ranks, one of them being that an effort was being made to obtain Bubbles Hargrave, catcher-manager of the St. Paul American Association Club, and former backstop for the Cincinnati Reds. Bob Fothergill, heavy hitting Detroit outfielder, and Mark Koenig, Yankee shortstop, also were mentioned as White Sox possibilities. Manager Bush, however, refused to discuss the rumors beyond a promise that the White Sox were out for two or three experienced hitters.

Ten minor league stars have been purchased since Bush was signed as manager of the Pale Hose.

Crew Abandons Yacht In Sinking Condition

New York, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—A derelict schooner yacht reported sighted sixteen miles off Barnegat, N. J., tonight was identified a short time later as the property of Frederic P. Humphreys, New York yacht broker.

Humphreys said he had been notified that its crew of two men had abandoned it in a sinking condition early today off Atlantic City, N. J., and rowed ashore.

6,000 See Stribling Win Bout in Paris

Griselle, one of the stable of Francois Descampa, who managed the great Georges Carpentier, took an unmerciful beating through every one of the ten rounds. Stribling won every frame and knocked his opponent down three times in the first round, but was unable to finish him. At the finish of the battle Griselle was tottering around the ring with both eyes closed, but still was on his feet.

After the flashy first round showing, the Macon, Ga., fighter slowed up, apparent short on condition. The fans, who jammed the arena to its fullest capacity with 3,000 more unable to gain admittance, were disappointed in Stribling's showing. This display made them believe that he must put up a much better battle to defeat the Italian giant, Primo Carnera, in London.

Griselle's reputation was based principally on his stopping Knute Hansen in six rounds a few months ago.

NORTHEAST COLUMBIAS DRILL.

COACHES OF UNBEATEN DUQUESNE

Injury Jinx Relentless In Pursuit of Marsters

(Associated Press Sports Writer).

NEW YORK, Nov 6 (AP)—The dread football spectre of injury has risen against courageous Al Marsters, this time to blight the career of the great Dartmouth back. The jinx has been persistent in its pursuit of the Green star.

Last year he was incapacitated for most of the season, returning to the battlefield just in time to wage a disappointing fight against Northwestern and Walt Holmer in another star against star duel of the 1928 campaign.

This year fate seemed to have relented by showing a disposition to smile on the big boy, who did everything with a football. He ran, kicked and passed with almost reckless abandon against Columbia and Harvard to lead his mates to impressive victories. Showing the country the way in scoring and apparently headed for certain all-American honors, Marsters invaded the Yale Bowl, always an acid test for Dartmouth football teams, bearing not only the challenge of the Green against the Blue, but an individual side match with Albie Booth.

Yale Bowl Jinx Thrice Proved.

Dartmouth lost the game, Marsters lost the side match and Dartmouth lost Marsters, for the triple threat back is now in a hospital, out for the season. As this is his senior year, he is through. Injuries to his back and leg will keep him out of football from now on, but happily he will suffer no ill effects from the hurts.

Some other back, probably the dashing Gene McEver, of Tennessee, will lead the Nation's scorers and some other favored son of football fortune will see his name engraved on the roll of honor instead of that of the ill-starred lad who wore the green.

Marsters was forced from the Yale game in the third period. The wonder was that he lasted almost three-fourths of the grueling struggle. He did all the kicking, all the passing, most of the running and more than his share of tackling.

As he says good-by to football doubtless he will always treasure a letter sent to him at the dictation of Herman P. Olcott, the great Yale center of 30 years ago, in which the immortal "Bo" praised the sportsmanship of Marsters and his mates in defeat. Twenty-four hours after Olcott sent his paean of praise, the invalid football star of yesterday was dead, little suspecting that the star of today to whom he had paid tribute had played his last football game.

Caldwell Incident Is Recalled.

It was about this time two years ago, three days later as a matter of fact, that another football spectre, ineligibility, came out of the past to strike down another almost certain successful candidate for football's all-American honor. Bruce Caldwell was declared ineligible to play for Yale three days before the Princeton game, when an almost forgotten incident of a few, fleeting days as a freshman at Brown rose to plague him and finally to make it impossible for him to play against either Princeton or Harvard.

Marsters is lost to Dartmouth when the Green most needs him, for Brown, Cornell and Navy are waiting just around the corner.

An odd circumstance of the manner in which the moving finger of fate writes and moves on in football is that Tommy Longnecker, the Dartmouth "goat" of the Yale game, will step into the shoes of the departed hero. Tommy, subbing for Al, threw the ill-conceived and misdirected pass to Hoot Ellis, of Yale, in the dying minutes of the game in the bowl and the explosion rocked the hills of Hanover.

Flanagan Is Second Golfer on G. U. Five

Golf's representation on the Georgetown varsity basketball squad has gained another member in Mark Flanagan, who joins Maurice McCarthy, former intercollegiate golf champion, in carrying the Blue and Gray banner on the court. Flanagan ranks high as a mashie wielder and also is said to be a fine basket tosser. He played forward on the Georgetown Freshmen Quintet three years ago. McCarthy captains the Hilltop Five this season.

Mickey Walker Freed Of Prohibtiion Charge

Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Mickey Walker, world's middleweight boxing champion, was freed on charges of owning a bottle of liquor in municipal court today. Prosecuting attorneys were unable to prove that the bottle belonged to Walker.

A companion, Arthur Houseman, actor, also was freed but a second friend, Ray Hallor, was fined $50. The men were arrested October 9 following an alleged wild party in the apartment of Dorothy Davis, film actress.

American Would End Season With Victory

American University's eleven will be seeking a better-than-even break for the season when it meets Washington College at Chestertown, Md., Saturday. It will be the Eagles' fifth and closing game and a victory will make their 1929 record read three wins and two losses.

If reports from the "Eastern Sho" town are correct, the local team will have a hard job on its hands. The Shoremen have been pointing for this clash.

This game will mark the close of the careers of five American players. Those who will wind up their collegiate playing days are Capt. Milton Crist, quarter back; Jack LaPavre, full back; Lee Field, end; Donald Olmsted, tackle, and "Wolly" Wolowitz, guard. A sixth player whom the team already has lost is Gilbert McVaugh, whose studies required all of his time.

Indications of an evenly contested game are seen in the performances of American and Washington against Loyola. Both lost to the Baltimore eleven by about the same score.

C.U. to Battle Smart Foe in Duquense

Malevich's Return to Bolster Attack of Cardinals.

A SMARTLY trained football team will take the field against Catholic University when the Duquesne University Eleven, coached by Elmer Layden, former full back of the Notre Dame "Four Horsemen," invades Brookland Stadium Saturday in the Cardinals' annual "Homecoming Day" feature.

Catholic is anticipating a difficult afternoon, for Layden is well known for his ability to turn out football teams that know what it is all about. In the three years he has coached at the Pittsburgh institution, Duquesne's football fortunes have steadily improved. Last year the Dukes won eight out of nine games played, including a 12-to-6 victory over Washington and Jefferson. Thus far this fall they have not been beaten and count a 7-to-7 tie with West Virginia as one of their brightest accomplishments.

Layden is fast gaining recognition as an inventive genius of the gridiron. Several innovations of his manufacture are being adopted in many sections of the country.

Team's Football "Shorts" Are Innovation.

The Duquesne director in chief invented the penalty code system of signals by which officials on the field can transmit the reason for penalties to the spectators. Several weeks ago he brought into the game a new design in football pants, which reach down just above the knee and which permit free knee action conducive to utmost speed of the wearer. These pants eliminate the binding canvas which impedes knee action in the old style. The Duquesne players wear basket ball ribbed knee guards for protection of their knees.

Layden's latest plan is to equip his squad with light-colored outfits for home games and dark uniforms for games played on foreign fields. The purpose in this plan was to eliminate confusion often resulting when two teams wear uniforms of identical or similar color. Layden also has adopted numerals for the front and back of his players' jerseys so that spectators can easily identify the players.

Captain Donnelli is Brilliant Kicker.

In Aldo "Bootin' Buff" Donnelli, captain and full back, Duquesne will present one of the greatest punters in collegiate circles today. Donnelli kicks with either foot and is reported to boast an average of 56 yards on his punts for the current campaign. His effectiveness is attributed largely to the training he received in playing soccer. He was a member of the Heidelberg team that won the national amateur soccer championship last May.

Facing a team possessed of a coach and star player of the caliber of Layden and Donnelli, Catholic is preparing to put up its best game of the season. Capt. Jack Malevich, full back, will return to the Cardinal lineup as a starter and should bolster both the attack and defense. The fans may witness a punting duel between Malevich and Donnelli.

Coach McAuliffe kept the regular backs out of yesterday's workout in the stadium in order to avoid losses through possible injuries. Gene Murphy, half back, was hurt last Saturday, but should be able to start against Duquesne if he abstains from rough practice work.

Varsity to Scrimmage Yearlings Today.

A scrimmage between the freshmen and varsity is scheduled this afternoon, the former to take the offense with Duquesne plays. The freshmen are to meet the undefeated LaSalle Prep eleven of Cumberland in Brookland Stadium Saturday morning, starting at 10 o'clock. LaSalle is coached by Johnny Long, former star Catholic U end.

The Catholic University "Homecoming Day" celebration in honor of alumni and which will be featured by Saturday's Varsity-Duquesne football game will get under way Friday at 3 p. m., with the registration of the returning graduates at the university. Following is the calendar of events:

Friday, 3 p. m.—Registration at university; 7 p. m., smoker at L'Aiglon; Saturday, 10 a. m., Freshmen-LaSalle Prep Football Game, Brookland Stadium; 2 p. m., Varsity-Duquesne Football Game, Brookland Stadium; 2:30 p. m., Varsity-Johns Hopkins cross-country run, Brookland Stadium; 6:30 p. m., testimonial dinner for football team and coaches, Burlington Hotel; 10 p. m., Alumni ball, Hamilton Hotel.

C. U. Plans Track Meet For Colleges and Schools

Plans for a combined collegiate and scholastic indoor track meet are being laid by athletic authorities of Catholic University. Track Coach Dorsey Griffith is now working on details of the affair in cooperation with Director of Athletics Jack McAuliff. A definite date has not been selected, although a night midway in March is favored.

Since Convention Hall and the Arcadia were eliminated as possible sites, there has been no place in Washington for the staging of indoor track meets during the past two years. Catholic University's plan, if consummated, should lead to a successful meet.

Present plans cal lfor a program of about 14 or 15 events including a sprint series, relays and a few field events. A special college relay would be arranged for leading mile teams of the East. Colleges and schools a sfar north as New York would be invited to send representatives.

ARLINGTON PREP READY.

EAST TEAMS DRIVEN BY COACHES

Long and Hard Drills in Order for Saturday Engagements.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Despite numerous inroads of the idea of not overworking football players, the middle of the week remains a time for hard labor and plenty of it on Eastern practice fields. Scrimmage was in order on many gridirons and even where it was not there were long and hard drills.

Pittsburgh, which meets Washington and Jefferson Saturday, confined its effort to a long dummy drill against the third team. Coach Jock Sutherland appeared a bit pessimistic about his team's chances, saying it could play good football but had not done it. The Presidents scrimmaged but lightly, going through a brief active rehearsal of offensive and defensive formations.

Brown, New York University and Fordham also were among those who saved battered teams by having only dummy scrimmage. The Bruins worked at stopping Dartmouth's passing attack. Fordham staged a brief defensive drill for its second game of the week against a scrub team using Boston College formations. N. Y. U. put on a similar drill with the scrubs impersonating Georgia players.

Roper Tries Guard At Full Back.

Princeton wound up its first practice of the week with 25 minutes of scrimmage. Coach Bill Roper put in a busy day making shifts in the lineup, finishing with Sam Levine, former guard, at full back and Zundel at half. His rival, Austy Tate, of Lehigh, followed his example both in rest and in scrimmage.

Yale scored twice on the scrub team in 20 minutes as the Elis put in a busy, hard afternoon preparing for Maryland. Several injured players were back in uniform today.

Army's Varsity made no gains against the scrubs in a long scrimmage, nor did the second-stringers penetrate the varsity line far. Coach Biff Jones halted the plays before completion to offer criticisms. There were plenty of them when the cannon fodder found much success using the deceptive Illinois plays.

Penn and Penn State Stage Scrimmages.

Penn and Penn State each had brief scrimmages. Another pair of rivals, Colgate and Columbia, scrimmaged hard, with the Lions doing the lion's share of the work. Andy Kerr sent Colgate through an hour of formation drill in addition to the scrimmage.

Cornwell, which has a minor intersectional opponent in Western Reserve, also put in a long period of practice, with the promise of more to come.

Injuries Weaken Iowa For Minnesota Game

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Mournful notes today issued from Iowa City where the Hawkeyes are preparing for their attempt to blast Minnesota's championship calculations Saturday.

Gus Mastrogany, an end, and Brice Thomas, regular full back, were absent from the hardest drill of the week, because of injuries which are expected to keep them from service against the Gophers.

Injuries were not the only source of misery to Coach Burt Ingwerson. The freshmen eleven broke through many times to spoil the varsity forward passing attack, and Ingwerson finally removed his regular tackles, Westra and Ely, and replaced them with Benjamin and Gilchrist, in an effort to improve the line. Leo Jensvold also was moved to the regular line-up, taking Pignatelli's place at quarter back.

Hoover Hopes to See Georgetown Play Navy

President Hoover hopes to be able to attend the Navy-Georgetown football game at Annapolis Saturday, but was not certain yesterday whether his plans could be arranged to make the trip possible.

Army Scrubs Succeed With Illinois Tricks

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—The Army's Cubs, called "Cannon Fodder," used Illinois plays with some success against the Varsity Eleven in football practice today. The deceptive combinations evolved by Bob Zuppke, Illinois mentor, clicked in the hands of the scrubs better than yesterday, as their execution was much smoother.

No gains were made for the reason that Capt. "Biff" Jones, head coach, never permitted the plays to reach completion. When a man was free or had found an opening in the forward wall the whistle blew and the play was thereafter diagnosed and criticized. But for this Malloy, Varsity right end, would have scored a touchdown on an intercepted lateral pass.

NAVY FORMS STRONGEST LINE-UP

Reports of Clifton's Injury Discounted; Drill Hard.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 6.—Entering the final stages of preparations for the game against the Hilltoppers, which is expected to be one of the hardest fights of the season, the Middies were driven through stiff paces this afternoon. The session opened with an extensive drill in formations, both offensive and defensive, designed to break the barriers of the much vaunted Georgetown wall. Climaxing the program was a stiff scrimmage against the scrubs, the latter emulating Georgetown's style of attack.

Viewing the game with all seriousness, Head Coach "Bill" Ingram and his staff of assistants are assembling the best they have in stock to face the Blue and Gray, and indications today were that the combination to take the field will be as formidable as any that has started other games.

Clifton Shows Old Form in Practice.

Reports that Joe Clinton was not in the best of shape were discounted today. The big full back, who has been the mainstay in the secondary defense, as well as capable line hitter, showed his old form in the workout. The rest of the back field quartet included Art Spring at quarter, and Johnny Gannon and Jack Castree, halves. Spring weighs 175; Gannon, 165; Castree, 163, and Clifton, 190, a well balanced combination. This is believed to be the starting back field against Lou Little's charges.

Eddy and Westhoven were in at guards, though it is not unlikely that both Capt. Koepke and Chappie will see action in course of the fray. Crinkley, tackle, is definitely out of it because of an injured knee, and his place has been taken by Bryan, who played in early season games.

Bag of Tricks Slated for Annapolis

By JACK ESPEY.

ALADDIN never knew anything of football, according to the fables, but he probably would offer a knowing look if he were present at the Georgetown-Navy game at Annapolis Saturday. In fact, the lucky old lamp rubber might even register embarrassment.

Of course, it wouldn't be because Aladdin understood football. They didn't amuse themselves in such a rough game in his day. However, he would find something in this game with which he used to be pretty well acquainted.

Magic and hocus-pocus. It's the base of Georgetown's attacks. Strong opponents bow to its effects. Brawn and muscle, brain and speed fail to balance the scales against it when it is properly used.

Aim to Displease Navy Audience.

If the Hilltoppers perform their gridiron trickery as Coach Little hopes they will, Aladdin would be appreciative even if the Navy weren't. The Navy, though, is the only audience the Hilltoppers are concerned with right now and if the Annapolis Team can't find anything pleasing in the game, that will amply reward their plans.

Deception, as they call it, led to Georgetown's 14-0 defeat of New York University. Where simple power plays were of little use to Georgetown, the tricky stuff did the work. Once it operated successfully, New York was a beaten lot of giants.

All of which brings up the main point here. Georgetown will have much more deception in its attack for Navy than for N. Y. U. The locals were fortunate enough to win over the Violets without having to uncover their complete play repertoire. As a result, Navy will see several plays that its scouts have never been able to copy. And if they are all as successful as the two used against New York, Georgetown should come home Saturday night with its fifth victory in the ancient series with the Naval Academy.

Triple Pass Surprised New York U.

The more important of the two deceptive plays used against New York University was the triple-pass behind the line on which Johnny Bozek scored the first touchdown. It took the Violets by surprise. Nothing like it had been tried previously in the game. Their defense was tricked into leaving an opening through which Bozek ran untouched. Before the bewildered defenders recovered, Bozek was 10 yards ahead of the line of scrimmage. He negotiated the remaining yardage to the goal line by stiff-arming and side-stepping those who, by dint of hard sprinting, got in his path.

The other surprise was the quick kick pulled by Johnny Scalzi, which paved the way for the second touchdown. The G. U. quarter back booted the ball from close formation, the oval traveling far over the heads of the N. Y. U. safety men, and when Driscoll downed it on the 5-yard line, Violet was forced to punt from behind its goal line. O'Herin, the New York punter, got off a short one which gave Georgetown the ball on the 18-yard line. Shortly thereafter Provincial caught a pass from Scalzi for a touchdown.

Other Plays in G. U. Bag Equally Mystifying.

Those two plays formed the extent of the magical maneuverings of Georgetown against New York. Coach Little has taught his charges numerous other plays equally as mystifying to the opponents. It is logical to assume that, with perfect execution, these other plays will prove big ground gainers. Navy scouts haven't seen them and the Tars, therefore, will have no set defense prepared.

That Georgetown will rely a great deal on the deceptiveness of its attack is almost a foregone conclusion. It will be outweighed and it will meet one of the finest defensive lines in the East. Nobody can run

DIAVOLO IS GALLOPING WINNER IN BOWIE HANDICAP

Favorite Wins 1 1-2 Mile Feature

Special to The Washington Post.

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Nov. 6.—The Wheatley Stable's champion, Diavolo, showed a return to his good form when he galloped home to an easy victory in the running of the Bowie Stakes at Pimlico this afternoon. Carrying top weight of 127 pounds and ridden by J. Burke, Diavolo cantered home seven lengths in front of W. E. Caskey, jr.'s, William T. Walter J. Salmon's Display was third, beaten a length and a quarter for the place. And then followed Bateau, eight lengths farther away.

Today's running marked the twentieth renewal of this famous old classic. There were six starters, and Diavolo, despite his heavy impost, was made favorite. The start, which was out of the Behr gate, found Stream Line off in front, but before they had gone a furlong Bateau moved up and joined her stable champion and the pair were racing head and head after going half a mile. Diavolo was back in fifth position, fighting for his head.

Diavolo Galloping At the Finish.

Straightened out on the back stretch the second time around Burke released Diavolo from restraint and the latter, moving up on the outside, was in front of the mile. From there on the Wheatley racer kept increasing his advantage and at the finish appeared to be only galloping. Burke worked him out the 2 miles. This was part of his prep for the Pimlico Cup to be run on the closing day of the meeting.

William T., who finished second, met with a mishap after they had gone half a mile. Making the turn out of the home stretch, he raced on top of Stream Line and appeared to jump on the latter's heels. At all events William T stumbled and Robertson was forced to pull up. Swinging into the home stretch for the final run William T moved up stoutly and passed Display at the furlong pole.

Genie, after racing prominently the first mile, stopped and Kelsey did not persevere with him. Diavolo ran his mile and a half in 2:33 1-5. The net value of the stake to the winner was $8,378. If the winner retains his present form it is very doubtful if he will be beaten in the Pimlico Cup, for which he is almost certain to be favorite.

Danish Prince Not As Hot as Tip.

The Sagamore Stable furnished the winner of the first race when Sun Chen beat a band of cheap platers. This was a dash of 6 furlongs and a field of an even dozen went to the post.

There was a wild tip on Danish Prince and he went to the post favorite. When it came to the running Danish Prince was not there. He broke well enough but simply refused to extend himself and in the early stages Wells was hard at work on him. He went to the whip rounding the far turn out, but Danish Prince failed to gain an inch, and at the finish was eighth of his field.

In the early running the aged Dr. Hickman went to the front and he made the pace until round the far turn, where Sun Chen took command. In the stretch run Bejshak was forced to go to a drive to get Sun Chen to last long enough and at the end he staggered home half a length in front of Spectre, who came from behind to finish with good courage. Prompter was third, another half-length away. Kenly eased Dr. Hickman up when he tired. The start was from the Behr gate and they left almost aligned.

Author Fences Gamely to Win Third Straight.

The 4-year-old fencer, Author, who has come to hand in a rapid manner this fall, scored his third straight victory on the Maryland circuit when he was returned a winner in the running of the Catonsville Steeplechase this afternoon. Author, about as game a fencer as has been shown in some time, was forced to display great courage to get up in the final strides to beat Lizard out a head.

Author was picking up weight over his previous effort, when he beat Autumn Bells out a nose. There was a difference of 13 pounds in Autumn Bells' favor and to the sharps this appeared too big a handicap for Buchanan's fencer to overcome. Author, however, proved equal to the occasion. Thorndyke rated Author off the pace the first turn of the field and permitted Lizard to draw away into a long lead. The second time around he began closing the gap which separated him from the leader and going to the last fence charged on Lizard. They took this jump heads apart and in the final drive Author proved the gamer of the pair and was up right at the end to win by a head.

Autumn Bells was third, beaten five lengths for the place. Young Bostwick was bothered some during the running by Glee Rule, who bumped and crowded him several times during the running. Autumn Bells was also bothered in the mixup which came when Stoney Lonesome fell at the third fence and Sangamo tumbled over him.

Pious Draws Away at Finish of Third.

Pious came back with another good effort this afternoon when she won the third race. In her previous effort she was meeting some of the best 2-year-olds racing here this fall. She was dropped down quite a bit this afternoon and was meeting an ordinary lot. Hebert had the mount.

After breaking well Pious trailed the leaders; but rounding the far turn, when Hebert called on her Pious moved up on the outside with a rush. Catching the pacemaker, First Lady, as they neared the furlong pole, Pious took the lead, and from there on kept drawing away. At the finish she beat Chimney Sweep out a length. The latter finished well out in the middle of the track. Porphyry was third, beaten two lengths for the place; and then followed First Lady, who tired badly and was dropping back at every stride.

Sun Shadow Outgames Electa by Nose.

Thurber put up a rousing finish on the Arden Farm's Sun Shadow in the Glyndon Handicap when he beat the Middleburg Stable's Electa out a nose. A field of seven went to the post in the Glyndon, and Molasses Jane was the favorite, as she had every right to be on her clever races here this fall. The best Molasses Jane could do, however, was to finish third, beaten off five lengths.

In the early stages, the speedy Silverdale went to the front; and racing head and head with Chatover, the pair led until just before making the turn into the home stretch. Electa and Sun Shadow, who had been trailing the field, moved up with a rush on the outside, and at this point the pair hooked up for a stretch duel. When the final test came Sun Shadow proved the gamer. Silver and Chatover tired badly, and the former was eased up the last sixteenth.

When Sun Shadow won the fourth race it maked a clean score for Trainer George Odom. The latter has sent three horses to the post at Pimlico—Perkins, Storm and Sun Shadow—and all have been returned a winner. Danish Prince was claimed out of the first race by O. Chaney for $3,000. Diavolo worked out the 2 miles in 3:34.

Ned O., the Campfire colt that runs and wins at all distances, added another to the list of victories he scored in Maryland this fall when he won the second division of the Caswell Purse. Racing along in the rear, last but one, for 3 furlongs, Ned O. began picking up his field as they swung into the home stretch, where he came through next to the inner rail. In the final furlong he closed with his usual great stretch run, and, catching the leaders faltering in the last hundred yards, he was up to win going away at the end by a length.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUN CHEN, $21.30, $9.70, $8.40; SPECTRE, $5.50, $4.30; PROMPTER, $5.70.

SUN CHEN, away well, was allowed to rate off pace, ran into lead in stretch and stood long drive gamely. SPECTRE broke in a jangle, was sent up on outside, came to inside in last furlong and finished gamely; might have won with better handling. PROMPTER was rushed into contention early, showed speed, but weakened. STURDY broke well, was kept next inner rail and tired. DOCTOR HICKMAN had speed for three furlongs. CHATTAHOOCHEE stopped badly after showing early speed. CROYDEN was outrun.

SECOND RACE—Two miles. Purse, $2,000; claiming. The Catonsville Steeplechase. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 1:50. Off at 1:51½. Winner, F. J. Buchanan's ch. g. (4), by Orthodox—Nora F. Trained by J. W. Healey. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $400; third, $200. Time, 3:59 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—AUTHOR, $10.00, $4.40, $3.70; LIZARD, $6.10, $4.60; AUTUMN BELLS, $2.80.

AUTHOR, in good form, was rated back of LIZARD and, fencing well throughout, moved up fast in last half mile, but was hard ridden to win. LIZARD opened wide lead and held on gamely at end. AUTUMN BELLS was allowed to drop far out of it early, but made a determined bid in last half. He weakened fast after clearing the last fence. SARATOF was best of the others. ENDICOTT and GLEEFUL were outrun.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:26. Off at 2:30½. Winner, W. J. Salmon, jr.'s b. f. (2), by Dominion—Annarella. Trained by J. R. Pryce. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48, 1:14 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PIOUS, $8.40, $4.30, $3.20; CHIMNEY SWEEP, $4.00, $3.10; PORPHYRY, $5.50.

PIOUS broke slow, but went up fast on outside, raced FIRST LADY into defeat, then drew away to win driving. CHIMNEY SWEEP was kept up with the leaders all the way and was hard ridden at end. PORPHYRY, away last, closed a big gap and was a factor at the end. He is worth remembering. FIRST LADY, away fast, showed good speed for half a mile, then quit. MOINE broke running, but dropped out of it immediately and ran a poor race. MAKE HASTE was pinched back after start.

FOURTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,300; handicap. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:01. Off at 3:03½. Winner, Arden Farm's br. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUN SHADOW, $20.30, $11.20, $6.40; ELECTA, $12.20, $5.00; MOLASSES JANE, $3.00.

SUN SHADOW, showing sudden improvement, was rated back of the early pace, came around field on outside, closed gamely and was up to win in last stride. ELECTA, who outraced for half a mile, went up fast in stretch, but weakened in last sixteenth. MOLASSES JANE was poorly ridden. She was closing fast in stretch when Leishman let her run up on the heels of CHATOVER and she lost much ground. CHATOVER tired up in no excuse. VANDAL had speed for six furlongs. SILVERDALE led for seven furlongs, then tired. LIEUTENANT RUSSELL had good speed.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-half miles. Purse, $10,000 added. The Bowie Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won galloping; place, easily. Went to post at 3:37. Off at 3:38. Winner, Wheatley Stable's ch. c. (4), by Whisk Broom II—Lady Maryland. Trained by J. Fitzsimmons. Value to winner, $9,135; second, $2,000; third, $1,000; fourth, $500. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DIAVOLO, $4.30, $3.10, $2.30; WILLIAM T., $6.70, $2.90; DISPLAY, $2.30.

DIAVOLO was much the best. He handled his weight well, ran into lead at end of a mile and drew away to win galloping. WILLIAM T., well ridden, moved up fast in last half of the mile and easily beat DISPLAY for the place. Rated kindly at start, was rated for mile, then moved up, but tired in last furlong. BATEAU ran into lead early, but stopped badly. GENIE, well up for a mile, dropped back thoroughly beaten. STREAMLINE left for half a mile and was eased up at end.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:12. Off at 4:14½. Winner, G. W. Foreman's ch. g. (3), by Camp Fire—La Flambee. Trained by M. Collins. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48 2-5, 1:14.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT E. COLLYER

SUN CHEN, $21.30. . . . . .

Following the flock of long shots served through this column Tuesday, your old "Tillycum" came right back and delivered the promised "long-shot sleeper"—in the day's opener at Pimlico—Sun Chen, $21.30. Also, we tossed in the old wopsey tiger, Author—from the Suicide Club—in the second spasm. That kind of dope needs no bolstering. Eh, wot, bo?

For this afternoon at the Maryland course, I am slipping you SCOT FREE, which also goes in the "day's opener." Now this gee received a chicken prep down in New York and is ready to run to the Rocky Mountains. FRUMPER will rule favorite, but that makes no never mind, except possibly to give us a better price. PRO TEM has also worked well and may outlast BROWN TRAP. SWEET SENTIMENT, although having her package up, is the logical winner of the second, which is for Maryland breds. The Seagram trick is, I believe, considerably better than ordinarily rated.

The Chicago contingent has a chance to mop in the cross country event, in which they are represented by TOD SLOAN and CRACK WILLOW. It is my understanding there is plenty of dough planted overnight. Take it on the run fellows. They make few mistakes.

DONNAY, a winner last time, looks all over a repeater. He has beaten this field, with the possible exception of CRYSTAL DOMINO. The sky is the limit.

Down at Latonia, where the gee gees continue to come down for us—like a lot of trained pigs—I have the gladsome news—LITTLE COLONEL will deliver the goods in the fourth-high, wide and handsome. Plenty of kale for him—overnight." Personally, I have known too much gab to spoil the coup and in this case I suggest you take the two megs and slap 'em right slam, bang on the old beezer, then go away and sit down. GLADYS McLAIN, TURNOVER and McCULLOCH are well bunched.

LATCHKEY, in the third, was also well "taken."

Now it has been my experience that this thing dough talks more loudly than anything I know of. You may disagree with me, but that's my story and I'm going to stisk to it. More anon.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GOVERNOR PRATT, $5.64, $3.04, $2.18; CRESTWOOD, $3.34, 12.40; ESTIN, $2.30.

GOVERNOR PRATT, forward under steadying restraint, but forced in deepest going through stretch, came again near end when seemingly tiring to outstay CRESTWOOD. Latter responded well when taken to outside through stretch, took a slight advantage midway of the stretch, but weakened slightly in last twenty yards. ESTIN was forced back at half-mile ground, came on inside entering stretch and held on stubbornly to outstay MY HOBBY. Latter went well and had no mishaps.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:27. Off at 2:28. Winner, Four Oak Farm's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—RIO PANCHITA, $6.74, $2.78, $2.42; TANNIC, $2.58, $3.36; KUBLAI KHAN, $3.24.

RIO PANCHITA was sent into a good lead first quarter and, tiring in the drive, just lasted to hold TANNIC safe. Latter, forward under slight restraint, came to outside of winner when urged and, continuing strongly, would have won in a few more strides. KUBLAI KHAN, never far out of it and holding on well, easily held others safe. MASTER MAIL was always outpaced. LINDA ARCHER moved up determinedly at head of the stretch, then tired badly when the test came. WHISKWIN stumbled at the start.

THIRD RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 2-year-olds, maidens, fillies. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:51. Off at 2:52. Winner, E. P. Headley's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FIG LEAF, $3.96, $2.62, $2.10; TAYSTEE, $3.02, $2.44; LUNACY, 12.64.

FIG LEAF, away well and showing most early foot, opened up a big advantage first half mile and, continuing gamely through stretch, was never in danger. TAYSTEE moved up strongly after first quarter and, tiring from early efforts, just lasted to hold LUNACY safe. Latter worked way up steadily, held on well in the drive and was going strongly at the wind-up. INTERIOR tired.

FOURTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 2-year-olds, maidens, fillies. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:16. Off at 3:17. Winner, Miss B. M. Johnson's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUSAN'S SISTER, $9.40, $5.26, $4.58; HANNAH BLACK, $10.26, $6.06; PIN ON, $7.46.

SUSAN'S SISTER disposed of HANNAH BLACK first half mile and, drawing out when taken in best going, won with speed to spare. HANNAH BLACK, forward from start, held on stubbornly while saving ground, but was not good enough. PIN ON moved up strongly after reaching far turn, continued well through stretch, but could not menace leaders. LITTLE RUMPUS had no mishaps. ROYAL BEAUTY was done for after

CITY GRID LEAGUE ORDERS REPLAY OF TWO GAMES

Two Protests Upheld, Two Denied

Brookland Stripped of Victory Over St. Stephen's.

Notre Dame Ordered to Play Meridians Despite Forfeit.

In upholding two protests last night, dismissing two others and ordering two games replayed, the protest board of the Capital City Football League ordered changes in the standings of the teams in accordance with its rulings. As a result, the tie for first place in the senior class between the Mohawk Prep and Brookland A. C. Elevens was broken and the latter team dropped into third place when the game of last Sunday between the St. Stephen's and Brookland Teams was ordered replayed.

St. Stephen's protested against the 12-to-0 victory of the Brookland Club, claiming that Danny Pine, Gonzaga High star, played with the Brookland Team, although his name did not appear on the eligibility list of the Brookland team. The manager of the latter club claimed that Pine was originally signed under the name of Bean and had played two games under that name. The league officials decided, however, that the game should be replayed and declared Pine eligible to play under the name of Bean provided a written declaration from the Brookland Club was given the league secretary.

Marion Protest Fails, But Score is Changed.

While the league officials were of the opinion that no attempt was made to violate flagrantly a league rule by the Brookland Team in using Pine, it was deemed necessary that the game be replayed and action taken to prevent a recurrence of a similar dispute in the future.

A protest filed by the Marion Team charging inefficient officiating in the game which the Mohawk Preps won last Sunday was denied. The score was declared 6 to 0 instead of 11 to 0, however, as it was determined that a touchdown allowed the Mohawk Preps should have been an automatic safety.

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Mohawk Preps	2	0	1	5
St. Stephen's	2	0	0	4
Brookland	1	0	1	3
Mercurys	1	1	0	4

Notre Dame Deprived Of Forfeit Victory.

Upholding the protest of the Meridian 135-pound eleven against awarding a forfeit to the Notre Dame Team last Sunday when the former team failed to appear on the field, the game was ordered replayed at a later date. The Meridians claimed that they had been told that no games would be permitted on the Government fields and were unaware that the game could be played.

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Palace A. C.	3	0	1	7
Janney A. C.	3	0	1	7
Columbias	2	0	2	6
Notre Dame	2	1	0	4
Mardfeldts	0	1	3	3
Meridians	1	2	0	2

A protest made by the Meridian 125-pound class team claiming William Farran, of the Brookland Boys Club to be overweight was overruled when Farran was weighed and found to be within the limit. No change was made in the standing of the 125-pound teams.

Record Believed Set By Matthews' Pigeons

What is thought to be a world's record for a homing pigeon in a 500-mile race was recorded yesterday morning when Paragon, winged flier of D. R. Mathews, arrived home from Cleveland, Tenn., just 20 minutes after sunrise the day following its liberation. None of the birds had been expected before yesterday afternoon, but Mathews received the biggest thrill of his life when his bird lofted home four hours in advance of the second bird of the race, also belonging to Mathews.

The winner also won fourth, sixth, seventh, eighth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth places, homing nine out of his ten birds entered for a world's record.

D. Roy Mathews, 1,282 yards; D. Roy Mathews, 979 yards; Robert Lyons, 978 yards; Robert Lyons, 957 yards; Crack and Samons, 926 yards; D. Roy Mathews, 900 yards; D. Roy Mathews, 887 yards; D. Roy Mathews, 867 yards; E. F. Costello, 853 yards; J. C. Krahling, 818 yards; C. J. Krahling, 700 yards; J. D. Clagett, no report.

wild through or around Navy's line unless aided by the element of surprise. As far as straight football is concerned, the Middie forward wall is well able to cope with Georgetown.

Coach Little announced last night that Steve Barabas will start at full back in place of Buddy Bordeau in the Hilltop line-up Saturday. Barabas, who got his first taste of action this year in the New York game owing to previous physical disability, is more experienced than Bordeau and the best defensive back on the squad.

Johnny Bosek and Johnny Hudak, the regular half backs, are both nursing slight injuries received in New York, but are expected to be ready for Navy.

Record Set for Low Number of Putts on Round

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher, New York Giants.)

Just what is the world's record for the fewest number of putts made in playing eighteen holes of golf?

Charley Windle, of the Park Ridge, Ill., Country Club, claims he made a world's record recently when he went around his course and used only twenty-three putts, in eighteen holes, using only one putt each on the first ten holes. To settle this controversy, I am appealing to the golfers of the United States and Canada. If any golfer has ever played eighteen holes, using only twenty-three or less putts for the round, will tell me how, when and where he did it, I will be glad to give him the publicity his feat demands.

Speaking of putts, Al Espinosa told me recently of the greatest exhibition of putting he ever saw.

"I was playing a young fellow by the name of Derr," said Al, "and I played golf that would have won for me nine times out of ten, but here is what Derr did with his magic putter:

Morning round: Third hole—Went around a stymie with a 25-foot putt and won the hole; 7th—sank a 30-foot putt for a par five to halve the hole; 8th—went around a stymie on a sloping green with a 15-foot putt to halve; 10th—dropped a 20-footer for a birdie three to win; 16th—ran down another 20-footer to halve after chipping short; 18th—holed out a 30-foot putt to halve after missing his second.

Afternoon round: Third hole—ran down a 15-footer on a sloping green for a half; 13th—With my ball on the green of a 203-yard hole for a sure 3, sank a 45-foot putt over an undulating green for a birdie 2 to win; 17th—dropped a 25-footer for a birdie 3 to win the hole and match. It got so I turned my back on him again and again just to hear the old cup ring. I couldn't bear to watch the putts dropping in from every corner of the green."

Quick Return Scores At Arlington Downs

Quick Return, from Miss D. Parsons' Stable, making his first start since racing at Covington, was first to pass under the wire after a good ride by M. Knight. Mix Up and Prince Pat, from the Three D's Stable, accounted for second and thrid places, respectively. Steve O'Donnell had the leg up on Prince Pat, while O. Laidley rode Mix Up. The race was run in 1:28 1-5. It had a net value of $900 to the winner.

Quick Return, slightly outrun early, moved up fast entering the stretch and drew out to win by three lengths. Mix Up alternated in making and forcing the pace with Jack Haskell, but could not withstand the fast finish of the winner and was second by two lengths over his stable mate, Prince Pat. The latter raced evenly in third position throughout. Jack Haskell tired badly after leading to the stretch and finished far back in eighth position.

There was no wagering on the results.

Unbeaten Greenbrier Team Plays Augusta

Special to The Washington Post.

Lewisburg, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Greenbrier Military School's undefeated and untied varsity eleven will face its hardest test Saturday when the fast Augusta Military Academy Eleven, one of the strongest in Virginia, journeys to Lewisburg to match punts with the men of Adkins and Turley.

To date Greenbrier has defeated five teams, including Blackstone Military Academy and Fishburne Military School. Others to fall were Millersburg Military Institute, Jefferson High of Roanoke, Va., and the Emory and Henry College Freshmen.

Roanoke was the only high school to score against Greenbrier. The Virginians blocked and recovered a punt for touchdown. To date Greenbrier has amassed 130 points against 6 for opponents.

Penn State Gridmen Ready to Meet Penn

Special to The Washington Post.

State College, Pa., Nov. 6.—With the all-important Penn game, the season's "big contest" for Penn State, just around the corner the Lions are putting on the finishing touches of the week's practice for the Quakers and will wind up their preparation with a drill game tomorrow afternoon. Today's practice, the heaviest of the week, found the Lions in good physical trim for the coming game.

There were no serious injuries as a result of the hard Syracuse game last week, although it was at first feared that George Lasich, sophomore full back, might be on the shelf indefinitely. After treatment in Syracuse, Lasich was given a thorough examination by the college physician here Monday and reported not seriously hurt. He did not get into uniform that day.

Earl Edwards, right end, and Herb Eschbach, center, who were not in the best shape for the Syracuse encounter, have rounded into normal condition and will be ready for the Quaker battle.

JANNEY'S TO PRACTICE.

Janney A. C. gridmen are requested to attend a special practice this evening at the field at Wisconsin and Nebraska avenues in preparation for their game Sunday with the Columbia A. C.

LONE CHANGE IN OLD LINE LINE-UP

Heintz to Replace McDonald, Guard Against Yale.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND will start the same eleven against Yale in New Haven Saturday, with one exception, as that which began the clash against Virginia at College Park the past week-end.

Heintz, who has just fully recovered after being out for a month, will be at guard in place of J. McDonald, who is not in good condition, when the battle with the Elis gets under way.

In all, 29 players will be taken on the trip to New Haven, the others being as follows: Norris, Berger and Rooney, ends; Fisher, Ribnitzki, H. McDonald and Sanford, tackles; J. McDonald, Koelle, Hayden and R. Wilson, guards; Faber, center; Roberts, Cronin, May, Settino, Pitzer and Stieber, backs.

Six of Line-Up Figured In 1928 Triumph.

Six of the starting line-up, Lombard, Heintz, Madigan, Heagy, Evans and Radice, and four of the others, Fisher, Ribnitzki, J. McDonald and Roberts, were among the fourteen men Maryland used in beating Yale, 6 to 0, last year.

Of the 29, Lombard, Heintz, Madigan, Heagy, Evans, Radice, J. McDonald, Ribnitzki and Roberts are seniors, Fisher and Pitzer are juniors, and all of the others are sophomores.

Coach Curley Byrd gave the Old Liners who started the Virginia game last Saturday only light work again yesterday, but the remainder of the squad was sent through the paces.

Practically all that will be done today and tomorrow will be to polish up.

Capital Club Golf Pros Enter Tourney

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—With the opening day November 12 of the tenth annual mid-South open golf tournament of the Pinehurst Country Club six days away, a large entry list already has been received, and indications are that the field will be a large one.

Emmett French, of Youngstown, Ohio, international star; Al Houghton, of Harper Country Club, Rockville, Md.; Walter F. Hall, of Annapolis, Md.; Walter Cunningham, of Burning Tree Club, Washington, D. C., and R. P. Henkle, of Schuylkill Country Club, Ogdenburg, Pa., are entered. A number of amateur entries are in, and it is likely the number of almon pure competitors will be well ahead of any previous year.

CRACK GUARD RETURNS TO CENTRAL

By WILLIAM F. DISMER, JR.

ANGUS LAMOND, crack guard of the Central High Football Team, may have been ineligible when the marks were announced last Monday, but thanks to Coach "Ty" Rauber, that young man is now once more eligible and permitted to play for the Blue and White Team.

With a low scholastic record, Lamond was forced to take two "make-up" tests just before the advisory period ended, but the opportunity to make good availed him little and the flunk marks were accordingly handed out to him. However, Rauber, already faced with the loss of his other guard, Mirman, was in a desperate mood and determined to make one last attempt to secure the services of Lamond for the next six weeks.

Accordingly, he arranged a third exam for his brilliant lineman, and the youngster, deeply grateful, showed his thanks to his coach by passing the test with flying colors. All of which means that Lamond will be among those present when Central goes on the field to tackle Western in its next series game.

Giant Rosenthal to Play in Line.

However, Rauber did not have to work as hard to gain the services of another lineman as he did to secure those of Lamond. Rosenthal, a giant tackle over 200 pounds, worked off his ineligibility of the last six weeks and is now ready to play for the Blue and White. Rosenthal, in 1928, worked out with the back field, but Rauber has decided to make a lineman out of him. He will be sent to guard, if the tackle position does not seem fitted for him. McGill, another back field aspirant, will also be eligible for services, being another graduate from the "flunkers."

Western High School may be without the services of Fletcher, regular left end of the team, it was learned last night. Unbeknown to his teammates and the Tech Team Tuesday, Fletcher played throughout the game with a torn muscle in his right leg. However, the injury was revealed yesterday, and he promises to be laid up for some time.

Burns Replaces Millar In Eastern Back Field.

With Charley Millar still hobbling around on a cane over at Eastern High School, Coach Mike Kelley expects to send Burns in for his in-injured ace when Business is met at Central Stadium tomorrow afternoon. Although Millar is hopeful of breaking into the game against Central on November 18, it is extremely doubtful if his injured leg will permit his playing again this season.

Chester Miles, who has just become eligible at the Lincoln Park School, will again assume his old position at center tomorrow for the first time this season. The snapperback post has been one of extreme worry to Kelley all year, with neither Shorb nor Nally showing up to advantage at the position. The return of Miles, '28, regular, promises to boost the strength of the Light Blue and White line considerably.

RULE C.

Gonzaga Prepared for Georgetown Prep.

Coach Orrell Mitchell is getting his Gonzaga Eleven excited over the coming clash with the Georgetown Prep Eleven tomorrow afternoon at the Purple's new stadium, Thirty-fourth and Benning road, northeast. Mitchell personally scouted the G. U. Eleven when it trounced the Mount St. Mary's Eleven, 24 to 6, and was duly impressed with the power of his rivals of the morrow.

In an effort to bolster his own team, Mitchell has shifted Shipman to right tackle in place of Mouser, with the rest of the eleven being kept intact. He will decide today whether to use Allman or Freund at the quarter back post. Bussink, half back, hurt in the Catholic University Freshmen game, is once more ready to go, while Brew and McVean will fill the other two posts in the ball-carrying quartet.

Mitchell has his fears of Morse, the G. U. running back, and avers that the winning of the game will depend upon the ability of his line to hold this young man in check. Robinson, also of the Georgetown Team, is playing a great game at center, and, according to Mitchell, is one of the best snapper-back men in the city this year.

Mitchell would like to arrange a game for his charges on November 29, the day after Thanksgiving, but so far has found no opponent for his team.

Pinehurst Attracts Many Golf Tutors

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Noted professional golfers, who in the winter join the staff of nearly two dozen pros, servicing the seven courses of Pinehurst, are arriving to take up their work under Donald Ross, who has charge of golf here.

Willie Wilson, of York Harbor, Me., whose son, Forbes, is a Yale golf star and Maine amateur champion, arrived yesterday to handle the tourneys of Pinehurst Country Club. Alex Innes, of Boston, and Roaring Gap, N. C., has taken up his duties as entries executive at Pinehurst Country Club. John Capello, of Hyannisport, Mass., and Palmer Maples, of Pinehurst, are in the golf shop of Pinehurst, and Ted Turner, of Andover, Mass., has arrived to take charge of the Pine Needles Country Club.

Hampden-Sidney Gets Ready for State Foes

Hampden-Sidney, Va., Nov. 16.—Due to the fact that most of his men were bruised and sore from their tough battle with the powerful Colgate U. aggregation, Coach Bernier suspended practice on the first day of the Tigers' return, but made up for the rest with a stiff workout yesterday. Not altogether satisfied with the squad's play, even against such heavy odds, the Sage of Death Valley is hard at it again, tuning up his machine to move into action Saturday against Lynchburg College.

The only incident to lighten the gloom of so severe a defeat was the loss of "Monk" Ruffner and "Lucy" Bowers in New York, where the team spent Sunday. Both these lads, trailing the others, arrived on the station platform just in time to see their train pull out of the yard, leaving them stranded in the metropolis. Much anxiety was caused in the Tiger camp until their arrival yesterday, a little the worse for wear. Ruffner, hefty West Virginian, is being counted on for yardage in the coming encounters as the Death Valley squad buckles down to disposing of conference rivals.

ON VIRGINIA GRIDIRONS

THE Cavaliers must stop Biru Hooper if they intend to win the Gobbler game Saturday. Hooper earned himself a place in glory last week-end by good generalship and excellent personal performance as well. He was the man who flipped the ball for two of the touchdowns, he intercepted a General heave and ran it 35 yards to the 5-yard line, and his punts averaged 53 yards.

V. M. I., although hardly expecting such a lead as Kentucky gained, sees a brighter outlook after Clemson's ignominious setback at the Colonels' hands Saturday. The Cadets had no walk-away from Davidson, but the South Carolina Tigers were given a drubbing that few elevens of conference rank experience any season. The sad part of the story for V. M. I. is that on the week-end following the Clemson game at Norfolk the Flying Squadron must face the now shining Kentuckians.

If Albert Lewy, Virginia full back, keeps up his forward interception he'll be in line for some sort of medal of honor in this department. Against South Carolina he probably saved the Cavaliers from defeat by snagging an aerial floater. Against St. John's he ran an intercepted throw 55 yards for a touchdown. Against Maryland, he snagged F. toss from Chalmers on the Cavalier 25-yard line and returned it 41 yards. Two plays later Virginia was able to score a touchdown.

Leigh Williams continues to appear as a bright spot in a football picture that has been rather gloomy for Washington and Lee. Williams caught the passes that put the ball in scoring position Saturday and then took the last one out of the air for a short trip over the goal line to give the Generals their single tally against V. P. I. And football is not Leigh's only line, he has few peers in Virginia on the basket ball court and at baseball he can fill in at almost any job.

Virginia is looking forward with great expectations to the return of Capt. Johnny Sloan for the game with V. P. I., which will be played on Lamberth Field. Sloan has been sorely missed and his return to action will mean much more than the addition of an experienced and accomplished back for the Cavalier captain has the knack of adding much to the driving power of the Virginia Team—and Virginia will need all the drive available against the men from Blacksburg.

BILLIARD TOURNEY STARTS

In the annual three-cushion billiard tournament, which opened at the Lewis & Krauss parlors last night, J. F. Fairbanks defeated John Ruppert, 35 to 26, and L. A. Rule advanced over L. A. Smith, 35 to 28. Each had a high run of three. F. E. Lewis and William Malsett are scheduled to meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

FRIENDSHIP MEETS.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 6.—With Capt. Johnny Sloan at quarter back and Bill Thomas at half back, the University of Virginia is offering a pair of as fleet and shifty ball carriers as have performed in the Old Dominion in many, many moons.

This shifty-hipped pair, with two others to support them in the Cavalier back field, will be matched against another assortment of fast performers when Virginia Polytechnic Institute comes to Lambeth Field on Saturday afternoon.

A varied display of offensive tricks is sure to be on exhibition when Gobblers meet Cavaliers, and for that reason plans are being made to accommodate the largest crowd of the season on Lambeth Field. It will be the final home game for Virginia.

V. P. I. has displayed a powerful attack this season. The Tech Team lost by a scant margin to Pennsylvania, and just missed defeating the strong Quaker Eleven by two goal-line fumbles. They submerged Washington and Lee and William and Mary under a total of 61 points. Against North Carolina they scored more than any other team except the Georgians, who defeated the Tarheels at Chapel Hill.

Running Attack Chief Hope of Cavaliers.

Virginia's attack has not been as successful, but it has shown some flashes of brilliance. Capt. Sloan and Thomas have not performed together since the Swarthmore game, for it was in this contest that the Cavalier leader sustained a fractured foot.

The double-barreled running attack of Sloan and Thomas is the only hope of the Virginians in downing Tech. The chance of stopping the V. P. I. backs is so slight that the Cavaliers are not concentrating on defense in practices this week.

Instead, they are going to try to outscore the Gobblers. That's going to be difficult, as everybody knows. But the feeling on Lambeth Field is that if victory comes Saturday it will be because the driving power of the University men is better than that of the Gobblers.

Capt. Sloan and Thomas are preparing to serve as the chief means of assaulting the Tech defenses. Hunter Faulconer will probably support them in one half back position unless Gus Kaminer gets the call. Either Albert Lawy or Herbert Bryant will probably be found at full back.

Gustafson Stressing V. P. I. Defense.

Blacksburg, Va., Nov. 6.—Out of last week's mud and rain and into the chill winds which sweep day after day from the surrounding Alleghanies, the V. P. I. gridders are on the run for two reasons—because they want to keep warm and because they want, even worse, to beat Virginia. The win from Washington and Lee at Lynchburg last week has whetted the Gobblers' appetite for a second State scalp from a Big Four rival.

The Poly Tech Men tuned up on the Warner plays Monday afternoon and used these plays against the freshmen in a rough and tumble session the following day. Andy Gustafson switched to the defensive game in the midweek practice. This is the Gobbler weakness this year and will be stressed again before the team leaves Blacksburg Friday. The Gobblers are laying plans to stop Capt. Johnny Sloan and Bill Thomas, the Cavalier aces, but unless they tackle better and show better all-around defensive ability than they have so far this season, Messrs. Sloan and Thomas are likely to roam far and wide over Lambeth Field.

The Washington and Lee game proved again that Poly Tech's defense is weak. In the words of Coach Gustafson: "If my boys do not tackle better than they did against William and Mary, Carolina and W and L, this lad Thomas will make monkeys out of them. Sloan also is expected to be in Virginia's line-up, which means we must watch two dangerous ball carriers."

Dr. Billy Is Victor In Latonia Feature

Latonia, Ky., Nov. 6 (A.P.).—The sport today was given over almost entirely to claiming affairs, which, however, were hotly contested. The form players were in their element as a rule. The feature, the Amsterdam, an allowance affair, was won by the French Lick Stable's Dr. Billy, with Mutual Friend, from L. C. Young's Stable, second and Wood River, from E. F. Pritchard's Stable third.

The event had a net value of $900 to the winner, which covered the distance in 1:20 flat. Dr. Billy rewarded his backers at $12.30.

Dr. Billy, away fast, was rated along in close contention to the stretch, where he crowded his way through Mutual Friend and won by a length. Mutual Friend was sent into the lead right after the start, held on gamely and but for being crowded by the winner, might have won. He was second by four lengths over Wood River. The latter, racing well up, was forced back sharply on the far turn, but came strongly when clear and was up to take the small end of the purse.

ALLEYS PLAN INCREASED ACTIVITY

Silver Spring Has 12 New Drives; Women in Sweepstakes.

ANNOUNCEMENT yesterday that the new bowling alleys at Silver Spring will be opened Friday night with a program of special matches was followed by an announcement from Pop Evans, public relations chief of the Meyer Davis establishments, that the second renewal of the Meyer Davis Sweepstakes for women bowlers will be started November 23 at King Pin No. 2.

All of which indicates that the busy season for the duckpin emporiums is at hand. With competition keener than ever among the various alley moguls, there is little doubt that the next three or four months will be crowded with attractive events for all classes of duckpin devotees.

Two Events Scheduled At Silver Spring.

Two events have been scheduled for the Silver Spring opening, on which occasion twelve new drives will be opened on the second floor of the Faulconer & Proctor establishment, increasing the entire layout to two dozen alleys. Al Fischer, 1928 national singles champion, has banded together a team which will meet an all-star aggregation representing the Silver Spring Alleys. Sam Benson, Howard Campbell, Reds Morgan and Dutch Weidman complete the squad selected by Fischer. Ollie Clark, Tony Santini and other stars will be in the opposing line-up.

Marjorie Smith, better known to alley fans as Marjorie Bradt, and Pauline Ford, two of the ranking District women stars, will engage two opponents to be selected Friday night. Special prizes will be awarded.

Northeast Temple Team Faces Baltimoreans.

The Meyer-Davis Sweepstakes promise to be even more attractive to the fair bowlers this year than last, when 30-odd entrants participated. Lorraine Gulli, the ranking national star, will defend her title against a field of greater possibilities than that which waged a fifteen-game battle on three successive Saturday nights.

Total pinfall for the fifteen-game route determines the winner of this event. The first five games will be shot at King Pin, No. 2, as last year, shifting the scene to King Pin, No. 1, for the second round, with the final at Lucky Strike.

A large crowd is expected at the Northeast Temple Alleys Saturday night, when the Temple Team of District League rolls the final block of its match with the Recreation Happy Five, of Baltimore. The sensational shooting of the Temple Team last week at Baltimore in the opening block has incited considerable interest in the outcome of the second meeting of the two teams.

CAREFUL PURCHASES MARK BOND TRADING

Fairly Active Session Firm in Tone, But Seasoned Issues Are Preferred.

SOFT SPOTS DISPLAYED

New York, Nov. 6 (A.P.).—Buying of bonds was highly selective in today's abbreviated market session. Trading was fairly active, totaling $17,000,000 for the three hours, and the tone was firm, but strength was noticeable chiefly in seasoned issues of investment character. It was apparent that investors were proceeding cautiously.

Whereas on Monday virtually every bond on the long list improved, there were soft spots today, especially in secondary obligations. Convertibles broke severely, selling off about 2 to 14 points, in sympathy with the weakness of the shares they represent.

Low coupon rails and first-grade industrials and utilities displayed improvement that was largely of fractional proportions. United States Government securities shaded lower, but only the Liberty 3½s and Fourth 4¼s moved in any volume.

Many Rails Gain.

Atchison general 4s, Canadian Pacific 5s, Erie general 4s, Kansas City Southern 5s, Louisville & Nashville 5½s, Missouri, Kansas & Texas prior lien 5s, Rio Grande Western collateral 4s, Southern Railway general 4s, St. Louis & San Francisco prior lien 4s, West Shore 4s, Baltimore & Ohio first 5s and a few other rails led the moderate advance. Gains ran as high as 2 points in some of the less active loans. On the other hand, Pennsylvania gold 5s and general 4½s, Central Pacific first 4s, St. Paul 5s, Erie 5s, Baltimore & Ohio refunding 5s, Chicago & Northwestern 4½s and Kansas City Southern first 3s eased.

In the industrials, buying support was given the Armour 5½s and 4½s, American Smelting 5s, Chile Copper 5s, Goodyear 5s, Liggett & Myers 5s and several of the oil company loans.

Utilities Go Up Slightly.

Columbia Gas & Electric 5s, Consumers Power 5s, Consolidated Gas of New York 5½s, Duquesne Light 4½s, North American Edison 5½s, and Northern States Power 6s were among the stronger utilities, showing gains of about a point on the average.

Foreign Bonds moved irregularly. French Republic Issues, German 7s, British 5½s and Chile 6s forged ahead, but Colombian Bonds and some of the other South Americans declined.

American Telephone 4½s led the decline in the convertibles with a net loss of 14 points. Other losses were: American I. G. Chemical 5*s, 4; International Telephone 4*s, 9; Reading Coal & Iron 6s, 3; Atchison 4*s, 6; American International 5½s, 2; Public Service of New Jersey 4½s, 7; and Commercial Investment Trust 5½s, 3

44 MEN ARE SEIZED IN TWO RAIDS MADE BY LETTERMAN UNIT

GAMBLING DEVICES, RACING SLIPS FOUND

"For Rent" Sign Hung on Caused Squad to Leave on First Call.

Policeman J. A. Mostyn, member of Sergt. Oscar J. Letterman's vice squad, yesterday climbed the rear wall of a building on Tenth street, near E street northwest, to a third-story window which he smashed to swoop down upon thirty-one persons in an alleged gambling establishment and to admit his fellow squad members at the heavily barred entrance in the second such raid by the squad in less than 20 minutes.

In the first raid, which was staged on the third floor of a building on Eleventh street, near H street northwest, Sergt. Letterman, himself, cast in the role of human fly, but Mostyn and Detectives Richard J. Cox and George McCarron, the other members of the squad, succeeded in gaining admittance by the regular entrance, just as their chief reached the window.

A large "For Rent" sign had been hung on the premises and had led police to believe Tuesday that the alleged gamblers had vacated the place. However, when their agents reported people coming and going in large numbers, they accepted the belief that the sign was there for their benefit only.

Secret Doors Are Found.

The police found a number of cleverly arranged doorways. Four were covered by the Lettermen squad before the raid was started.

That the innocent-looking "For Rent" sign completely fooled the squad the first day was admitted laughingly by the raiders. They say they visited the place intent upon a raid and left when they glimpsed it.

Thirteen persons were taken into custody there, of whom Harry Schmidt, 30 years old, of Twelfth street, near M street northwest, was charged with setting up a gaming table, and held at the First Precinct station on $2,000 bond.

Racing Slips Seized.

At both places the raiders say they seized a large quantity of racing slips and other gambling paraphernalia. They charged Vincent P. Fuschini, 35 years old, with setting up a gaming table at the Tenth street address, and bond was set at $2,000.

In checking over the slips seized there, members of the squad estimated that a profit of approximately $600 had been made by the race book on the day's operations.

Most of the patrons were colored, and it required three trips by the First Precinct patrol wagon to take them all to the station house, where their names and addresses were taken as witnesses and they were then released.

Beam Out of Place.

Failure of those in charge of the Eleventh street establishment to slide a 2x4 beam into its place in steel brackets on the door frame facilitated the entrance of the rest of the vice squad as Letterman was climbing a side wall and scrambling over roof tops.

Posted at the front door when their chief went to the side, they turned the door knob and walked in. Had the beam been in place, it would have required at least five minutes to batter entrance through the heavily reinforced door, it was said.

Four More Arrested.

Charges of permitting gaming in connection with an alleged numbers game and illegal possession of liquor were placed against Theodore W. Hill, colored, 37 years old, and Lorenzo Drew, colored, 32 years old, both of N street near Fifth street northwest, upon their arrest there at 5:25 o'clock yesterday morning by Second Precinct Policemen E. L. Gibbons, J. E. Foster, V. D. Hughes and F. W. Brown.

Hill, charged with possessing 9½ gallons of liquor, and Drew, charged with possession of 1 quart of liquor, were released on $1,000 bond each.

Morris W. Hill, colored, 48 years old, and George E. Stewart, colored, 42 years old, of the same address, were arrested at the same time and released as Federal witnesses on $100 bond each.

Fifteen Seized in Raid.

Ernest Carroll, colored, 45 years old, of the L street address, was arrested on a charge of permitting gaming.

After questioning, the others were liberated as witnesses.

Woman Knocked Down As Street Car Hits Her

Dorothy Moore, 49 years old, of 2650 Adams Mill road northwest, suffered shock and contusions on the right side of the head yesterday afternoon when she collided with a slowly-moving street car at Connecticut avenue and N street northwest, according to a Third Precinct police report.

The car, operated by Logan Hawling, of 1116 E street northeast, knocked the woman to the ground. She was taken to Emergency Hospital and then to her home. Her injuries were described at the hospital as not serious.

Acquittal Vote Explained By Foreman of Ihme Jury

Backenheimer Breaks Silence to Defend Action of Body, Which Resulted in Excoriation by McCoy; Severity of Indictment Basis of Verdict.

The reason that the jury of five women and seven men acquitted Carl Philip Ihme of a statutory charge in Criminal Division, No. 3, District of Columbia Supreme Court, on October 29 and thus brought upon themselves the censure of Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy was that the Government prosecution brought a too severe indictment against the defendant, it was revealed yesterday by Jules Backenheimer, of 600 Columbia road northwest, foreman of the jury.

The attitude of the jurors, both praised and condemned by the public, had not heretofore been revealed, though continual efforts had been made to interview Backenheimer. It was only with reluctance yesterday that he came to the defense of himself and his associates after his term as juror had expired.

"We have been vindicated by the action of the grand jury in refusing to indict Ihme last Friday for violation of the Mann act," Backenheimer said.

The jury foreman accused the Government of insisting on a severe charge for what the jurors considered a minor offense and failing to prove the girl's age to be under 16. The jurors held, Backenheimer said, that if the girl looked old enough to rent a room at a hotel, as the evidence showed, she was old enough not to be an unwilling victim of Ihme. The prosecution was handled by James F. Hughes, assistant United States attorney. John P. Mullen represented Ihme.

"The first vote of the jury was almost unanimous for acquittal," he said. "The women were most severe in their condemnation of the girl. We believed that she had participated in a commercial transaction, and that there was no evidence produced to show that Ihme had acted 'forcibly,' as the indictment charged."

Backenheimer said that he had given the jurors his view on the case while they were closeted only with the utmost reluctance, and he denied trying to "run the court" or boss the jury, as Chief Justice McCoy charged.

"I told them that the chief justice would probably be angered by our verdict," he said. "But we knew in our hearts that we were doing the right thing."

Contending that the girl was as guilty as the man in the affair, he pointed out that the United States court has held that a woman who is transported in violation of the Mann act of 1910 may be guilty of conspiracy to commit a crime.

Harry L. Downey, one of the jurors, who, when the poll was taken in court, had said that there was a point in the case which was not clear to him, voted not guilty on the first ballot, the foreman said.

Backenheimer revealed that he had been called on to act as a juror six or seven times since the Ihme trial, but had been excused by Hughes each time.

"If they want to pay me $4 a day just to be a spectator, though, it's all right with me," he concluded.

The verdict and the reproof by the chief justice followed a trial in which Ihme admitted having relations with the girl, said to be 14 years old, but which he contended were on a commercial basis. He at first pleaded guilty but was forced to change his plea because of the severity of the penalty for such an offense. Chief Justice McCoy flayed the jurors for their decision, ordered that the verdict be not recorded, and remanded the defendant to jail.

CIVILIAN EMPLOYES WANT BETTER PAY

Federal Employes' Group Sees Inequality for Naval Workers.

MAY RECLASSIFY MEN

A plea for better pay and working conditions for the civilian employes in the War and Navy Departments was made yesterday to the Personnel Classification Board by leaders in the Federation of Federal Employes.

The thirteen men who represent groups of workers at various Army and Navy stations, were introduced to the board by Luther G. Steward, president of the federation.

R. C. Sutton, representing 600 employes in the Army engineer's office in Philadelphia, told the board that large numbers are lured away from the Government service by private firms offering higher salaries and better working conditions.

Paradoxical Living Costs.

Ivan B. Tompkins and Taylor Hodnett told of a paradoxical condition existing among the dredge workers in the Savannah district. While it costs one worker $5 a month for living quarters, they pointed out, another will have to pay $15 for the same kind of quarters, the difference resulting from a difference in their salaries and not because of better or poorer quarters.

Edwin R. Brown appealed for a better salary and living conditions for the War Department employes who operate the great locks at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. Not only are they required to do hard and skillful work, he said, but in winter they frequently are exposed to a temperature of 20 degrees below zero.

S. L. Smith, chief of the chart division of the United States Lake Survey, asked that the employes of that division be classified along with those in the Coast and Geodetic Survey and the hydrographic office of the Navy Department and awarded a minimum wage of $1,500 a year.

Pleads for Civilians.

John W. Ross, of the naval base at Hampton Roads, Va., and C. G. Frick, of the navy yard at Brooklyn, N. Y., spoke on behalf of the civilian employes at those two stations. A. L. Wykoff, of New York, told of the great importance of the work done by telephone, telegraph and wireless operators of the United States Navy, and pointed out how much less they are paid than operators in the business world.

Others who testified were F. W. Patterson, P. J. Benson, of the naval headquarters in New York, and G. F. Wohlgemuth, H. F. Sipe and C. B. McCrane, of the naval experimental station at Annapolis, Md.

Man's Spine Is Injured Playing at "Y" Court

William Myers, 16 years old, of Seventh street southwest, near C street, fell and injured his spine yesterday while at play on the athletic court of the Young Men's Christian Association at Eighteenth and G streets northwest.

After treatment at Emergency Hospital by Dr. I. Rutkoski, Myers was permitted to return to his home. His condition was reported not serious.

LORADO TAFT HITS MODERN ART WORK

New School Sculpture Is Called Irritating and Atrocious Output.

GERMAN TREND LAUDED

Lorado Taft, nationally known sculptor, last night gave an illustrated addres son "Recent Tendencies in Sculpture" at teh Central High School Auditorium, Thirteenth and Clifton streets northwest, as the second event of the Community Institute winter program.

Beginning his talk with a review of the efforts of artists of the modern school, he vigorously expressed his condemnation of their work. He feels that their achievements merely bewilder; they literally make pretzels and call them sculpture; their irritating and perplexing products are only atrocities of modern art.

Taft said the public is greatly to glame for these outlandish creations, for it often happens that real artists and sculptors carried away by public acclaim of inferior work seek to produce such monstrocities themselves to win the success and popularity gained by those catering to public opinion.

Continuing, he spoke briefly about some of the outstanding sculptors in various countries, pointing out their simple, direct, essentially statnuesque manner of depicting action and emotions ranging from delicate subtlety to expressions of power and domination.

In conclusion, Taft said that much of the world's present achievements in sculpture are founded on German contributions and expressed his belief that the application of sculpture to architecture is one of the most encouraging advancements in art of our time.

Times Reporters Abandon Appeal

Save Credit in Jail Sentence Fixed by Court as 45 Days.

Gorman M. Hendricks, Linton Burkett and John E. Nevin, jr., reporters of The Washington Times, yesterday abandoned their appeals from the action of Justice Peyton Gordon in sentencing them to serve 45-day terms for contempt of District of Columbia Supreme Court. The step is said to have followed realization that they would not receive credit for the time they spend in jail pending the outcome of their appeal action.

The three reporters, who were sent to jail last week and released the next day pending hearing on habeas corpus petitions, returned to jail Monday, when on motion of their attorneys the petitions were dismissed.

Hendricks, Burket and Nevin were convicted of contempt of court after they had refused to tell the District of Columbia grand jury where they are alleged to have purchased whisky in support of a series of articles supposed to deal with liquor conditions in Washington which their newspaper was running.

OPERATIVES ATTACK M'PHERSON'S ALIBI IN DEATH OF NURSE

DEFENSE CONFIDENT HE CAN BE CLEARED

Accused Man Claims He Can Account for His Actions Satisfactorily.

In its present status, the fate of Robert A. McPherson, facing trial for first degree murder of his wife, Virginia Hurley McPherson, is by no means "in the bag" for either side, it was learned last night.

In the absence of any eyewitness to the death of the attractive young nurse, whose nearly nude body, strangled with the cord of her silken pajamas, was found on the bedroom floor in her Park Lane apartment September 14, the case apparently now rests almost entirely upon McPherson's alibi for the night of September 12, during which his wife is believed to have died.

According to McPherson's story, he called on that fateful Thursday evening at his wife's apartment, but left there about five minutes before 8 o'clock to attend a meeting of an athletic club of which he is a member. Later, according to this story, which is substantiated by friends and relatives, he and a party of his friends motored to Mount Rainier, Md., returning to the home of an aunt in the Petworth section at twenty minutes past midnight.

Ten minutes later, after a very brief visit with his aunt, McPherson is declared to have arrived at his parents' home nearby at 12:30 o'clock on Friday morning, September 13. According to his parents, young McPherson talked for a few minutes with his father and then retired to bed, where he remained for the rest of the night.

But, on the other hand, the Department of Justice has located at least three witnesses who contradict this alibi and place a man identified as young McPherson in the downtown section of the city considerably later than midnight. Which of these conflicting bits of testimony will carry most weight with the jury which will try McPherson is now a problem receiving serious consideration from both sides.

According to information given to the Federal investigators by J. T. Green and J. H. Lewark, motorman and conductor, respectively, of a Georgia avenue street car which left Soldiers Home at 12:04 o'clock on the morning of September 13, a man identified as McPherson is declared to have been a passenger on that car as far downtown as New York avenue and Ninth street northwest.

Garnett M. Frye, a taxicab driver, has identified McPherson as a passenger who rode in his cab from New York avenue and Fifteenth street northwest to the Park Lane at Pennsylvania avenue and Twenty-second street, "some time between 1 o'clock and 3 o'clock" that Friday morning.

Whether the Federal sleuths have found a witness to show how McPherson might have traveled from Ninth street to Fifteenth street is a question which they decline to answer, although it is considered an important link in the chain of evidence.

There are three possible fillers for that apparent gap. He might have taken a street car westward along New York avenue to the end of the line at Fifteenth street; he might have ridden in a taxicab, or he might have walked. That he might have boarded a taxicab at Ninth street is considered as a negligible possibility, as in that case it is presumable that he would have continued in the same cab to his ultimate destination, instead of only half way.

Assuming that the identification by the street car crew is sound, and with the schedule time of their car a matter of record, the Federal operatives are understood to be giving serious thought now to an attempt to find that there might have been an error of an hour on the part of those who have told of seeing McPherson at his aunt's home and that of his parents between 12:30 and 12:30 o'clock. The possibility is seen that the hours specified in the alibi are incorrect and that they should have been shown as 11:20 and 11:30 o'clock in the evening.

Later Movements Unknown.

So far as is known, no witness has been found who could tell of the movements of the man identified as McPherson after Frye left him at the rear of the Park Lane. That he was not seen in the lobby by the night clerk and telephone operator nor by the elevator operator is not considered of primary importance either for or against the case, inasmuch as it is by no means unusual for the clerk to be away from the desk for brief intervals throughout the night, when a man might easily have gone into the lobby and up the stairs without being seen, especially one who might have waited and watched through the front door for an opportunity when the lobby was vacant.

The Federal sleuths will not discuss the evidence they hold and will not indicate whether or not they have been able to "place" McPherson inside the apartment building, nor whether they have been able to learn when, if he made the trip downtown as stated by witnesses, he later returned to his parents' home nor his manner of making that trip.

What effect the lack of those links in the evidence—if such lack exists—might have upon the verdict when McPherson faces trial, is a question that only the jury will be able to answer.

Leahy Is Confident.

William E. Leahy, McPherson's attorney, reports entire confidence in the defense breastworks he is building for his client, and indicates that when the case reaches trial he will have "plenty of fireworks" to exhibit to the jury.

Special Prosecutor John E. Laskey, on the other hand, appears equally confident and ready to rest upon his reputation for never entering court without knowing what it was all about, for taking no risk of defeat and for waiting until morally certain of the outcome before undertaking prosecution.

The seven Federal investigators under Inspector Thomas F. Cullen who remain of the twelve originally given the task of investigating the mystery of Virginia McPherson's death, are continuing, on the other hand, to round up whatever additional bits of information and evidence may still be needed or of value in strengthening the case for the prosecution.

Messenger Boy Injured.

Vivian Hays, 19 years old, of 1668 Avon place northwest, Western Union messenger boy, suffered contusions on his head and shock at 9 o'clock last night when he was knocked from the bicycle he was riding by a hit-and-run motorist at Nineteenth and L streets northwest. Third Precinct police reported that Hays refused medical aid.

BROOKHART NAMES 'WET PARTY' GROUP FOR GRAND JURORS

List Given by Iowa Senator May or May Not Be Haled Before Inquisitors.

ROVER LEAVES MATTER TO THEIR OWN DECISION

Whether other persons named by Senator Smith W. Brookhart, of Iowa, when he appeared before the District of Columbia grand jury yesterday to relate details of an alleged "wet party" given here three years ago for United States senators will be summoned before the inquisitorial body will depend on the grand jury itself, United States Attorney Leo A. Rover announced late yesterday.

"I have asked the grand jury to consider the senator's testimony and to report to me tomorrow whether it is desired to subpena any of the persons whose names were revealed," the United States attorney said.

Rover declined to reveal the names the senator disclosed to the grand jury, but Brookhart, on the eve of his appearance before the body, declared that if additional information were desired all the Wall street giants at the party should be summoned. He named at that time Gen. W. W. Atterbury, Otto Kahn and E. E. Loomis.

Senator Won't Tell.

Following his 15-minute stay in the grand jury room, which was a tour personally conducted by Rover himself, the United States senator declined to discuss what he told the grand jury. In fact, he rebuffed reporters with the statement that "Grand jury matters are secret and if you boys don't let us alone I'm afraid we will have to have you up for contempt of court."

Leaving the grand jury room exactly fifteen minutes later, Brookhart and Rover again went into the latter's office. Then together the senator and the United States attorney went downstairs and posed on the courthouse steps for the news reels. They were taken together and separately, with intervening long shots and close-ups.

The senator offered no objection to being photographed in any way, but Rover almost balked on the close-ups.

Rover wore a new hat—an emerald green fedora—a fact which was remarked by the crowd of curious onlookers, and which drew from several the remark that the United States attorney must be impersonating "The Man in the Green Hat," who figured in a liquor chase in the Capital a few years ago, and who was recently in the limelight as a result of his arrest at the Senate Office Building.

Won't Discuss Visit.

Aside from his remarks that the case was in the hands of the grand jury and that he expected a report today as to whether supporting witnesses were desired, Rover declined to discuss Brookhart's visit.

It was understood, however, that Brookhart related to the grand jury the identical facts revealed Tuesday in his speech to the Senate. If this is true and the grand jury wishes to hear from the men named by Brookhart, the United States attorney in all probability will invite the living senators named in the Senate speech to come before the body. The senators named in the speech were Senator Smoot (Republican), of Utah; Senator Edge (Republican), of New Jersey; Senator-elect Vare (Republican), of Pennsylvania, and the late Senator Gooding (Republican), of Idaho. Senator Moses (Republican), of New Hampshire, was named by inference during the Senate speech.

Howard University Honors Four Students

Four graduates of Dunbar High School were named yesterday at Howard University in the annual honors day exercises as having maintained the highest averages among 1,528 college students for the past collegiate year. The Kappa Cup was awarded by Mordecai W. Johnson, university president, to Mary E. Burke, sophomore, 1301 T street northwest, for the highest general average. Second honors went to George W. Jenkins, 1211 Linden street northwest.

Third and fourth awards were given Cecie R. Jenkins, 1914 Eleventh street northwest, a junior student, and Norma M. Parks, a recent graduate, 2442 Nichols avenue southeast. Sterling A. Brown, assistant professor of English, a Dunbar graduate, was named as faculty scholar to deliver the honors day address.

Tennis Court Locker Looted.

Five bows, thirty arrows and three arm guards were reported stolen from a locker at the public tennis courts near Sixteenth street and Reservoir street northwest, yesterday, by Elsie Sanders, a Central High School teacher. The property, belonging to the District Government, was valued at $45.

Holy Name Unit to Meet.

The Holy Name Society will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the rectory of the Holy Trinity Church, at Georgetown, according to announcement yesterday.

Old Court Ban Broken For Brookhart Picture

Newspaper photographers who, in the past, have been forced to leave their cameras outside the District Supreme Courthouse had the freedom of the place yesterday.

The occasion was the appearance of Senator Smith W. Brookhart (Republican), of Iowa, before the grand jury to tell his heralded story of the liquor party given three years ago by Wall street interests for United States senators.

Photographers swarmed all over the building. They shot off so many flashlights in United States Attorney Rover's office after Brookhart arrived that the senator was fourteen minutes late going before the body. And afterwards the photographers made still other flashlights.

The rule prohibiting photographers from entering the courthouse was issued several years ago by Chief Justice McCoy during one of the oil trials. It had been rigidly enforced until yesterday.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA, all excited over the elections, shouted the praises of Jimmy Walker, Mayor of New York, believed by her to be the real personification of Young America.

"Don't you tihnk Jimmy Walker's grand?" she shouted.

"I don't know. I just met the man once——"

"YOU met him? Where?"

"Where was I?" asked Luella.

"You were right here in Washington, too."

"And you didn't introduce me! You know he's my hero."

"That's probably why I didn't have you meet," I said.

She pestered me so I had to tell her I'd take her to New York to see Mayor Walker start on his second term. I really don't know Jimmy Walker as well as I once knew the celebrated Johnnie.

* * * *

"JOHNNIE? Johnnie who" she asked.

"Johnnie Walker."

"I didn't know Jimmy Walker had a brother," mused Luella.

"As a matter of fact," I told her, "Jimmy and Johnnie Walker are no kin. One is an American, the other Scotch."

"Oh! Johnnie Walker's Scotch?"

"And good Scotch, too."

"Where did you meet him?" she asked.

Reminiscence seizing me, I recalled that it was years ago I first met Johnnie Walker. I don't think any one has seen much of Johnnie since the war: certainly not since the country went dry.

"That's peculiar," said Luella.

"It is," I agreed, "but so was Johnnie——"

"In what way?"

"A cork hat," she repeated.

"Yep, a cork hat—but he usually took it off in the presence of gentlemen. Or, at least, they removed it for him."

"They did?"

"Uh-huh, with a corkscrew"

* * * *

LUELLA saw I was kidding her. "Now I know why you say Johnnie Walker is Scotch. He was one of the guests at the 'booze party' Senator Brookhart attended, wasn't he?"

As I didn't go to the same party, where newly elected senators and Wall street magnates gathered, I couldn't say; but I know Luis—if Johnnie Walker was present the boys had a good time.

"With all due respects to Johnnie," said Luella, "I prefer Jimmy Walker. He's one of the greatest——"

"I suppose, if you had your way, Luella, you'd run him for the Presidency."

Luella withered me. "Jimmy Walker never runs for anything," she declared.

"Well," I asked, "how was he re-elected Mayor of New York?"

"A Walker," she said, "he walked in, naturally."

POST URGES JOINT 1932 CONVENTION

PICK NEW COMMANDER

Resolutions seeking joint conventions of the American Legion, the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Confederate Veterans, with their auxiliaries here in 1932 upon the occasion of the Washington bicentennial, were adopted by the Sergeant Jasper Post, No. 13, American Legion, at its monthly meeting at 8 o'clock last night at 1326 Massachusetts avenue northwest.

The session also was featured by the election of Ferdinand G. Fraser, chief of the mail division of the Veterans Bureau, as post commander to succeed Esmond Callahan, with installation exercises scheduled for the December meeting. Other officers elected included Edward L. Marthill, first vice commander; Hiram W. Hummer, second vice commander; Joseph J. Malloy, third vice commander, and William D. Himes, chaplain.

The convention resolutions were characterized by the post as the first action of its kind ever taken and was said to be intended to provide for a more comprehensive celebration in 1932 of the Washington bicentennial. The resolutions, it was announced, will be submitted to both the District executive committee and the national executive committee of the legion for action. They were presented by C. C. Brown, past commander of the post.

A short talk on the Briand-Kellogg pact was made by Emmet L. Moseley, member of the post and on the faculty of Emerson Institute.

$53 in Cash Stolen From Tobacco Store

A passerby told police that he saw two men in front of the window shortly before the robbery.

Conference Is Opened By A.A.A. Tourney Unit

Touring experts, comprising the advisory committee of the national touring board of the American Automobile Association, opened a two-day conference yesterday at the Washington Hotel.

The purpose of the meeting is to outline new maps and plans to aid the motoring millions of the Nation. Constant introduction of new arteries of travel make the issuing of new maps necessary, it is pointed out.

DR. BALLOU IGNORES PARK VIEW CHARGES

ACCUSED ON 10 "COUNTS"

The terse comment of "no statement to make" greeted newspapermen yesterday afternon when they questioned Dr. F. W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, in regard to the assertion of the Park View Citizens Association that he is opposed to the platoon school system.

The association yesterday made public ten specific reasons for this contention. They include the claim that Dr. Ballou showed he was unsympathetic to the platoon system when he recommended the addition of a fourth story to the Park View School. Such architecture is in discord with the platoon system, it is pointed out. Dr. Ballou, it is further declared by the association, having compiled data showing that students from the Park View School do not do as good work in high schools as students from other schools.

The association tempered these criticisms with praise of the superintendent for his proposal to have an outside agency study methods at the Park View School. Although Dr. Ballou yesterday refused to comment on the reasons given by the association for his alleged opposition, he issued a statement last month in which he denied that he was opposed to the platoon system.

West Virginia Society Holds Meeting-Dance

Former Gov. E. F. Morgan, of West Virginia, last night addressed the meeting of the West Virginia Society of the District, of which he is president. More than 500 attended the meeting.

Other speakers were former Representative Stuart F. Reed and Representative Frank L. Bowman, of West Virginia. Following the speeches a musical program and dance were held. The meeting was at the Washington Club, Seventeenth and K streets northwest.

District Man Is Left Legacy by His Aunt

James Cassidy, whose address is listed as 1208 I street northeast, will receive on his twenty-fifth birthday the principal under the will of his late aunt, Mrs. Kathro Case, which was filed for probate in Surrogate's Court in New York City yesterday.

In the meantime, under the terms of the will, he will receive a temporary life estate in the residuary estate of Mrs. Case, who died on October 26, in Nyack, N. Y., which is announced as "over $10,000."

Rumrunner Finds Business Money Maker for Officer

Arrested Truck Driver Makes Affidavit He Is Transporting Only One Can of Alcohol and Returns to Find It Is True.

A heavy truck bumped and banged to a stop before a gasoline pump. (They say it was down in Maryland.)

"Ten gallons," said the driver, "and make it snappy."

A strong aroma of something that was definitely not gasoline surrounded the vehicle and attracted the attention of a bystander, who gently lifted a corner of the covering tarpaulin and peered beneath.

"Ah-ha" and "oh-ho," he softly breathed, and, replacing the canvas he pulled back his coat and rubbed a shiny coat sleeve over the badge pinned on the vest beneath.

"You're under arrest for transporting liquor," he informed the truck's driver, who had dismounted from his cab to see what was going on. "Back that there truck into that garage and come along with me. You'll have to post collateral if you want to get home to your wife and children tonight."

"Well, I guess it's all in the game," sighed the bootlegger. "C'mon, let's get it over with."

"Say," he inquired as they got beyond earshot of the curious group that had collected while the truck was being stored in the garage, "ain't there some easier way we could fix this up?"

"Now listen, young feller," replied the constable, "you ain't talking to one of these here city cops now. You're in the custody of an honest official of so-and-so County, b'goah. You can't bribe me. However, you look like a pretty decent sort of a chap, and maybe I can make it a little easier for you.

"When we get down to the justice of the peace, if you want to sign a little affidavit that you've only got one can of alcohol on that truck maybe we can get away with posting a $100 cash bond. Got that much with you?"

"All I've got is $80 with me," answered the other.

"Well, come along anyway. Mebbe that'll be enough. I'll use my influence for you. All I saw was one can, so I can do it honestly. I purposely didn't look any farther after I saw that."

You guessed it. Eighty dollars was satisfactory, and the truckdriver signed the affidavit that he only had one can of alcohol on his vehicle and blithely returned to the garage.

"Now, I'll just hold this one can for evidence," said the officer as he reached up on to the truck and took it.

"Hey!" yelled the bootlegger, as he gazed into the empty truck. "Where's those other 300 cans?"

"What other cans?" queried the officer. "Didn't you just sign an affidavit that you only had one?"

——And that's all there was to it.

Probus Club Hears Pastor.

Importance of the church to the business and social life of a community was discussed by the Rev. M. W. Riker, pastor of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, as principal speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Probus Club at noon yesterday at the Ambassador Hotel. Lewis Y. Buckingham presided.

Man Hurt in Ladder Fall.

EDUCATION BOARD COMMITTEE TALKS OPENED TO PRESS

SINGLING OUT OF ITEM DECRIED BY MEMBERS

Carusi Says Pupils Will Get Ample Warning They Must Wash Necks.

Meetings of committees of the Board of Education, previously held behind closed doors, are to be opened to newspaper representatives so that "more comprehensive reports of important issues" may be obtained, it was decided at a meeting of the board yesterday afternoon.

This action was taken following a recommendation from Dr. Charles F. Carusi, president of the board. The change was prompted chiefly, it is understood, because of newspaper reports concerning the proposal to deprive students of diplomas if they were guilty of certain infractions, one being neglect of cleanliness.

Stress on Dirty Neck Item Hit.

Members of the board complained in open meeting yesterday that the cleanliness item in this proposal had been singled out for exaggeration and that this complexion would not have been thrown on the proposal if reporters had been present at the committee meeting which drew up the rule.

Action on withholding of diplomas and also on the proposal to absolve students of having to sign pledges that they are not members of unapproved fraternities and other organizations was postponed to a special meeting of the board to be called by Dr. Carusi at an early date. Dr. Carusi declared that it was the duty of the board to take action on the proposals.

"We are going to do something about it," he said. "We ought to give parents and teachers some assurance that the Board of Education intends to offer cooperation in training a child to be distinctly worthy of a diploma in every way."

"Will Be Warned to Be Tidy."

He said that more stress should be laid on the phases of the proposed rule pertaining to the conduct and deportment of students and that the impression that a student might be deprived of graduation because of certain untidiness be curbed. He expressed himself of being in favor of students being given fair warning of the rule when they enter school.

At an executive session the board extended new privileges to the Knights of Columbus University in response to an application from this institution under the diploma mill law. The Columbus University was awarded a license to grant master of laws and master of patent law degrees. Last summer this institution was given license for the granting of bachelor of laws and bachelor of science degrees.

Application from the Potomac University for the granting of degrees in certain theological subjects was postponed until a future meeting.

300 Will Attend 'War Days' Session

Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire; Senator Charles S. Deneen, of Illinois; Representative William R. Wood, of Indiana; Representative John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, and Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the Veterans Bureau, will address the concluding banquet of the annual two-day convention of the Civil Legion Saturday night at the Mayflower Hotel.

First arrivals among the approximately 300 expected were announced last night by Wade H. Cooper, Washington banker and national president of the organization, which is composed of individuals who aided the Nation during the World War in authorized civil capacities, including members of draft boards, four-minute speakers and the like.

The convention will open at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the hotel with invocation by the Rt. Rev. H. B. Altmeyer, national chaplain, followed by the appointment of committees. Immediately afterward the convention group will proceed to the National Cathedral to lay a wreath on the tomb of Woodrow Wilson, described in the convention program as "The Known Soldier." The session tomorrow night will be addressed by Charles H. Brough, of Arkansas; A. O. Stanley, of Kentucky, and Emerson S. Harrington, of Maryland, governors of their respective States during the war period, and the Rt. Rev. James H. Darlington, of Pennsylvania.

Woman Seeks Refund Of Taxes for Estate

Edith Mann Moses, of the Presidential Apartments, Sixteenth and L streets northwest, executrix under the will of the late Henry C. Moses, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court against Galen L. Talt, individually and as collector of internal revenue for Maryland and the District of Columbia, seeking to collect $2,985.44, which is said to have been illegally collected from Moses in income and excess profits taxes.

The alleged illegal tax is said to cover additional assessments made for the taxable years 1917 and 1918 after the expiration of the statute of limitation. Moses had made a claim for refund prior to his death on December 15 last and since then the executrix has made additional claims without success, the suit sets out. Attorney Arthur N. Pressmont appears for the executrix.

Club to Greet Hoover.

The Sky Climbers' Club will be received by President Hoover at the White House Saturday morning. Prior to the presidential reception, members of the club will meet at Saks & Co., Pennsylvania avenue and Seventh street, at 9 o'clock.
